PREFACE

The geographical territory now known as Ontario, in 1791 was separated from Quebec and created the Province of Upper Canada, under the Constitutional Act.<sup>1</sup>

The purpose of this study has been to investigate the type of document and the authority for publication of those documents issued by the government of the Province of Upper Canada, 1791-1840. In addition, since the government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland had to give approval for all legislation passed by the Provincial Parliament and supplied a fair proportion of the finances for maintaining government, those documents issued by the House of Commons of Great Britain, dealing with Upper Canada, have been included.

With the completion of this study, the documents will have been listed for this geographical territory, which has seen three different administrations: Province of Upper Canada, 1791-1840; Province of Canada, 1841-1867, which included both Upper and Lower Canada (Quebec); and The Province of Ontario, 1867 to date.

No attempt has been made to prepare a union list of the publications. At least one location has been given for each document listed. However, any Library holding the journals and appendices of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly can quickly locate any needed document. For those documents published as an appendix to the journals, the exact location either by page or number of the document has been shown.

In a project of this type the resources of many libraries are needed. Grateful acknowledgement is made to the Chief Librarian of all libraries cited in the List of Location Symbols. Grateful thanks is extended to the following individuals for assistance in tracking down a number of elusive documents; David Cook, McMaster University; William F. E. Morley, Queen's University; Edward Phelps, John Lutman, Beth Miller, Margaret Banks and Maureen Ryan, the University of Western Ontario; Patricia Kennedy, Public Archives; Pamela Hardisty, Michael Graham and Gilles Marleau, Library of Parliament; Ethelyn Harlow and Susan Watt, Archives of Ontario; Mary Faulkner, Legislative Library; Edith Firth, Metropolitan Toronto Central Library; and Beryl Anderson, National Library of Canada.

Grateful acknowledgment is also made to Eleanor Magee, Research Associate, School of Library and Information Science, The University of Western Ontario, for assisting with reading the page proofs; the Ontario Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, and in particular Wil Vanderelst, Director of Libraries and Community Information Branch, for his encouragement, and other members of the Ministry personnel who assisted in proof-reading.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

Under the terms of the Treaty of Paris,<sup>1</sup> signed February 10, 1763, Canada was ceded to the King of England by the King of France. On October 7, 1763 King George III of England issued a proclamation<sup>2</sup> in which he stated that Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of Great Britain had been issued for setting up the government of Quebec.

On December 7, 1763 Governor James Murray received instructions<sup>3</sup> from the Court of St. James which stated that he was to administer the government of Quebec with the assistance of the Lieutenant Governors of Montreal and Trois Rivières, the Chief Justice of the Province, and the Surveyor General of Customs, all appointed by the Crown, and eight persons appointed by himself from among the propertied class in the Province. When circumstances permitted the Governor, with the advice of Council, was to summon a general assembly of the freeholders of the Province. In the meantime the Governor, with the advice of Council, was to issue rules and regulations as were necessary for peace and order. No assembly was summoned as there were only approximately three hundred Protestants in the Province at this time. Under British law Roman Catholics did not have the franchise.

By 1774 it became evident that neither the English minority nor the French majority were satisfied with the government as laid down in 1763. On June 22, 1774 the Parliament of Great Britain passed the Quebec Act entitled "An Act for making more effectual provision for the government of the Province of Quebec in North America."<sup>4</sup> Under this Act the number of members of Council was to be increased to seventeen with an upper limit of twenty-three, all to be appointed by the King from among the inhabitants of the Province. The Act stated that a general assembly was not to be called. English criminal law and French civil law were to be enforced.

As a result of the American Revolution a large number of United Empire Loyalists moved to the western part of the Province between 1774 and 1784. These English-speaking people were accustomed to a representative system of government and were unwilling to be governed by a governor and council sitting at Quebec. Thus in 1791 the Parliament of Great Britain passed what has become known as the Constitutional Act,<sup>5</sup> which received Royal Assent on June 10. It stated that it was the intention of the King to divide the Province of Quebec into two separate provinces, to be called the Province of Upper Canada and the Province of Lower Canada. The intention was carried out by an order-in-council dated August 24, 1791.<sup>6</sup> His Majesty in Council was to declare the day of the commencement of the Act which could not be later than December 31, 1791. Under a proclamation<sup>7</sup> dated November 18, 1791 the Act was to become effective December 26, 1791. This proclamation also laid down the boundary line between the two provinces.

Under this Act each province now was to have an appointed legislative council whose members would hold office for life and an elected assembly, the members of which would be elected for four years. The King, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly, was to make the laws for the peace, welfare and good government of the Province. All laws had to be passed by both the Legislative Council and Assembly before Royal Assent could be given, such assent being delegated by the King to His appointed Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or other person administering the government.

In the name of the King the Lieutenant Governor was to appoint at least seven discreet and proper persons to serve as members of the Legislative Council. A member must be at least twenty-one years of age and a British subject. One member appointed by the Governor was to be the Speaker. Also in the name of the King the Lieutenant Governor was to summon and call together an Assembly.<sup>8</sup> In order to carry out this stipulation the King could lawfully authorize the Lieutenant Governor to issue a proclamation<sup>9</sup> dividing his Province into electoral districts for an election of a definite number of members for each district. Not less than sixteen members were to be elected. Nineteen counties, with their boundaries, were established by the proclamation. The number of members to be elected for each county is shown in the following table:

Counties	Number of Members
Glengarry	2
Stormont	1
Dundas	1
Grenville [sic]	1
Leeds Frontenac	1
Ontario Addington	1
Prince Edward Adolphustown	1
Lenox [sic] Hastings Northumberland	1
Durham York (East and West) Lincoln (first riding)	1
Lincoln (second riding)	1
Lincoln (third riding)	1
Lincoln (fourth riding) Norfolk	1
Suffolk Essex	1
Kent	2

The franchise was extended to all persons over twenty-one years of age, holding land in freehold, fief, or roture of the yearly value of forty shillings or more who were British subjects. A member also had to be at least twenty-one years of age.

Over the years, as the population grew in numbers, it became necessary to further divide the territory and create new counties. By 1840 there were twenty-nine counties, five towns, and one city represented by sixty-one members.<sup>10</sup>

Elections were to be held at least every four years and the Legislative Council and Assembly were to meet at least once in every twelve calendar months.<sup>11</sup> The first Provincial Parliament was to be called not later than December 31, 1792.<sup>12</sup>

While the Constitutional Act did not provide for an Executive Council, in setting up a court of civil jurisdiction for the hearing and determining of appeals, it stated that such a court was to be composed of the Governor, or Lieutenant Governor or person administering the Province together with an Executive Council.<sup>13</sup> The advice of the Executive Council was to be sought also in connection with the establishment of Clergy lands<sup>14</sup> within the Province and any necessary laws to be promulgated before the Provincial Parliament could be convened.<sup>15</sup> Of the thirty-six men appointed to the Executive Council between 1792 and 1840 twenty-four were also appointed to the Legislative Council.<sup>16</sup>

Although the Constitutional Act provided for representative government, for the first time in the territory known as Quebec now divided into the two provinces there were still basic fundamental questions to be solved.

(1) The question of supply. The Assembly controlled only that money raised by provincial legislation. Since the Governor controlled certain Crown revenues and could readily obtain money from the British government he could carry on the administration without consulting the Assembly on financial matters.

(2) The question of division of legislative responsibility between the British government and the provincial government. The Act had stated that the King with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly would make the laws for the peace, welfare and good government of the provinces. However, the interpretation of this statement often led to confusion and ultimately was one of the causes of the rebellion which broke out in both provinces in 1837.

(3) The question of responsible government. As long as the members of the Executive Council were appointed by the King and not by the elected representatives of the people the administrative branch of government remained quite independent of the Assembly.

Other than proclamations for establishing the government of the two new provinces the Constitutional Act made no provision for any documents to be printed by either the Legislative Council or the Assembly. However, John Graves Simcoe, the first Lieutenant Governor of Upper Canada, before leaving England, stated that a printer was "indispensably necessary"<sup>17</sup> for the new Province. As a result Louis Roy, a French Canadian from Quebec, established the first printing press in 1793 in Newark (now Niagara-on-the Lake). The first mention of a printer by the Legislative Council was on July 2, 1800 when S. Tiffany was to be paid for printing an act.<sup>18</sup> However, in 1795 Tiffany, as King's Printer, had printed the Statutes for the first four Sessions of the first Provincial Parliament. The first time a printer is mentioned in the House of Assembly was on July 5, 1802 when Mr. Bennett was requested to present an account of his printing for the House since the previous Session (1801). Between 1793 and 1840 approximately one thousand titles concerning the Province of Upper Canada were printed. Of this number approximately one hundred and sixty-five were printed by order of the House of Commons of Great Britain. These publications have been included in order to provide a more complete picture of the legislative activity which concerned the Province.

CHAPTER II

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Under the terms of the Constitutional Act<sup>1</sup> the King would appoint from time to time a Governor, or Lieutenant Governor, or other person to administer the government of the Province. Every Act passed by the Provincial Parliament contained a statement using all three designations. However on March 4, 1837 an Act<sup>2</sup> was passed whereby only the term Lieutenant Governor was to be used, but it was to be understood that all three designations were still implied. Between 1792 and 1840 seven persons were appointed to the post of Lieutenant Governor and ten persons were appointed as administrator or president.<sup>3</sup>

The duties of this person were divided between those which were to be carried out in the name of the King and those which he could undertake due to instructions issued at the time of appointment or subsequently or in some cases both. In this work the term Lieutenant Governor will be used to signify the person appointed by the King to administer the government of the Province of Upper Canada.

The King, with the advice of the Legislative Council and Assembly, would make laws for the peace, welfare and good government of the Province. However, the Lieutenant Governor was empowered by the King to give or withhold his assent to any bill passed by the Legislature. The first such bills to be withheld for the King's signature were in 1798 when a president and not a Lieutenant Governor held the office.

The King could authorize the Lieutenant Governor to: appoint discreet and proper persons to the Legislative Council; call together the Assembly; issue a proclamation dividing the Province into districts or counties and towns or townships for the purpose of electing members to the Assembly; appoint proper persons to the office of returning officer (this power was only for two years, or until the Legislative Council and Assembly passed an act concerning this officer); fix the time and place for holding elections, and holding the Sessions of the Legislative Council and Assembly; make allotments of land for the support of a Protestant Clergy in the Province; erect parsonages and endow them (this with the advice of the Executive Council, however); and make temporary laws and ordinances until the first meeting of the Legislative Council and Assembly (this stipulation also with the advice of the Executive Council).

In addition the Lieutenant Governor could by an instrument under the Great Seal of the Province appoint and remove the Speaker of the Legislative Council. He was required to send a copy of all bills, to which he had given assent, to the Secretary of State for the Colonies in Britain. The King could disallow any bill within a period of two years even though it had been passed by the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province.

The Lieutenant Governor and the Executive Council were to be the court of civil jurisdiction for hearing and determining appeals.

A number of despatches, communications and speeches were issued by both the Secretary of State for the Colonies in Great Britain and the Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Upper Canada. Some of these were published either by order of the Legislative Council or House of Assembly. Others were published either by order of the House of Commons of Great Britain or by command of His/ Her Majesty. All publications showing the Lieutenant Governor as author are listed below in chronological order as an office holder. The publications from Great Britain which deal with the government of the Province are listed in alphabetical order. Publications from Great Britain which deal with specific matters such as finance will be listed with the Canadian publications relating to that subject.

PUBLIC HEALTH

The Lieutenant Governor with the advice of the Executive Council was responsible for the health of the Province. On April 16, 1835 "An Act to promote the public health, and to guard against infectious diseases in this Province"<sup>4</sup> was passed. The Act was permissive since the Lieutenant Governor with the advice and consent of His Majesty's Executive Council could appoint three or more persons in each and every town of the Province to act as health officers within the limits of the town or place so appointed.

The Lieutenant Governor with the advice of the Executive Council could make rules and regulations respecting vessels entering any port in the Province. Disobedience of the regulations could gain a fine of from twenty shillings to twenty pounds.

The above Act was valid only for one year. However on May 11, 1839, by a further Act<sup>5</sup> the conditions were made perpetual.

Two publications were issued, one of which is listed below and the other as a “Sundry report” in 1835 which will be found in Chapter IV in the section “General printing”.

CHAPTER III

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Constitutional Act<sup>1</sup> does not specify any qualifications for appointment to the Executive Council or any regulations controlling its duties. However, the Act does state that: members shall be appointed by the Crown;<sup>2</sup> the Lieutenant Governor with the Executive Council shall be a Court of civil jurisdiction within the Province for hearing and determining appeals. The Council further was to advise the Lieutenant Governor concerning the building of parsonages or rectories for the Church of England within each township or parish.<sup>3</sup>

In 1836 the members of the Executive Council issued a Communication to Lieutenant Governor Head, when he was by-passing them, in which they made three points: (1) There is to be an Executive Council; (2) They are appointed by the King; (3) They are appointed to advise the King and his representative upon "the affairs of this Province". The Communication did not specify any particular affairs or any particular subject or time. The Communication further stated that Parliament legislates and the Executive Council advises. It recommended that departments should be established in order that the affairs of the Province be better served.<sup>4</sup>

Of the five Councillors who took office on July 9, 1792, two received a commission, and three were sworn, but no commission was issued.<sup>5</sup> In all there were thirty-six appointments between 1792 and 1836 when the last appointments were made. Twenty-four of the members also held an appointment to the Legislative Council.<sup>6</sup>

When the Commission to examine the public departments was established in 1839 eight committees were appointed to carry out the investigation. Committee number three was responsible for interviewing the members of the Executive Council which at that time consisted of five members. The members of the Council reported that: they met regularly; and had three areas of concern: (1) Consultive which consisted of (a) references from the Lieutenant Governor on state affairs, (b) petitions and other applications respecting grants and location of lands, (c) affairs of the Canada Company; (2) Judicial which involved (a) Court of Appeal, (b) criminal cases, (c) decision of claims under the Heir and Devises Commission of which the Councillors were ex officio members, (d) commitments for state offences, an authority exercised since the late disturbances (1 Victoria, 1838, c. 1) (3) Fiscal which involved auditing of public accounts.<sup>7</sup>

The Executive Council was in no way responsible to the House of Assembly. However, several of the documents listed below were published as an appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly. These are arranged in alphabetical order by author.

CHAPTER IV

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT

Although none of the terms "Parliament", "Provincial Parliament" or "Legislature" were used in the Constitutional Act<sup>1</sup> from the first Session of the government of the Province of Upper Canada the term "Provincial Parliament" was used on the title page of the Statutes. The actual caption was "Acts passed in the first Session of the first Provincial Parliament of Upper Canada".<sup>2</sup> For each succeeding Session only the number of the Session and the number of the Parliament was changed.

In the handwritten copy of the Journal of the House of Assembly for 1792 the heading was Journal of the first Session of the first Parliament.<sup>3</sup> However, the printed copy for the first Session does not have any such statement. It was not until 1798 that the printed records of the Assembly used the word "Parliament", although no printed records exist for the years 1795 to 1797 inclusive. Thus the term may have been used earlier. Beginning in 1805 the House of Assembly started to use the term "Provincial Parliament" on the title page of the Journal.<sup>4</sup>

On June 5, 1798 the Legislative Council used the term "Provincial Parliament" at the opening of the second Session of the second Parliament.<sup>5</sup> The Council continued to use this designation until 1819 when they changed to "Provincial Legislature".<sup>6</sup> Since no records exist for the Council for the years 1815 to 1818 inclusive 1819 may not be the date for using "Provincial Legislature" for the first time. However, from 1828, which were the first annual printed records of the Council to be located, the term "Provincial Parliament" continued to be used.

The term "Legislature" was not new since it had been used in 1793 by the House of Assembly at the second Session of the first Parliament in their reply to the Speech from the Throne.<sup>7</sup> In 1798 the Lieutenant Governor used the term in his speech proroguing Parliament when he "hoped seeing the roads to the Capital in such a state of improvement as may admit the assembling the Legislature in winter."<sup>8</sup>

A number of acts required persons, appointed to superintend various government projects, to issue an annual report. These reports were to be sent to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the "Legislature" or for the information of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly. The word "Parliament" was not used. On the other hand in an Act passed on March 16, 1831 requiring the courts to take notice of private acts, it was not the acts of the Legislature but of Parliament which were to be noted.<sup>9</sup>

The terms "Provincial Parliament", "Parliament" and "Legislature" will all be used throughout this work. Generally the term used will depend upon the term which has been used at any given time by an act or other reference source. This chapter has been entitled "Provincial Parliament" since it was the term most commonly used.

Under the terms of the Constitutional Act<sup>10</sup> the Lieutenant Governor, in the name of the King, was to appoint no fewer than seven discreet persons to the Legislative Council.<sup>11</sup> A councillor must be a British subject either by birth or naturalized by an act of the British Parliament and twenty-one years of age. The appointment was for life.

No fewer than sixteen members were to be elected to serve in the House of Assembly. Three classes of persons were eligible to vote: (1) Those living in a district holding lands or tenements in freehold, fief or roture to the yearly value of forty shillings or upwards over and above rents and other charges; (2) Those living in a town or township owning a house and lot of ground to the yearly value of five pounds sterling or upward; (3) Those who have lived in a town or township for twelve months and were paying rent of ten pounds or upwards per annum. No such qualifications applied to the candidate for election.

Both voters and candidates had to be twenty-one years of age and a British subject or naturalized by an act of the British Parliament. Ministers of the Church of England, priests and teachers of the Church of Rome, as well as ministers of any other faith, or members of the Legislative Council were not eligible to vote. Persons attainted of treason or felony in any British possession were not allowed either to vote or to be elected.

By 1826 the Imperial Parliament decided to shift the process of naturalization of persons to the Province. Thus on May 26 "An Act to amend so much of an Act of the thirty-first year of his late Majesty, as relates to the election of members to serve in the Province of Upper Canada"<sup>12</sup> was passed. Under the provisions of this Act persons could be naturalized by an act passed by the House of Assembly and Legislative Council provided that such an act was transmitted by the Lieutenant Governor to be assented to by His Majesty. Such persons could then, if twenty-one years of age, qualify to be appointed to the Legislative Council or be elected to the House of Assembly. The Lieutenant Governor was required to signify, by speech, message or proclamation, to the Legislative Council and House of Assembly that such a bill had been laid before His Majesty in Council and had been assented to by His Majesty.

The first election to the House of Assembly and the summoning of the Legislative Council and Assembly was to be held no later than December 31, 1792.<sup>13</sup> Actually the elections were held in August and the first Session opened on September 17, 1792. The Legislative Council and Assembly were to be called together at least once in every twelve calendar months. Elections to the Assembly were to be held every four years, but the Assembly could be dissolved sooner if necessary by the Lieutenant Governor. The first, sixth and thirteenth Provincial Parliaments each held Sessions extending over a period of five years. The seventh Provincial Parliament also held five Sessions but within the four year period. Two Provincial Parliaments, namely the tenth and twelfth, lasted only two years. The other seven Provincial Parliaments each held four Sessions, one in each year of its existence.

Two reports, one issued by the House of Commons of the Imperial Parliament and the other by the Legislature, are listed below.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

No separately printed rules and regulations for conducting the proceedings of the Legislative Council were located. However, in a Manual of parliamentary practice<sup>14</sup> published in 1828, rules were found. The first mention of rules and regulations for the House of Assembly was on June 6, 1798 when the Clerk of the House was directed to lay on the Table for the use of the members a copy of all Rules adopted by the House.<sup>15</sup> No copy of these Rules was located. However, on June 22, 1802 the House ordered that one hundred copies of the "Rules adopted for the guidance of this House be printed and distributed by the Speaker to the Members".<sup>16</sup> No copy of this publication has been located in Canada, but the Library of Congress in Washington does list a copy. No further printed Rules were located until 1825. From 1832 the Rules were issued frequently as part of the Journal. The various copies of the Rules have been listed in alphabetical order by author.

PRINTING OF THE RECORDS

While the Constitutional Act did not contain any provision for a King's Printer or indeed for the printing of any of the records of the Parliament of Upper Canada, John Graves Simcoe, the first Lieutenant Governor, believed it was essential to have such a printer and thus on his way through Quebec in 1792 invited Louis Roy to establish a printing press at Newark.<sup>17</sup> The main responsibility of a King's Printer appears to have been the printing of the Statutes and the Upper Canada gazette. While Roy's appointment dates from October 1, 1792<sup>18</sup> the first issue of the Upper Canada gazette, or American oracle was not published until April 13, 1793, the date usually quoted as the date of his appointment. The issues of this paper are very incomplete for the eighteenth century. Between 1828 and 1840 the Journal of the Legislative Council also was printed by the King's Printer, as was the Journal of the House of Assembly between 1831/2 to 1833/4 and 1836/7.

Laws, statutes, etc.

As stated above the King's Printer appears to have been responsible for printing the Statutes. However, between 1813 and 1825 the printer does not use the title "King's Printer" even though both R. C. Horne and Charles Fothergill are listed as such on other documents. Since both Stephen Miles and James MacFarlane were Kingston printers, it is assumed that they would not be considered King's Printers.

It is assumed that the King's Printer printed the Statutes at the end of each Session of Parliament. However, it is only with the fourth Session of the first Parliament, held in 1795, that a printed copy can be found. This copy included all four Sessions.

The first Act to be passed by the first Session of the first Provincial Parliament was "to introduce English law as the rule of decision in all matters of controversy, relative to property and civil rights."<sup>19</sup>

Each Act contained the following statement "Be it therefore enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province of Upper Canada, constituted and assembled by virtue of and under the authority of an Act passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, intituled "An Act to repeal certain parts of an Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled 'An Act for making more effectual provision for the Government of the Province of Quebec in North America' and to make further provision for the Government of the said Province" and it is hereby enacted". The Act which repealed was the Constitutional Act<sup>20</sup> while the Act which was being repealed was the Quebec Act.<sup>21</sup>

Acts which repealed a clause or clauses in previous acts stated "and by authority of the same" instead of "and it is hereby enacted". The word "therefore" was not always included even in acts of the same Session. "Be it therefore enacted" did not appear in italics in the original printing of the acts but only in The Statutes of Upper Canada to the time of the Union published in 1843.

By 1801, it would appear that the provisions of an act were being implemented before an act received Royal Assent for on July 9 "An Act to prevent the Acts of the Legislature from taking effect from a time prior to the passing therefore"<sup>22</sup> was passed. This Act stated the Secretary of the Province was to endorse "on every Act of the Legislature of this Province which shall pass during the present and every future Session immediately after the title of such Act the day, month and year when the same shall have passed and received Royal Assent; and such endorsement shall be taken to be part of such Act, and to be the date of its commencement, where no other commencement shall be therein provided".

By 1804 Parliament decided it was necessary to regulate the distribution of the Statutes and on March 9 passed an Act<sup>23</sup> whereby the following persons would receive copies:

Executive Council members	4 copies
Legislative Council members	4 copies
Attorney General	4 copies
Judges of the Court of King's Bench	4 copies
House of Assembly	20 copies

Over the years a number of private acts were passed. Apparently the courts were not paying too much attention to these acts. Thus on March 16, 1831 "An Act to prevent the failure of Justice by reason of immaterial variances in certain Law proceedings, and to require all Courts to take judicial notice of private Acts of Parliament"<sup>24</sup> was passed. This Act stated that: "All Acts of the Provincial Parliament of this Province, whether the same shall be deemed public or private Acts, shall equally be taken notice of judicially by all Courts, Judges, Justices, and other persons whomsoever, without being specially pleaded; and that a copy of any such Act, printed by proper authority in this Province, shall be taken as sufficient evidence thereof, any law to the contrary notwithstanding".

Another statement which appeared in a number of acts until repealed in 1837 was "His Majesty to authorize and direct the Governor, or Lieutenant Governor or person administering the Government in this Province". On March 4, 1837 an Act<sup>25</sup> was passed which stated that when the term Lieutenant Governor was used it was understood that the law stated Governor, Lieutenant Governor or person administering the government, but in the future only one term was to be used. However it was understood to encompass all three terms.

Under the terms of the Constitutional Act<sup>26</sup> a bill which passed both the Legislative Council and Assembly must go to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor or person administering the government to receive Royal Assent, which could be given or denied. The Lieutenant Governor might also decide that a bill must have the actual signature of the Crown in which case the bill would be reviewed by the British government. Even if a bill was assented to in Upper Canada it still could be disallowed within two years of its receipt in England. During the period 1792-1796 no acts appear to have been reserved for His Majesty's signature. From 1797-1840 forty-three acts were reserved, which however, did receive Royal Assent at a later date.<sup>27</sup>

When the Statutes for the third Session of the sixth Provincial Parliament, held in 1814, were published the words "by authority" appeared on the title page for the first time.

The printed Statutes have been listed under the following four categories: serials; consolidations and cumulations; Sessions bound together; and special publications. In addition to the Statutes there are two indexes which have been listed separately under that heading. Some of the consolidations and indexes were published after 1840 but their usefulness belongs to this period and hence they have been included. In addition to the publications listed below a number of reports were published with the "Sundry reports" which are listed in Chapter 4 in the section "General printing". These include: expiring laws, 1832, 1833, 1834, 1835 and 1839; Legislative Council amendments to bills, 1839; and publishing the Statutes, 1839.

Revised Statutes

By a Commission under the Great Seal of Upper Canada four Commissioners were appointed on July 25, 1840, to carefully examine and revise the Statutes enacted by the Parliament of Upper Canada. The Commissioners understood that they were to "present the Statute Law of Upper Canada as it stood at the time of the Union of the Provinces, having expunged all such parts as have been repealed, either expressly or by clear implication; carefully revising the whole; and adding a well compiled index."<sup>28</sup> In their revision the Commissioners changed the number on the chapter, particularly in the third year of the reign of William the fourth.

The Commissioners issued one report which was printed.

Gazettes

The Upper Canada gazette or American oracle was first published on April 18, 1793 by Louis Roy. No place is shown for this first or succeeding issues until it was taken over in 1794 by a second King's Printer. The Upper Canada gazette, four pages in length, was issued every Saturday. It contained the proclamations of the Lieutenant Governor and carried the official crest. Beginning with volume six, number 204, January 26, 1799, the paper was issued by authority. It ceased publication on March 28, 1807 and was succeeded on April 15, 1807 by The York gazette which continued the volume numbering of the Upper Canada gazette. The York gazette continued until December 1816 although it had been suspended between 1813 and 1815. On January 2, 1817 the name Upper Canada gazette was once more being used. When a new series began on February 19, 1821 the paper was issued in two parts, Upper Canada gazette being the official part and York weekly post the news section. On April 18, 1822 a further new series of Upper Canada gazette was issued. This series, which continued until January 26, 1826, also was in two parts, the second part bearing the title of Weekly register which carried mainly eclectic material. The Upper Canada gazette was published on Thursdays by authority and carried the official crest of the Province. It contained proclamations, statutes, sheriff's sales, appointments, etc.

Another new series was started on February 2, 1826, but only ran until May 25, 1826. It did not include the Weekly register. A number of issues did not carry the name of any printer. The final series which began June 3, 1826 went back to become a Saturday publication. It contained: lists of land by township and concession on which taxes had not been paid; Speeches from the Throne on both the opening and proroguing of the Provincial Parliament; sale by town of Clergy Reserves; appointments; resignations and the various proclamations issued during the insurrection of 1837/8. It was printed by Robert Stanton, the King's Printer and was the official paper until July 1, 1843 when Stanton was ordered by the government (This was now the government of the Province of Canada) to cease using the official seal and the title of Queen's Printer.<sup>29</sup> Stanton was informed that he would receive no allowance for printing government notices in his gazette after June 30, 1843.

Stanton did, however, continue to publish the Upper Canada gazette until July 4, 1844 when he was joined by Richard Watson, who took over the paper on September 19, 1844. The paper was continued until 1849, some nine years after the Province of Upper Canada had ceased to exist as a legislative entity. During this six year period the Upper Canada gazette was just a newspaper.

The various series of the Upper Canada gazette are listed in chronological sequence below, giving only those copies which were located for examination.

GENERAL PRINTING

Prior to the first Session of the ninth Provincial Parliament, held in 1825, no original printed copy of the Journal of the House of Assembly has been located. The first printed copy of the Journal of the Legislative Council to be located was for the fourth Session of that same Parliament. However, manuscript copies of many of the journals were available in Great Britain. These were copied in 1855 by Mr. Mayer for the Canadian government.<sup>30</sup>

Alexander Fraser, the provincial archivist for Ontario, was instrumental in having the journals, which were available for both the Legislative Council and House of Assembly, from 1792 to 1824, with a few exceptions, printed as part of his annual report to the Ontario government.

The first mention of a printer by either the Legislative Council or Assembly was on July 2, 1800 when the Legislative Council authorized that payment of four pounds, ten shillings be made to S. Tiffany, printer for printing one Act.<sup>31</sup>

On July 9, 1801 in "An Act for granting to His Majesty a certain sum of Money out of the Provincial Fund, to defray the payment of the Salaries of the Officers of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly and to defray the contingent expenses thereof"<sup>32</sup> a sum not exceeding three hundred pounds was set aside for printing the acts and journals of the present Session.

On July 5, 1802 notice was given in the House of Assembly that an account of the different items printed by Mr. Bennet [sic] since the last Session would be presented.<sup>33</sup> The following year Waters and Symons were paid two pounds and ten shillings for printing.<sup>34</sup>

On March 4, 1804 a further Act was passed whereby this time three hundred pounds was to be appropriated for printing all the acts of the Province.<sup>35</sup> This was the first cumulation and included acts passed from 1792-1802. To bring it up to date the years 1803 and 1804 were added. This volume was not bound until 1805. Thus the acts for that Session were included, but with a separate title page. This act repealed that portion of 41 George III, c. 12, which dealt with the printing of the journals.

On March 13, 1823 Charles Fothergill, printer to His Majesty, requested that he be paid by the page for printing the Statutes. On March 19, 1823 his application was presented to the House of Assembly as follows: that he be "paid for quantity of work performed at the regular price of the trade and not by a specific sum".<sup>36</sup>

The following year, on January 19, 1824, a further Act<sup>37</sup> was passed which repealed the Act of 1804 and once more repealed the part of the Act of 1801 which dealt with the printing of the journals. The new Act was to "provide more adequate remuneration for printing annually the Statutes of this Province." The printer now was required to present an invoice for printing the acts, the payment for which was to come out of contingent charges for public services.

On January 12, 1826 the House of Assembly resolved that "in future two hundred copies of the Journal of the House be printed as soon as practical after each Session under provisions of Rule 46",<sup>38</sup> which stated "That all the printing done by order of the House shall be engaged by contract for the Session, on the lowest terms offered, and during the Session, be under the superintendance of a select committee; and during the recess under the clerk."<sup>39</sup>

On January 21, 1828 a committee was established to superintend the Session printing.<sup>40</sup> Three days later on January 24 it was decided that part of the printing of the Journal and one third of the other printing be given to Francis Collins and the remaining two thirds be divided between John Carey and William Lyon Mackenzie.<sup>41</sup> The next day a select committee was to be appointed to inquire into the expediency of appointing a printer to the House of Assembly.<sup>42</sup>

By 1830 the Assembly resolved that the question of the distribution of the Journal should be decided as follows:<sup>43</sup>

Members	3 copies each
Members of the Legislative Council	1 copy each
Lieutenant Governor	1 copy
Library	3 copies

Governors ) Legislative Councils ) Assemblies )
Lower Canada	1 copy each
New Brunswick
Nova Scotia
Prince Edward Island
Library Imperial Parliament	3 copies
Colonial Department	1 copy
Clerk's Office	6 copies

Remainder to members of the House of Commons, Great Britain as the Speaker may direct.

While two hundred copies of the Journal of the House of Assembly were to be printed, two thousand copies of the Statutes were to be printed for 1831.<sup>44</sup> That same year the public accounts were to be printed for the use of the members.<sup>45</sup>

It would appear that with a committee established to superintend the printing for the Assembly and the distribution of the copies printed, that all problems would be solved. However, this was not so for on December 19, 1832, one month after the second Session of the eleventh Parliament convened the following motion was passed: "that the Clerk be authorized to get the printing done, which is now ordered, and which may be ordered during the remainder of this Session, at any one or more of the Printing Offices in this Town, where it can be performed with the greatest neatness and despatch (the person who engaged to execute the Printing for the Session, having failed in performing the same with that promptitude which is necessary to facilitate the public business) and that the forty-fourth rule of this House be suspended for that purpose."<sup>46</sup> Rule forty-four stated that: "a committee of the House is to superintend the printing during the Session and the Clerk during the recess of the House."

During the period when the Assembly was having problems with printing the Legislative Council did not appear to be experiencing any difficulty. Each year between 1829 and 1832 the Legislative Council resolved that the "Journal of the present Session be printed and the Clerk be paid £100 for his extraordinary trouble of supervising the same".<sup>47</sup> In 1833 the statement re remuneration for the printing of the Journal of the Legislative Council remained the same. However, the Clerk, now, was instructed "to send to the Clerk of the Assembly a copy for each member of that House".<sup>48</sup> The next day on February 12 the Clerk, starting with the 1833 issue, was to transmit two copies of the Journal plainly and uniformly bound "to the Treasurer of the Honorable the Law Society of Upper Canada to be deposited in the library of that Society". The Clerk also was required to send one copy to: each Judge of His Majesty's Court of King's Bench; the Clerk of the Legislative Council of the provinces of Lower Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.<sup>49</sup>

The Assembly, having found that the lowest terms for printing were not always satisfactory, on January 22, 1835 rescinded that part of Rule 44 which required the printing to be done by contract during the Session at the lowest terms offered.<sup>50</sup> In February the Assembly instructed the Committee on Printing (which had once more been established) as follows: "that all the Bills and reports and the Sessions Papers ordered by the House to be printed from time to time during the Session, be numbered and printed of an uniform size, to be determined by the said Committee, and that in addition to the quantity the House may order, an equal number printed as are ordered of the Journals; reserved, bound and delivered to the same persons and at the same time as the Journals are delivered".<sup>51</sup> While there had been appendices containing the various reports dating from 1823, in 1835 the number of appendices had grown to such an extent that for the first time the reports had to be bound separately from the Journal. There were two volumes that year.

On January 19, 1825 the Clerk of the Assembly was granted £100 for paying a reporter or reporters for publishing the debates of the House.<sup>52</sup> In 1834 four newspapers, namely:

Courier, Christian guardian, Canadian correspondent and Canadian freeman petitioned the Assembly for payment for reporting the debates.<sup>53</sup> On January 23, 1835 a committee was appointed to consider persons suitable for reporting the debates.<sup>54</sup> On January 26 the Committee recommended remuneration for three competent reporters, to be employed by the editors of the above named papers, to report the debates.<sup>55</sup> However, on March 11, the Committee had to report that suitable reporters could not be found.<sup>56</sup>

When Parliament opened in 1836 the Assembly requested the “Committee on Printing to engage on the best terms they can for the daily printing of the Journals (exclusive of the Appendix) with a printer in Toronto, at their discretion . . . that of the edition to be printed, four copies be daily distributed to each member, three of which to be folded by the clerks, and prepared for being mailed, one copy to be sent to each member of the Legislative Council, and one copy to each editor, printer or publisher of a newspaper within this Province . . . as also that the remainder of the edition be disposed of agreeable to the 9th standing order”.<sup>57</sup>

While the Assembly had first established a committee in 1828 to superintend the printing of their Session records, it was not until 1836 that the Legislative Council appointed a select committee “to superintend the printing of the House during the present Session”.<sup>58</sup> The Committee also was required “to procure the printing of two hundred copies of the Journal daily, in addition to the number formerly required for the use of members”. On February 3, 1837 the Committee on Printing of the Legislative Council requested to be dismissed and have the responsibility for printing returned to the Clerk.<sup>59</sup> It was not however, dismissed until March 2, just two days before the first Session of the thirteenth Parliament was prorogued when the Legislative Council “Resolved that in consenting to discharge the Select Committee appointed to superintend the Printing during the present Session from the performance of that duty, it was intended by this House that the agreements entered into for the printing of the Journals and the publication of the proceedings of this House in certain newspapers shall be fully and without delay carried into effect by the Clerk of this House, according to the fair understanding between the Printers and the Select Committee.”<sup>60</sup>

By the third Session of the thirteenth Parliament it was agreed that all the miscellaneous printing of the Assembly was to be divided among commercial printers.<sup>61</sup> At the end of the Session the Assembly requested the following amounts to be paid:<sup>62</sup>

Guardian	£	89	3	0
Colonist		9	12	6
Palladium		109	2	6
Herald		34	7	3
Patriot		93	0	0
Mr. Coates		40	17	3
Total		£376	2	3

The first record of any request for the Speech from the Throne to be published in a language other than English came when the Assembly at this same Session received a petition from the Editors of Canada museum asking for the Speech of His Excellency and the answer at the opening of Parliament be printed in the German language.<sup>63</sup> The Assembly ordered five hundred copies of the Speech and answer to be printed in the Dutch language.<sup>64</sup> (It would appear that there is a typographical error in the Journal and that Dutch should read Deutsch.)

The following year the Assembly received a petition from “Charles Fothergill and four others, printers and proprietors of journals in the City of Toronto, complaining that the Government Printer had taken the contract for printing the appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly for the present Session, at a price far below the common trade price, and thereby preventing a fair competition and praying that an inquiry may be instituted into the emoluments of his office.”<sup>65</sup>

On December 9, 1839, at the last Session of the Parliament of Upper Canada the Legislative Council "Ordered that a Printing Committee be appointed, with instructions to procure an early publication of the Journals of this Honourable House."<sup>66</sup>

In addition to the journals which are listed below in alphabetical order by author under serials, numerous special reports were published by both the Legislative Council and House of Assembly. These reports also are listed below in alphabetical order. A number of the reports came from the Secretary of State for the Colonies but were published generally by the King's Printer for Upper Canada. An index to the Journal of the House of Assembly, covering the years 1825 to 1840 inclusive, was published in 1848. Because of its usefulness for the period it also has been listed below.

COMMITTEES

Committees played a very important role in decision making in the Legislative Council and to an even much greater extent in the Assembly. When a petition was received a committee generally was established to investigate the complaint and to bring in recommendations. Occasionally one committee would handle several petitions. Standing committees were not appointed but rather annual committees to deal with such matters as finance, public accounts, etc. Generally the reports of committees were published as an appendix to the Journal under their own heading. However, very short reports often were published along with other statements, messages, etc. under one of three general titles "Sundry documents", "Sundry reports" or "Various reports". Since these contained material on numerous subjects they have been listed above in the section "General Printing".

The reports of those committees which were appointed annually have been listed in chronological order by title of the committee under serials. The reports of the special committees have been listed in alphabetical order under special publications.

PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS

On July 12, 1819 "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money to provide for the accommodation of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly"<sup>67</sup> was passed. £1,500 was to be paid by the Receiver General out of duties and rates levied in discharge of warrants to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor to persons appointed for erecting and putting up proper buildings. The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint two Commissioners to carry out this Act.

Under a further Act<sup>68</sup> passed the same day £512 1s. was to be paid to the Provincial Agent to defray the expense of procuring plans of public buildings and copies of the Journals of Parliament which had been destroyed by the enemy. This money also was to be paid by the Receiver General under warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The money granted under both acts was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

Two separate reports were issued on the Parliament buildings, one by the Commissioners and the other for a claim of work done. In addition a report was issued in 1835 by the Commissioners which was published as one of "Various reports" listed above in Chapter IV under "General printing".

LIBRARY

On March 16, 1816 a request was made in the Assembly to bring in a bill to appropriate a sum of money to provide for a library for the use of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly.<sup>69</sup> The bill was passed on March 22, 1816 by the Assembly<sup>70</sup> as "An Act to appropriate a sum of money for providing a Library for the use of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly of this Province" and received Royal Assent April 1, 1816.<sup>71</sup> Eight hundred pounds was appropriated for the purchase of books and maps for the new library.

Two years later a further bill was passed by the Assembly which requested a further sum of money to increase the library. This bill became a reserve bill<sup>72</sup> to go to His Majesty for signature.

By 1821 the age-old problem of the books not being returned had become of concern. Thus the Assembly requested that the members return all library books to the Librarian.<sup>73</sup> The problem, however, of non return of books continued. On January 12, 1824 a Joint Committee of the Legislative Council and Assembly was established to look into the problem.<sup>74</sup> The following day both Houses issued the following statement: "The Joint Committee of Conference on the subject of the Library having met agreed to recommend to their respective Houses, that the Members of both Branches of the Legislature should be requested to return the Books in their possession into the Library by Thursday next, on which day the Committee will re-assemble for the purpose of taking an accurate account of the same.”<sup>75</sup> This resolution was passed on Tuesday which gave the members only two days to return their books.

A further report showed that a number of books were still missing. Consideration was given to appointing a permanent librarian full time during the Session and requesting more money for the purchase of additional books. Both suggestions however, were to be considered at a later Session of the Legislature.<sup>76</sup>

On February 11, 1833 the House of Assembly “Resolved that the sum of five hundred pounds be placed in the hands of the Speakers of the Honorable the Legislative Council and House of Assembly to purchase books for the Library”.<sup>77</sup> This resolution was not received by the Legislative Council due to the lateness of the 1833 Session. It was presented on March 6, 1834 but when the question was put it was negated.<sup>78</sup> It was later discovered that the money had been paid by the Receiver General to a Committee of the Legislative Council and had been used by the Council to furnish the Council Chambers and not for the Library.<sup>79</sup>

Three Select Committees issued reports on the Library. The first in 1835 which is listed above under “Various reports” in the section on “General printing”. The reports for 1836 and 1837 have been listed under “Serials” in the section headed “Committee reports”. In 1837 a Catalogue of books was published. It is listed below.

CHAPTER V

CIVIL GOVERNMENT

When the Inspector General presented his estimates in 1839 for the year 1840 for civil government he included six offices as follows: Office of the Provincial Secretary and Registrar; Executive Council Office; Receiver General's Office; Surveyor General's Office; and Office of the Adjutant General of Militia.<sup>1</sup> That same year when the House of Assembly, in an address to the Lieutenant Governor, in which it requested that a commission be established to investigate the public departments, it included eight departments as follows: Inspector General's Office; Receiver General's and other offices; Executive Council; Indian Affairs; Education; Sheriffs, and the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas; Courts of Request and Commissioners of those Courts; and Militia. The other offices under the Receiver General included: Commissioner of Crown Lands; Surveyor General of Woods and Forests; Secretary of the Clergy Corporation; Surveyor General of Lands; Chief agent for Emigration; Agent for the sale of Clergy Reserves; and School lands.<sup>2</sup>

Since several offices were listed in both reports those offices will be discussed in this chapter. The Executive Council has already been discussed in Chapter II. Two other public departments, namely: Sheriffs, and Clerk of the Crown and Pleas; and Courts of Request and Commissioners of those Courts, will be discussed in the Chapter on Administration of Justice.

EDUCATION

On June 18, 1798 President Peter Russell sent a message to both Legislative Council<sup>3</sup> and the House of Assembly<sup>4</sup> informing them that His Majesty was prepared to establish "Grammer schools in those Districts in which they were called for and in due process of time by establishing other seminaries of a larger and more comprehensive nature for the promotion of religious and moral learning and the study of arts and sciences". The President was to "consult the members of the Executive Council, Judges and Law Officers of the Crown" as to what portion of the Crown Lands might be appropriated and made productive for the schools and to establish a fund for the salary for the schoolmasters who were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor.

Several years were to pass before this message was implemented. On March 10, 1807, "An Act to establish Public Schools in each and every District of this Province"<sup>5</sup> was passed. The Act provided for the annual payment of a total of eight hundred pounds for four years for the establishment of one public school in each District. One hundred pounds was to be paid annually to each teacher. The place in each District where the public school was to be established was designated as follows:

District	Place
Western	Town of Sandwich
London	Township of Townsend
Niagara	Town of Niagara
Home	Town of York
Newcastle	Township of Hamilton
Midland	Town of Kingston
Johnstown	Township of Augusta
Eastern	Town of Cornwall

Where a township rather than a town had been designated it was left to the Trustees to select the town in the District. The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint at least five discreet persons in every District to be Trustees. The Trustees were to nominate a teacher of good moral character to teach in the school. The nomination could be either approved or disapproved by the Lieutenant Governor. The Trustees could dismiss a teacher without the approval of the Lieutenant Governor. However, when they nominated a new person approval had to be given. The Trustees had full power and authority to make the rules and regulations for the good management and government of the school. The Lieutenant Governor issued his warrant to the Receiver General who in turn had to receive a certificate from the teacher duly signed by the Trustees in order to receive the yearly or half yearly salary.

On March 16, 1808 "An Act to amend an Act passed in the forty-seventh year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to establish Public Schools in each and every District in this Province"<sup>6</sup>" was passed. This Act repealed the statement that the district school in London was to be in Townsend Township and permitted the Trustees to decide in which area of London District a school would be established. While there was no statement in the 1807 Act limiting its duration the 1808 Act repealed the said statement which limited the 1808 Act to four years.

On April 1, 1816, "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of Money, to be applied to the uses of Common Schools throughout this Province, and to provide for the Regulation of the said Common Schools"<sup>7</sup> was passed. Under this Act six thousand pounds was to be divided among the Districts as follows:

District	Amount 56 George III, 1816, c. 36.	Amount 60 George III, 1820, c. 7.
Home	£ 600	£ 250
Newcastle	400	250
Midland	1,000	250
Johnstown	600	250
Eastern	800	250
London	600	250
Gore	600	250
Niagara	600	250
Western	600	250
Ottawa	200	250

The Act also established a hierarchy of control. The inhabitants of a town, township or village were to meet together before the first day of June, 1816 to make arrangements to establish common schools. They were to appoint three Trustees who would appoint the teachers. A teacher had to be a British subject and have taken the oath of allegiance to His Majesty. The Trustees could not dismiss a teacher without the approval of the District Board of Education. The Trustees made the rules and regulations. They were required to report every three months to the District Board of Education on these as well as the books used in the schools.<sup>8</sup> The Board could disallow any book and could rescind any rule or regulation.

Once a year the Trustees were required to report to the District Board of Education on the state of the schools in order that the Board could make a report to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature. The first such report to be published was for the year 1827.<sup>9</sup>

The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint not more than five persons to compose a Board of Education in each District. Three members composed a quorum.<sup>10</sup>

In order to be paid a teacher had to submit a certificate, signed by the Trustees, to the Treasurer of the District. The Board of Education had the full power to apportion the sums of money granted for the common schools.<sup>12</sup> This Act was to be in force for four years.

On July 12, 1819 "An Act to repeal part of and to amend the Laws now in force for establishing Public Schools in the several Districts of this Province, and to extend the provisions of the same"<sup>13</sup> was passed. Under this new Act the Trustees were to direct public examinations to be held in each District school prior to the annual vacation.<sup>14</sup> After the examinations the Trustees were to issue an annual report to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature. This report was to contain the following information: the state of the school; the number of scholars; the state of education; different branches taught in the school; number of scholars who have completed their education, together with all other matters that may tend to cherish the prosperity of the said schools.<sup>15</sup> Ten promising poor children were to be educated at each District school gratis.<sup>16</sup> The teachers were to be paid one hundred pounds per annum, which had been stated previously.

The Act of 47 George III, 1807, c. 6 with regard to where the schools in London and Johnstown were to be established was repealed. This Act did state where the public school was to be established; in the London District the school was to be in the town of Vittoria in the township of Charlottesville; in the District of Johnstown the school was to be in the village of Brockville, in the township of Elizabeth Town. A new District, that of Gore, provided for the District school to be established in the town of Hamilton.<sup>17</sup>

On March 7, 1820 a further Act<sup>18</sup> was passed whereby the amount of money for the common schools was designated. A clerk was to be appointed to each Board of Education and paid a salary not exceeding five pounds. This Act also was to continue for four years.

On January 19, 1824, "An Act to make permanent and extend provisions of the Laws now in force for the establishment and regulation of Common Schools throughout this Province, and for granting to His Majesty a further sum of money to promote and encourage education within the same"<sup>19</sup> was passed. In this Act an additional one hundred pounds was to be provided per annum for each District for the purchase of books and tracts. These books would be purchased by a general board which might be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor. The books were to be distributed to the District Boards. Sunday schools were to be encouraged and books provided for them. This Act also provided for the Act of 56 George III, c. 36 to be extended to Indians living in the District.

In 1835 the House of Assembly passed the following resolution: "That there be granted to His Majesty the sum of one hundred and fifty pounds to pay the expense that three Commissioners might be put to in obtaining the best information, plans and estimates of a Lunatic Asylum, and such information as they may deem necessary relative to the management and good government of such institutions, and also respecting the system and management of Schools and Colleges, and such other matters as are connected with the interest, welfare, and prosperity of this Province; and to report to this House, the results of their labor and investigation, at the next Session." On February 25, 1836 Charles Duncombe presented his report to the Assembly.<sup>20</sup> In his speech he stated that:<sup>21</sup> "Our schools want in character, they want respectability, they want permanency in their character and in their support, their funds should be sufficient to interest all classes of the community in endeavoring to avail themselves of them; but whatever the amount should be it should not be subject to any contingency, as an annual vote of the Legislature; it should be so arranged that all the inhabitants should contribute something to its continuance, and all those who are benefitted directly by it should pay, in proportion to such sum, a small sum, but quite enough to interest them in the prudent expenditure of their share of the school moneys." The report also discusses what is required for colleges and universities, teachers, female education, normal schools, teaching of classics, religion, inductive system as follows: "A system of educating, furnishing and liberally paying a sufficient number of competent teachers commensurate with the wants of the people must be adopted and publicly and zealously supported; the situation of "common school teachers" must be rendered respectable and reputed to be honorable employment that gentlemanly competent persons may seek as a business for life, which may be done by a critical examination of the teachers and a frequent examination of the schools by public exhibitions of their improvements and by publishing reports awarding "merit to whom merit is due."

In 1839 a Select Committee was established to consider a speech made by the Lieutenant Governor on education. The Select Committee submitted their report on May 3, which contained the following statement: "That there be granted annually to Her Majesty, the sum of ten thousand pounds, to be raised annually, by assessment upon the people of the several districts — each District furnishing its proper quota of that sum, in proportion to its population, to provide for the establishment, maintenance and permanent support of Common Schools throughout this Province".<sup>23</sup> As the result of this report on May 11, 1839 "An Act to provide for the advancement of Education in this Province"<sup>24</sup> was passed. Under this Act district schools were to become grammar schools, a term which had been used by the Lieutenant Governor in 1798.

Under the terms of this Act a Board of Trustees of not less than five members was to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor "who shall have the superintendance of the Grammar Schools established in the several Districts of this Province and receive the money authorized to be paid."<sup>25</sup> Two hundred and fifty thousand acres of waste land of the Crown was to be sold to provide money for the grammar schools.<sup>26</sup> Two hundred pounds was to be paid by the Receiver General toward the erection of a school house in each District provided that an equal sum was raised by the inhabitants in each District and that they insured the permanence of such a building.<sup>27</sup> The Council of King's College (which had been established in 1827) was to make rules, regulations and by-laws for the conduct and good government of the several schools.<sup>28</sup> An account in detail of the money received and expended was to be submitted annually to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature within thirty days after the commencement of each Session of the Legislature.<sup>29</sup>

On October 22, 1839, just six months after the passing of an Act to advance education in the Province, the Commission to study the public departments was established. Among the special committees to investigate the various departments was one on education.<sup>30</sup> The Commission deplored the lack of a system of national education which should consist of four areas:

- (1) Professional education which should be the sphere of the university and include theology, law and medicine. The lack of theological and medical schools had been productive of serious evils;
- (2) Liberal education which should be the grammar schools in the Districts;
- (3) Commercial schools which also should be in the Districts;
- (4) Elementary schools which should be in every town, village, etc.

The Commission made a number of recommendations regarding the different categories:

- (1) University. Theological colleges should be established within university walls with a chair established for each of the different denominations (King's College had been established in 1827 at Toronto, but at this point in time no university existed).
- (2) With regard to the grammar schools it was recommended that: (a) All schools follow the same system; (b) All masters must pass certain examinations; (c) A school having over thirty pupils should have an assistant; (d) School houses should be uniform and provide accommodation for: i) the master and his family; ii) resident accommodation for pupils; (e) Certain students should have a free education; (f) A quarterly report was to be laid before the Council of King's College.
- (3) Common schools. The Commission found the quality of teachers poor, they were paid less than a common labourer, they lacked training and there was no attempt at any uniform system of instruction. They recommended: (a) The establishment of a model school in every township; (b) Married persons more desirable as teachers; (c) Establishment of a library with British books, not American because they were too corrupt; (d) Normal school for the training of teachers to be established in Toronto.

In addition to the specific recommendations regarding the different type of schools the Commission recommended that: A Board of Commissioners be established at Toronto with an inspector general of education. The Board would have supervision over both the grammar and common schools. It should be the medium of communication between local authorities in the Districts and the Council of King's College. The Inspector General of Education should be a salaried official. There should also be a secretary to the Board who also would be paid for his services.

The duties of the Board were to consist of: (a) Establishing rules and regulations for all schools; (b) Selecting the books to be used in the schools; (c) Setting the number of schools, teachers in each school and the number of pupils; (d) Establishing the income for the schools; (e) Assessing the state of the school houses. The District Trustees still were to have local control.

While the Act of 1816<sup>31</sup> required an annual report to be presented to the Legislature no reports were located for any year until 1827. After that year under varying titles reports were published annually except for the years 1837 and 1838. These reports are arranged in chronological order under serials. Several special reports also were published. Further reports will be found under "Various reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing" as follows: Common school reports 1829; District school reports 1829; Education 1829. There is also one on Education for 1839 under "Sundry reports" in the same Chapter.

King's College.

Ten years after Letters Patent had been issued for the establishment of a college<sup>32</sup> "An Act to amend the Charter of the University of King's College"<sup>33</sup> was passed on March 4, 1837. The Act outlined the main points of the Charter as follows: The Bishop of the Diocese of York was to be the Visitor while the Lieutenant Governor would be the Chancellor. The President was to be a clergyman of the Church of England (John Strachan was appointed the first President). Professors in the arts and faculties had to be members of the Established United Church of England and Ireland and had to subscribe to the thirty-nine articles set forth in the Book of Common Prayer. The College Council was to be composed of the Chancellor (presiding officer), the President and seven professors. Until the seven professors were chosen the Council could be filled with graduates of the College who were members of the Established Church. The Chancellor made the appointments. Seats were to be vacated as soon as a professor would be appointed. Five members of Council were considered a quorum.

The amendments made under the Act opened up the requirements considerably. Judges of the King's Bench could be Visitors. The President, while still appointed by the King was no longer required to hold ecclesiastical office. The Council was enlarged to twelve members including the Chancellor, President, Attorney General, Solicitor General and the Speakers of both Houses of Parliament, and Principal of Upper Canada College. The number of professors was reduced from seven to five. Members of the Council and the faculty no longer were required to be members of the Established Church. Students no longer were required to take a religious test.

Upper Canada College, recently erected was to be incorporated with the University of King's College and was subject to its jurisdiction and control. The Principal was to be appointed by His Majesty. The Vice-Principal and tutors were to be nominated by the Chancellor of the University of King's College subject to the approval of the Council. They could be dismissed under the same authority.

On May 11, 1839 "An Act to provide for the advancement of Education in this Province"<sup>34</sup> was passed. Under this Act it was stated that "the advancement of education will be better promoted by devoting a portion of the annual Revenue of King's College to the support of Upper Canada College and of Grammar Schools for several years to come than by the erection of a University in the present state of Education in the Province." The Lieutenant Governor with the advice of the Executive Council could set apart two hundred and fifty acres of waste land to be sold at not less than ten shillings per acre, the proceeds to be paid to the Receiver General for the use of grammar schools. If this was not sufficient then the Council of King's College could make up the difference but only from interest on rents paid on their lands. However, this money would only be available after support had been given to Upper Canada College.

A detailed account of all money received and expended was to be presented annually to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature. The first report was required within thirty days of the commencement of the Act.

A number of reports were issued regularly. These are listed below under serials in chronological order. Several special reports also were issued. These have been arranged in alphabetical order. The report for 1829 will be found in "Various reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

INDIAN DEPARTMENT

The Constitutional Act<sup>35</sup> does not mention Indians. However, from 1782 until 1830 there were two Superintendents General of Indian Affairs in Canada and from 1789 to 1830 five Deputy Superintendents in Upper Canada, plus one assistant Secretary and one Chief Agent. From 1830 when a Chief Superintendent was appointed for Upper Canada until 1845 two persons served in this capacity.<sup>36</sup> Three of the Deputy Superintendents served as members of both the Executive Council and Legislative Council, two of whom served the whole time while one part of the time. The assistant Secretary served one year on the Executive Council while he held that office. Neither of the Chief Superintendents served on either Council.

During the second Session of the third Provincial Parliament "An Act to prevent the sale of Spirituous Liquors and strong waters in the tract occupied by the Moravian Indians on the river Thames, in the Western District"<sup>37</sup> was passed on July 1, 1801. The Act made it illegal to sell rum, brandy, whiskey or other spirituous liquors within the tract of land occupied by the Indians.

In an Act<sup>38</sup> passed on April 14, 1821 relative to the preservation of salmon, Indians were not to be affected except that they could not fish within one hundred yards of a mill or mill dam by fire or torch light which applied to all fishermen.

Since salmon fishing was not allowed between November 10 and January 1 in each year except by Indians, non Indians were hiring Indians to fish for them. On March 19, 1823 in a further Act<sup>39</sup> a person could be imprisoned for hiring, buying or receiving under any pretext salmon from an Indian.

On March 20, 1829 "An Act the better to protect the Mississaga Tribes, living on the Indian Reserve of the River Credit in their exclusive right of fishing and hunting therein"<sup>40</sup> was passed. Under this Act non Indians, unless given permission by a Chief, could be imprisoned for hunting and fishing on the Reserve. The boundaries of the Reserve were designated by the Act. This Act was to be in force for four years.

In spite of an Act being passed in 1801 against selling spirituous liquors to Indians the practice continued. On April 16, 1835 "An Act to prevent the sale of spirituous liquors to Indians"<sup>41</sup> was passed. This Act was passed because various groups of Indians petitioned for it. After January 5, 1836 a fine not exceeding five pounds was to be imposed plus the costs of collecting.

The same day "An Act to revive and continue an Act passed in the tenth year of His late Majesty's reign, entitled, "An Act the better to protect the Mississagua Tribes living on the Indian Reserve at the River Credit, in their exclusive rights of fishing and hunting therein"<sup>42</sup> was passed. This Act also was to last for four years.

On May 11, 1839 "An Act for the protection of the Lands of the Crown in this Province from trespass and injury"<sup>43</sup> was passed. The Lieutenant Governor could from time to time appoint two or more Commissioners to receive information and to inquire into any complaint that might be made to them against any person for illegally possessing himself of Indian lands, unsurveyed lands, lands of the Crown ungranted, having unlawfully cut down or removed any timber, trees, stone or soil on such lands. Such a person must be given at least 30 days to remove himself from the land. If not complied with the Commissioners could issue a warrant to the sheriff to have him ejected. If a person returned he could be committed to the common gaol for thirty days and might have to pay a fine not exceeding twenty pounds. For cutting timber or quarrying or removing any material from the land, a fine of twenty pounds and three months in a common gaol was the penalty.

All moneys and fines levied and collected were to be paid to the Receiver General and accounted for as part of the hereditary revenues of the Crown of this Province, or appropriated for the benefit of the Indian Tribes as determined by the Lieutenant Governor with the advice of the Executive Council. Decisions of the Commissioners could be appealed to the Court of Chancery. Their decision was final.

On February 10, 1840 a further Act<sup>44</sup> was passed concerning spirituous liquors. This Act made permanent the Act of 5 William IV, 1835, c. 9. However, the penalty for selling spirituous liquors to any Indian man, woman or child was increased from five to twenty pounds for every offence. Liquor could be given to an Indian for medical purposes, prescribed by a medical man.

In their Report on the public departments the Commission found that the Chief Superintendent had six deputies each responsible for a different geographical area in the Province. The duties of the Chief Superintendent as outlined in the Report were as follows: (1) To watch over the interests of all Indian tribes; (2) To visit them in their respective villages and settle all disputes or misunderstandings; (3) To prepare the returns and estimates for the goods which were required to be issued as presents; (4) To keep the accounts of land payments with each tribe; (5) To procure for them any advance of money on account of such land payments, or in lieu of money, obtain any articles of food, clothing, cattle, horses, farming implements, of anything else which their necessities might require; (6) To keep the Lieutenant Governor informed of the state of feeling among the tribes, whether political or otherwise; (7) To endeavor to induce them to abandon their roving habits, and apply themselves to the cultivation of the soil; (8) To persuade them to unite together and build villages for permanent residences; (9) To point out to them the advantages of embracing Christianity and becoming civilized; (10) To provide that proper Ministers of the Gospel and teachers are provided for them as far as funds of the Department allow; (11) To preside in General Councils and advise the chiefs and Warriors, in all matters connected with their temporal affairs; (12) To protect their lands from the encroachments of the white inhabitants; (13) To exercise any influence he might possess in inducing them to adopt such measures as the government might suggest for their general welfare and advantage; (14) To be present at all issues of presents or payments of annuities, and certify as to the correctness of the same, for the information of the government.

The Chief Superintendent also was the channel of communication between the government and the Indians. This often caused problems since he had to depend on too many other departments such as the Surveyor General, Commissioner of Crown Lands, Commissariat, etc. to fulfil his duties.

The duties of the six deputy Superintendents were similar except that they related to the tribe near to where they resided in the surveyed parts of the Province. In its origin the Office was more military than political.<sup>45</sup>

A number of reports were issued between 1834 and 1839, regarding the Indians, either by the Imperial Parliament or by the Lieutenant Governor. These have been arranged in chronological order.

INSPECTOR GENERAL'S OFFICE

The Constitutional Act<sup>46</sup> of 1791 did not provide for the appointment of any of the officers of government or specify what officers might be needed. It did, however, provide for a Legislative Council of at least seven members who were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in the name of the King. The first appointee to the Office of Inspector General, on July 1, 1801<sup>47</sup> was a member of the Legislative Council as well as of the Executive Council. He served until 1813. Of the other three persons who served as Inspector General from 1813 to 1840 one was also a member of both Councils. Thus two Inspector Generals held three offices at the same time. Of the other two, one was a member of the Executive Council during part of the time that he served as Inspector General but was a member of the Legislative Council for the full time. While the fourth person had been a member of the Executive Council at one time, he held office only in the Legislative Council while Inspector General. A fifth person who held the position of acting Inspector General for nine months in 1838 and 1839 was not a member of either Council.

Prior to the appointment of the Inspector General, in 1798 when the Public Accounts were presented to the Assembly, the Assembly met as a Committee of the Whole House to examine the accounts.<sup>48</sup> There was no mention as to who presented these accounts. They were not printed. The Assembly continued to establish itself as a Committee of the Whole to examine the accounts until 1806.<sup>49</sup> These accounts were printed.

On June 2, 1801 the Lieutenant Governor ordered the Public Accounts and papers to be sent to the Assembly. These were tabled.<sup>50</sup> Although an Inspector General had been appointed on July 1, 1801 the first mention to be made in the Journal of the House of Assembly was on June 9, 1802 when a member of the staff of that Office, by order of the Lieutenant Governor, presented the Public Accounts at the Bar of the Assembly.<sup>51</sup> These accounts of the Receiver General were printed as an appendix. On January 27, 1803 the Lieutenant Governor in his Speech from the Throne announced that he would be laying the Public Accounts before the Legislature for their consideration.<sup>52</sup> These accounts of the Receiver General were also printed in an appendix in 1803.

During the second Session of the third Provincial Parliament, held in 1802, the Inspector General issued a Schedule of accounts to the Assembly which really was a content sheet of the Public Accounts. As well as the accounts for the previous year, beginning in 1823 the schedule contained two items of future concern. These were the estimates for the following year which were: (1) General estimate of the Expenditure and Resources; (2) Expenses of the Civil Government.<sup>53</sup> These schedules were printed in the Journal until June 1823. At the end of the Schedule there was generally a statement "For Public Accounts as per schedule see Appendix". However, only three such appendices appear to have survived. From July, 1824 the Schedule has been printed as an Appendix to the Journal. There was no Schedule for the second Session of the thirteenth Parliament since it lasted less than a month during the summer of 1837. From 1824 to 1839 the Schedule was printed at the beginning of the Public Accounts.

By the third Session of the third Parliament, held in 1803, it was observed that the issuance of licenses, to persons involved in the retail sale of or employ of stills, were not being carried out. Thus a great deal of revenue was lost. On March 5, 1803 "An Act for the better securing to His Majesty, his Heirs and Successors, the due Collection and Receipt of certain Duties herein mentioned"<sup>54</sup> was passed.

Under the terms of this Act the Lieutenant Governor was to appoint inspectors in every District who would superintend, collect and account for His Majesty's revenue. Each inspector was required to give security of two sureties of two hundred and fifty pounds each and five hundred pounds himself. He issued the licences for the distillation and sale of spirituous liquors and for keeping billiard tables. He was required to pay the money received, except for his fees, to the Receiver General and to issue a quarterly report to the Inspector General. The Act was to remain in force for two years. On March 3, 1806 a further Act was passed which continued the above Act.<sup>55</sup> Two years later on March 16, 1808 the 1806 Act was repealed and the 1803 Act was to continue in perpetuity.<sup>56</sup>

During the second Session of the fourth Parliament, held in 1806, a Select Committee to study the Public Accounts was established by the Assembly. Some Public Accounts were published in the Journal as part of the report of this Committee.<sup>57</sup> For the first time, in 1821, the accounts were published in full in the Journal.<sup>58</sup>

By 1820 when the fifth Session of the seventh Provincial Parliament convened a Committee on Finance was appointed with much broader terms of reference than the Committee on Public Accounts. This Committee which investigated such matters as the post office, light houses, as well as Public Accounts, consisted of five members.<sup>59</sup> Prior to 1825 it issued three reports which were published in the Journal of the House of Assembly.<sup>60</sup> Beginning with the First Session of the ninth Parliament, held in 1825, the reports were published as an Appendix to the Journal and thus have been listed with the other committee reports of the Assembly.

In 1805 the House of Assembly established a Committee to examine the contingent accounts of the Legislative Council and the House of Assembly. This Committee generally issued an annual report between 1805 and 1824. These reports were published as part of the Journal. Beginning in 1827 these accounts were published in the Appendix as Detailed Accounts.

Statements on the casual and territorial revenue were also printed. Sometimes these statements were issued by the Inspector General's Office and sometimes by the Receiver General's Office. These statements, with one exception, were printed in the Appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly. The one exception, which covered a five year period from 1833 to 1838, was published with the Papers of the Imperial Parliament. Regardless of who issued these reports they have been listed below with the other reports issued by the Inspector General.

On October 22, 1839 the Lieutenant Governor appointed a Commission to investigate the business, conduct and organization of the several public departments of this Province. The Commission in their report outlined the duties of the Inspector General's Office as follows:

"1. To see that all accounts or claims against the Government are fully supported by vouchers and authorities and that all public moneys issued are duly applied to the purpose for which they were intended, and regularly and truly accounted for.

“2. To see that the Revenues of every kind are regularly and in due form brought to account, and to call upon the officers respectively concerned for all necessary documents and explanations.

“3. To be careful that no deductions or diminutions in the receipt of Revenue, and no expenses take place which are not established by law, or by the authority of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury, or by order of the Lieutenant Governor.

“4. To examine, enter, and countersign all warrants for the issue or expenditure of public money, previously to their receiving the Lieutenant Governor’s signature.

“5. To report upon the petitions of persons applying for privilege in respect of grants of lands as U. E. Loyalists, or their children, or as military claimants or as settlers under certain restrictions from the Secretary of State.

“6. To prepare and report statements of the Receipts and Expenditure of the Public Revenue, and submit estimates relative to the public service when required, for the use or information of the Executive Government or the Legislature.

“7. To provide for the maintenance of the light houses, and to pay their keepers.

“8. To report as occasion may require upon all matters relating to the Revenue, which may be brought under the notice of the Lieutenant Governor, or appeal against the proceedings of Revenue Officers, or in any other manner.

The superintendence of the collection of duties of customs, and the duties on licenses of various descriptions, devolves on this office, and is embraced in the foregoing statements.”<sup>62</sup>

The Commission also made the following statement regarding certain accounts: “There is a large and most important class of accounts, which do not seem on any occasion to have been submitted for inspection here (Inspector General’s Office). That class comprises the accounts of the various boards of Commissioners appointed by name in Provincial Acts, or under their authority (Executive Council) for the expenditure of grants of public money on roads, bridges, light houses, etc. These accounts are by law required to be laid before the Legislature, and are then supposed to be investigated, yet it would appear proper that they should also undergo a previous examination at this office.”<sup>63</sup>

The various reports discussed above which are printed separate from the Journal are listed below in alphabetical order by type. Within each type the arrangement is chronological. The special reports are listed in alphabetical order. Further reports will be found under “Sundry reports” in Chapter IV in the section “General printing” as follows: Casual and territorial revenues 1830, 1831, 1835; Inspector General, 1835.

MILITIA

At the second Session of the first Parliament "An Act for the better Regulation of the Militia of this Province"<sup>64</sup> was passed on July 9, 1793. The establishment of a respectable militia under proper officers was considered essential for the defence of the Province. The Lieutenant Governor could from time to time appoint a lieutenant in each and every county and riding who would have full power and authority, indeed was required, to call together, arm and array, cause to be trained and exercised once every year the militia. A deputy could be appointed by the Lieutenant (the name of such a person having been presented and approved by the Lieutenant Governor). The Lieutenant also was to appoint a sufficient number of colonels, lieutenant colonels, majors and other officers (also to be approved by the Lieutenant Governor) qualified to train, discipline and command the persons to be trained. All officers of the Militia were to rank with the rank of His Majesty's armed forces.

All officers had to own land free of incumbrances from five hundred acres in the case of the deputy Lieutenant down to three hundred acres for every major or captain. The Lieutenant and Ensign on the other hand were only required to own two hundred acres.

In times of peace the Lieutenantcy was to meet annually on the fourth day of June. If the fourth fell on a Sunday then the Monday following. If the county was too large or too scattered then sub-division meetings were to be held. The Lieutenant would divide the county into such sub-divisions.

Every male inhabitant between sixteen years of age and fifty was deemed capable of bearing arms. Copies of enrollments in the sub-division meetings were to be transmitted to the clerk of the general meeting. The Captains of the Militia were to call out their respective companies at least twice and not more than four times a year for inspection of arms and instruction. In times of emergency the Militia could be called out to serve in any part of the Province.

Where there was sufficient population, the Militia was to be formed into regiments of no more than ten and no less than five companies which companies were to consist of not more than fifty nor less than twenty privates. For every regiment there should be one Colonel, one Lieutenant Colonel, and one Major. If the number of companies were between five and eight a battalion could be formed with one Lieutenant Colonel and one Major plus one Adjutant and one Quarter Master. Each company was to have one Captain, one Lieutenant and one Ensign.

When the Militia was in actual service, from the time they were called out until they returned home they were under the command of the Lieutenant Governor.

Certain persons were exempt from military duty except in time of actual service: Judges of the Supreme Court, Clergy, Members of the Legislative and Executive Council and their respective officers, Members of the House of Assembly and officers, Attorney General, Secretary of the Province and all civil officers, magistrates, sheriffs, coroners, Surveyor General, sea-faring men, physicians, surgeons, masters of public schools, ferrymen, and one miller from every grist mill. The Lieutenant Governor could exempt any of the above from actual service in times of insurrection.

Other exceptions were Quakers, Mennonists [sic] and Tunkers because of scruples of conscience. However, these groups were required to pay composition money for such exemption which amounted to twenty shillings per person per year in peace time and five pounds per person in time of conflict. Fines, composition money collected by the Lieutenant, was to be turned over annually to the Receiver General for payment of debts of the Militia.

The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint an Adjutant General. This Act was completely repealed in 1808 by "An Act to explain, amend, and reduce to one Act of Parliament the several Laws now in being for the Raising and Training the Militia of this Province".<sup>65</sup> Under this Act a number of the clauses in the 1793 Act were re-instated. The Lieutenant Governor still was empowered to appoint a sufficient number of colonels, lieutenant colonels, majors and other officers to train, discipline and command the Militia of this Province. These officers were to rank with His Majesty's forces which from time to time would serve in the Province. They were required to take the oath of allegiance to His Majesty before the Magistrates assembled in Quarter Sessions. Every male between sixteen and sixty was deemed capable of bearing arms and was to enroll as a militiaman.

The Militia was to be called out on the fourth day of June every year unless the fourth day fell on a Sunday and then the fifth day, or oftener if required to be reviewed and exercised. Fines were imposed for non-attendance.

The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint a proper person to be Adjutant General of the Militia. Five persons, four of whom were Lieutenant Colonels and one a Colonel, held the office of Adjutant General between 1794 and 1846.<sup>66</sup>

The Lieutenant Governor was empowered to call forth the different companies in time of war to serve in any part of the Province in conjunction with other companies of His Majesty's forces. They were to serve for only six months at a time. However, in cases of emergency the Colonel or Lieutenant Colonel was empowered to call out the companies, also to limit the number of men to be called in each regiment. Companies were to consist of twenty to fifty men while regiments consisted of eight to ten companies.

A number of people were exempt from military service. They included: Judges of the Court of King's Bench, Clergy, Members of the Legislative and Executive Councils, Members of the House of Assembly, Attorney General, Solicitor General, Secretary of the Province, magistrates, sheriffs, coroners, half-pay officers, Militia officers, who had served by virtue of a Militia Commission in any part of His Majesty's dominions, Surveyor General, seafaring men, physicians, surgeons, masters of public schools, ferrymen and one miller in every grist mill.

In addition to the above list certain groups of peoples because of scruples of conscience known as Quakers, Menonites [sic] and Tunkers were exempt. However, on the first of December each year these people had to pay to the Treasurer of the District, in times of peace, twenty shillings, in times of war five pounds. This money was to be used in the District. If the people did not pay, the Justice of the Peace in the District could issue a warrant for the sale of their chattels in payment, returning the sum exceeding the amount required. This Act contained forty-three clauses, a number of which gave in detail penalties for non-compliance with the Act.

On March 9, 1809 "An Act for Quartering and Billeting on certain occasions His Majesty's Troops and the Militia of this Province"<sup>67</sup> was passed. Under this Act every householder was required, when the Troops or Militia were on the march, to furnish them with a room, fire and utensils for cooking and in case of emergency to take horses, carriages and oxen as the service might require. The owner was to be reimbursed with seven shillings and six pence per day. No householder was required to billet more than six men. There were penalties for refusal to accommodate the Troops or Militia.

Two years later, on March 13, 1811 "An Act to amend an Act passed in the forty-eighth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to explain, amend and reduce to one Act of Parliament, the several Laws now in being, for the raising and training the Militia of this Province"<sup>68</sup> was passed. This Act was concerned with the Quakers, Mennonites [sic] and Tunkers and their exemption money for non-military service. Instead of returning the amount of money received from sales of chattels it now would be kept by the Treasurer of the District to be applied to the next year's assessment. The Constable taking the chattels was to try to take only what was necessary for the one year and to stop selling when the exemption money plus expenses, incurred by the sale, had been reached. All money was to be paid to the Treasurer of the District.

In a further Act passed on March 13, 1813<sup>69</sup> owners of carriages with two horses were now to be paid twelve shillings, six pence per day and if the owner sent a driver he was to be allowed a further two shillings, six pence per day.

A further Act was passed on March 14, 1814 which was "An Act to repeal part of the Laws now in force for Raising and Training the Militia of this Province, and to make further and more effectual provision for the same."<sup>70</sup> The Act of 51 George III, 1811, c. 7 was not to be repealed. Under this Act the person commanding a regiment or battalion could require the Adjutant of such regiment to furnish him with a complete return of all persons within the limits of such regiment, giving name, age and place of abode. The Captains of companies could be called upon to submit the same information concerning persons in their company. All men between sixteen and sixty were to be considered militia men. However, men over fifty were not to be called upon to bear arms except on the day of the annual meeting or in time of emergency.

The Lieutenant Governor could employ any company anywhere in the Province. A captain could divide his company into squads. Every regiment or battalion was to be formed into squads of fourteen men each. The commanding officer of a regiment was required to call out his regiment at least twice a year for exercise and review. The Justice of the Peace, sheriffs, constables, and other parish officers were required to apprehend deserters.

The commanding officer of any regiment, having first obtained a warrant from the Justice of the Peace, could impress carriages, or teams for the purpose of transporting troops, naval or military stores on their passage through the Province. The owners were reimbursed according to the use made of this service. During times of war the Lieutenant Governor could employ the Militia on the lakes and rivers of the Province as well as upon land.

Provision was made for the widow and children, until they reached fifteen years of age, of officers, non-commissioned officers or privates disabled in service so as to be incapable of earning their livelihood.

Every commanding officer of a regiment was required to transmit annually to the Treasurer of the District a return of Quakers, Menonists [sic] and Tunkers, and also all other persons exempt from military duty. The Treasurer was to recover the fines payable by these persons. However, no person over sixty years of age was fineable. This Act was to continue only until the end of the next Session of the Provincial Parliament.

On April 1, 1816 "An Act to amend an Act passed in the forty-eighth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to explain, amend and reduce to one Act of Parliament, the several Laws now in being, for the raising and training the Militia of this Province"<sup>71</sup> was passed. Under this Act only natural born subjects or naturalized subjects by an Act of the British Parliament or persons who had taken the oath of allegiance were required to enroll in the Militia. The Adjutant General now was to be reimbursed for all expenses of postage, stationary and other contingent expenses of his Office.

All fines and exemption money imposed after July 1, 1812 and still outstanding were to be sent to the Sheriff under warrants issued by the Justice of the Peace. All money collected by sheriffs, treasurers, magistrates, etc. must be transmitted to the Receiver General within three months for the use of the Province. A detailed account was to accompany all money remitted. Any money to be paid by this Act and by virtue of a warrant issued by the Lieutenant Governor was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

On July 12, 1819 the Act passed in the forty-eighth year of His Majesty's reign had still a further clause repealed.<sup>72</sup> Clause twenty-five which provided for a Court of Inquiry, consisting of several officers to collect evidence and report to the Lieutenant Governor upon an offence committed by a militia officer not on active duty, but which did not allow the officer to testify was repealed. This Act provided for a Court Martial to be held at the call of the Lieutenant Governor. No other clauses of the 1808 Act were to be affected by this Act.

In "An Act to repeal part of and amend the Laws now in force for raising and training the Militia of this Province"<sup>73</sup> passed January 17, 1822 further clauses of 48 George III, c. I were repealed. The Militia was no longer to be called out on June 4 nor were they to provide themselves with six rounds of powder and ball. Under this Act the Militia was to be called out annually on April 23 or the following day if the 23rd was on a Sunday.

The Commanding Officer of several regiments was to appoint a clerk to each company whose duty it was to: keep registers of their respective companies; furnish the non-commissioned officers with lists of the men whom they were directed to train; attend commissioned officers making inspection of arms; and keep account of fines. The Commanding Officer could also appoint a clerk and serjeant-major for each regiment.

The colonels or commanding officers of regiments were to submit to the Adjutant General, for the information of the Lieutenant Governor, returns of: strength of their regiments; arms and an account of all fines collected, of expenditures with certified copies of vouchers of such expenditure.

Companies were to be divided into two classes: those sixteen to forty years of age, and those above forty years of age. The first class was to be considered the flank company who could be called out ten times a year and they would be exempt from statute labour. The Lieutenant Governor was empowered to appoint a surgeon to each regiment. This Act was to be in force for four years.

On March 19, 1823, a further Act<sup>74</sup> was passed which repealed further 28 George III, c. I and also part of 2 George IV, c. 3.

In the latter Act the clauses dealing with the appointment of a clerk, serjeant-major as well as those establishing flank companies were repealed. In the former Act the clause establishing the number of private men in a company was repealed. This Act stipulated that a company should consist of not less than thirty and not more than eighty privates. A company or companies of artillery could be formed by the Lieutenant Governor in such county or counties as was required.

On March 6, 1838 "An Act to amend and reduce to one Act, the Militia Laws of this Province"<sup>75</sup> was passed. This Act contained fifty-four clauses. It repeated many of the clauses already discussed above. It had been promulgated to bring together the Acts still in existence, many of which were considered defective and repealed seven of the above discussed Acts. However, this Act was completely repealed on May 11, 1839 by "An Act to repeal, alter and amend, the Militia Laws of this Province"<sup>76</sup> because it had been found insufficient. This Act contained sixty-one clauses.

The Lieutenant Governor still appointed the officers. He could call out the Militia in time of actual war with a foreign power; put down or suppress a rebellion; repel an invasion; or for any purpose connected with the preservation of the public peace. He prescribed the uniform to be worn by the Militia; constituted regiments of dragoons, artillery or light infantry which were to be separate from the regiments in the District; and form rifle companies.

The Colonel or officer commanding any regiment could assemble a Court Martial in times of peace for trial of offences against this Act by non-commissioned officers or privates. The Lieutenant Governor would assemble the Court Martial for trying an officer.

The Lieutenant Governor could issue orders for impressment of horses and teams for service and for billeting troops. He could appoint a commodore for a provincial navy who would rank as a colonel.

Certain persons listed above still were exempt from military service. Keepers of toll gates and persons attending locks on the Rideau, Welland and other public canals were added to the exempt list. All aliens had to report annually to the Commanding Officer in their District. The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint an Adjutant General with the rank of Colonel.

Any proceedings begun under 1 Victoria, c. 8 were not considered void by the repeal of that Act.

In the Report on the public departments of 1840<sup>77</sup> the duties of the Adjutant General were defined as follows: (1) To exercise a surveillance over all the Militia of the Province; (2) To conduct the correspondence and keep the necessary books; (3) To examine the returns; (4) To ascertain the character and fitness of those whom he recommends for Militia commissions — For these he is allowed the assistance of an assistant Adjutant General and one clerk.

A number of reports were published, some by the House of Commons of Great Britain, while others were issued as appendices to the Journal of the House of Assembly. These reports are listed in alphabetical order by author under special publications. Since most of the annual lists referred to above were not required to be presented to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the Legislature, they do not appear to have been printed. Three lists of fines were printed and have been listed in chronological order under serials.

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY AND REGISTRAR

Like the other offices of government no provision was made for the office of Provincial Secretary in the Constitutional Act.<sup>78</sup> However three persons served as a provincial secretary between December 1791 and February 1841. One person also was a member of the Executive Council for most of the same period and one was a member of the Legislative Council for eighteen of the twenty-one years. There were also three acting provincial secretaries who held office for short periods of time, one assistant and one deputy. One of the acting provincial secretaries later was appointed to the Legislative Council, an office which he held for thirty-two years.<sup>79</sup>

Several publications were issued by the Provincial Secretary. Others have been included here since they deal with the fees of officers of the government.

RECEIVER GENERAL'S OFFICE

The Constitutional Act<sup>80</sup> did not provide for a Receiver General. However, one of the first offices to be established after Royal Assent was given to the Act was that of Receiver General. Peter Russell was appointed to the office on December 21, 1791, an office which he held until September 30, 1808. On July 12, 1792 he was appointed to both the Executive Council and Legislative Council. He was also administrator of the Province from July 20, 1796 to August 17, 1799.<sup>81</sup> Three other persons held the position between 1808 and 1841. One was a member of the Executive Council only, another was a member of both the Executive Council and Legislative Council, while the third was appointed to the Legislative Council after being appointed Receiver General. He also held an appointment in the Executive Council for one month. A fifth person, who served as acting Receiver General for several months was later appointed to the Legislative Council.

On July 9, 1773 "An Act to establish a further fund for the payment of the Salaries of the Officers of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly, and for defraying the Contingent expenses thereof"<sup>82</sup> was passed. This Act repealed the Act of 14 George III passed in 1774 by which a duty of one pound, sixteen shillings sterling money of Great Britain was to be assessed for every licence issued to any person for keeping a house or other place of public entertainment or for retailing wine, brandy, rum, or other spirituous liquors. Under this new Act a further twenty shillings currency was to be collected and paid to the Receiver General. This further amount could be in local currency. The licensee also was required to post a bond of ten pounds to assure that an orderly house was kept. Out of every one hundred pounds collected, the Receiver General could deduct three pounds for his own use.

On June 17, 1802 the Receiver General, who now was responsible for receiving money from Lower Canada on imports through an attorney representing him in that Province, requested that he be granted three per cent on all provincial moneys received by him.<sup>84</sup> The petition resulted in "An Act to declare and ascertain the Rates which the Receiver General shall take and retain to his own use, out of the Monies passing through his hands, which are subject to the disposition of the Parliament of this Province,"<sup>85</sup> being passed. Under this Act the Receiver General was to receive three pounds out of every hundred collected in Upper Canada and three pounds and ten shillings of duty on imports of goods, wares and merchandise coming into this Province from Lower Canada.

The above Act did not require any annual report on moneys received or dispersed. However two reports were published in an Appendix to the Journal, one for 1801 and one for 1802. Both of these reports had been examined and signed by the Inspector General. Thus they are listed above in the section on the Inspector General's Office.

When the Committee on Public Accounts met on March 12, 1823<sup>86</sup> it resolved that it was unable to make a satisfactory report due to the complex manner in which the accounts were arranged and that an address should be sent to the Lieutenant Governor apprising him of the fact. Thus the following address, signed by the Speaker was sent on March 13<sup>87</sup> in which it is stated that: "Much trouble and confusion arises from the perplexed manner in which the Public Accounts are made up from the different charges in the Receiver General's Account of Warrants paid by him for various services not being extracted and classed under distinct heads, and from these Warrants being issued at broken periods and no account rendered of the outstanding claims to complete the year." The Committee requested that the Public Accounts be organized in such a manner that full information regarding each transaction be presented to the Assembly at the next Session. The accounts which were published in an Appendix for that year were examined by the Inspector General and have been listed under that Office.

By the first Session of the eighth Parliament large sums of money were needed to pay military pensions. Thus on April 14, 1821 "An Act to authorize the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Person Administering the Government of this Province, to borrow a sum of money upon the securities therein mentioned, to be applied in discharging the arrearages due to Militia Pensioners"<sup>88</sup> was passed. The money for paying these pensions was to come from duty on imports from Lower Canada. This money had not been paid for over two years. The Receiver General was authorized to raise a loan not exceeding twenty-five thousand pounds. Government debentures were to be issued to persons or corporations willing to loan money, for a period of one, two or three years. Interest on the debentures was to be six per cent. The Receiver General was required to send an annual report to the Lieutenant Governor before each Session of Parliament; of the correct account of the numbers, amount and dates of the different debentures; the amount of the debentures redeemed by him, with the interest paid; the amount of the debentures outstanding and unredeemed; the expenses for issuing the debentures. These reports were to be laid before the Legislature. The Receiver General also was to account for any money paid by him to His Majesty through the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. On November 28, 1821 the Lieutenant Governor sent the first return on debentures to the Assembly.<sup>89</sup> No copy of this return was located. The following year the Assembly requested that the document be presented<sup>90</sup> which apparently was not done. However, in 1823 the accounts of the debentures were transmitted,<sup>91</sup> at both the spring and fall Sessions.<sup>92</sup> At the latter Session the accounts were referred to the Committee on Public Accounts. Apparently none of these returns were printed.

While no printed report of the Committee has been located, as a result the Assembly passed a resolution in which it was stated "That it is expedient to authorize the Executive Government of this Province to treat with the holders of any Government Debenture issued under 2nd Geo. 4, ch. 5 for the postponement of payment of the same or any part thereof; That in the present state of uncertainty as to the amount of our Revenue arising from duties imposed on Merchandise imported into Quebec, and as to the time of its receipt, it is expedient to authorize the Loan upon Debentures of a sum not exceeding £25,000 to be applied towards the public service for the year 1824, and to be charged upon the Revenues to be received from Lower Canada.”<sup>93</sup> These resolutions resulted in a Select Committee being appointed to draft a bill which received Royal Assent on January 19, 1824.<sup>94</sup> This Act allowed postponement of payment of outstanding debentures and a further loan of twenty-five thousand pounds. The requirement re reporting remained the same. Two returns on the militia debentures were printed and have been listed below.

By 1830 the public debt had increased considerably. A further Act was passed on March 6, 1830.<sup>95</sup> In this “Act to borrow a sum of money in England, at a reduced rate of interest, to cancel the Public Debt of this Province” the amount requested was ninety thousand pounds, sterling money of Great Britain. The security still was based on the duties to be raised and collected at the Port of Quebec. The rate of interest to be paid by the Receiver General to the loaners was four per cent, two per cent lower than paid on the earlier debentures. There was no stipulation that the Receiver General, who was to be paid one hundred and fifty pounds for his trouble, had to report to the Lieutenant Governor, but he was required to report to His Majesty through the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury. Three such reports were printed.

On the same day “An Act to authorize the Receiver General of this Province to raise by debenture, on the credit of certain duties therein mentioned, a sum of money, for the relief of the sufferers during the late War with the United States”<sup>96</sup> also was passed. Under this Act fifty-seven thousand, four hundred and twelve pounds, ten shillings was to be raised with the Imperial government providing an equal amount. The provincial amount was to be secured from an import duty on salt and whiskey coming from the United States. The rate of interest was to be five per cent. The Receiver General was required to present an annual report to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature. These reports were printed in the Appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly. These debentures, unlike those issued in 1821, had no time limit for paying back the principal. As usual the Receiver General was required to make a report to His Majesty through the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury.

More and more money was needed to finance the work of Parliament. On April 16, 1835 “An Act to authorize a Loan to be raised in the manner therein mentioned”<sup>97</sup> was passed. Under this Act the debentures for four hundred thousand pounds sterling were to be signed by the Receiver General, but payable to the Inspector General who was to endorse them. The Inspector General was to issue a semi-annual report, on January first and July first, to the Lieutenant Governor of all debentures endorsed by him. The Receiver General was required to send to the Lieutenant Governor a statement: of all debentures issued by him giving the correct account of the numbers, amount and dates; the amount of all debentures redeemed by him; the amount of the interest paid on the debentures. This statement was to be laid before the Legislature.

Two years later in order to cut down on the wording of certain acts “An Act to supply by a general law certain forms of enactment in common use, which may render it unnecessary to repeat the same in Acts to be hereafter passed”<sup>98</sup> was passed. Under this Act any Act dealing with money “to be paid out of the public revenues of the Province, such money shall be paid by the Receiver General of this Province, in discharge of such warrant or warrants as shall for that purpose be issued by the Lieutenant Governor.”<sup>99</sup> It was understood that the Receiver General would transmit to the Lieutenant Governor, before each Session of the Legislature a correct account of the numbers, amounts and dates of the different debentures; also, the amount of the said debentures outstanding and unredeemed. This report was to be laid before the Legislature.<sup>100</sup>

The following year, on March 6, two further acts were passed concerning debentures. (1) “An Act to authorize a loan of money in London and for other purposes therein mentioned”<sup>101</sup> was passed. The Lieutenant Governor with the advice and consent of the Executive Council could authorize the Receiver General to raise one million pounds sterling at an interest of three percent per annum payable in twenty, twenty-five, thirty, thirty-five, forty, forty-five and fifty years, such interest payable half-yearly in London.

The interest was to be paid half-yearly by the Receiver General on warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The Lieutenant Governor was to direct that the debentures were to be transmitted to Her Majesty's government to be sold for the benefit of the Province.

As soon as any sum was raised by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury such sums were to be applied towards redeeming the outstanding debts of the Province.

The second Act to be passed was "An Act to prevent the Receiver General from advancing any further sum on loans on certain public Works until the interest is paid".<sup>102</sup> Under this Act "no further sum or sums of money shall be paid and advanced by Her Majesty's Receiver General for the purposes of carrying on or constructing any public work or improvement, authorized to be constructed by any Act or Acts of the Legislature of this Province, for which any loan is authorized to be raised and advanced, and security to be taken for the repayment of the same, together with the interest now due for any sum or sums heretofore advanced by this Province for the construction of the same be paid, nor until six months interest be paid on any sum or sums to be hereafter advanced."

The following year a further Act was passed by the Legislature but was held up for Royal Assent which was given by proclamation on January 30, 1840. In this "Act to afford further facilities to negotiate Debentures for the completion of certain Works"<sup>103</sup> the following amounts were specified:

St. Lawrence Canal .....	£50,000
Ship Lock at Dunnville and Welland Canal .....	15,000
Grand River Navigation .....	12,500
Johnstown District Roads .....	500
Queenston and Grimsby Roads .....	10,555
Road North of Toronto .....	9,000
Road West of Toronto .....	7,000
Road East of Toronto .....	4,000
Improvement of Trent River .....	12,000
Credit Harbour .....	750
 Total	 £121,305

These debentures were to be made payable in England.

The Commission appointed to investigate the public departments stated that: the Receiver General was responsible for handling the provincial funds which were appropriated under the authority of the acts passed by the Provincial Parliament. He also was responsible for dispersing the Crown funds which were subject to the orders of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, the Colonial Department and the Lieutenant Governor in Council. All payments were to be made under warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor.<sup>104</sup>

As stated above the Receiver General was required to present an annual report on debentures to the Lieutenant Governor. The first such report to be printed was in 1827 under the title of Schedule of government debentures. These schedules contained a full report of all debentures, showing Act, to whom granted, date of redemption and amount. They are listed in chronological order under serials. A number of other reports were issued by the Receiver General. These are listed in alphabetical order under special publications.

In addition to the above reports, from 1811 to 1840 the Imperial Parliament published estimates of expenditure for the succeeding year. These estimates include expenses for the Indian Department, water communication, canals (in particular the Rideau Canal) and the Militia. These reports also have been listed below in chronological order under serials. A report for 1829 was published with "Various reports" which will be found listed in Chapter IV in the section "General printing". The schedule of government debentures redeemed and outstanding for 1832 will be found under "Sundry documents" also in Chapter IV "General printing".

Other Offices — Land

As noted at the beginning of this Chapter the Commission established in 1839 to investigate the public departments listed eight branches of government to be surveyed by the Committee to look into the Receiver General's Office. These branches consisted of the Receiver General's Office (discussed above); Agent for the sale of Clergy Reserves; Chief Agent for Emigration; Commissioner of Crown Lands; Secretary of the Clergy Corporation; Surveyor General of Lands; Surveyor General of Woods and Forests and School Lands.<sup>105</sup>

While the same person was appointed as the Agent for the sale of Clergy Reserves, Commissioner for the sale and management of Crown Lands and Surveyor General of His Majesty's Woods and Forests in Upper Canada as well as being responsible for the Secretary of the Clergy Corporation, all of these branches dealt with some aspect of land and thus will be discussed here, but each under its own heading.

Agent for the sale of Clergy Reserve Lands

Under the terms of the Constitutional Act passed June 10, 1791<sup>106</sup> the Protestant Clergy were not only to receive for their support and maintenance a portion of the land already granted but a portion of all lands to be granted in the future. The Lieutenant Governor was made responsible, by His Majesty, for carrying out this stipulation whenever any Crown land was granted. Clergy lands were to be equal in value to the seventh part of the lands so granted.

Any rents or profits which might accrue from such lands were to be used solely for the maintenance and support of the Clergy. Parsonages or rectories, according to the establishment of the Church of England were to be erected in every township or parish which existed or which might be constituted in the future. This was to be carried out on the advice of the Executive Council. The Lieutenant Governor also was to present every parsonage or rectory with an incumbent or minister of the Church of England. The minister was to have all the rights accorded by Royal Letters Patent to the Bishop of Nova Scotia.

All the above stipulations could be varied or repealed by an Act passed by the Legislative Council and House of Assembly. However, before such an Act could receive Royal Assent it had to be laid before the Imperial Parliament. The first Act<sup>107</sup> to be passed by the Provincial Parliament was on July 3, 1797 to correct a clerical error into deeds in which the word "clergyman" instead of "clergy" had been used. The Act also reaffirmed the conditions of the Constitutional Act.

Two years later a bill entitled "An Act for the better ascertaining the appropriations of land to be allotted to the use of a protestant Clergy"<sup>108</sup> was passed by both the Legislative Council and House of Assembly. This bill was sent to His Majesty for Royal Assent which it did not receive.

For the next twenty-five years Clergy Reserves received little attention by the Provincial Parliament. However, by the first Session of the ninth Parliament several petitions on the subject of an equal distribution of the avails arising from the Lands set apart for the "maintenance of a Protestant Clergy in this Province" were received by the House of Assembly. A Select Committee established to investigate the petitions reported "that the Lands set apart in this Province for the "maintenance and support of a Protestant Clergy" ought not to be enjoyed by any one denomination of Protestants, to the exclusion of their Christian brethren of other denominations equally conscientious in their respective modes of worshiping God and equally entitled, as dutiful subjects, to the protection of His Majesty's Government."<sup>109</sup>

As certain clergy lands were to be sold the Committee recommended that an address be sent to His Majesty requesting that the proceeds be used for the support of all Protestant Clergy.

On June 27, 1825 the Imperial Parliament passed an Act to incorporate by charter "The Canada Company" and to grant to the Company "certain lands in the Province of Upper Canada".<sup>110</sup> The land which was to be sold to the Canada Company was the clergy reserve land, the greater part of which was considered waste land and not cultivated. A group of people had already established a company for purchasing, improving, settling and disposing of lands in Canada in particular the Crown reserves and had subscribed a capital of one million pounds sterling upon which ten pounds per centum had been paid. Under this Act His Majesty could sell one equal half part of the Clergy Reserves lying in townships which had been laid out by March 1, 1824. Clergy Reserves which were owned by individuals or had been settled were not to be sold. All money received from the sale of land was to be used solely for the support and maintenance of the Protestant Clergy.

At the next Session of the Provincial Parliament the above mentioned Committee's report was read again and the Committee was ordered "to draft a bill to authorize the sale of that part of the Clergy Reserves not already sold to the Canada Company." The Committee reported that such a bill already had been drafted.<sup>111</sup> When the Legislative Council returned the bill to the Assembly it had been completely revised. It did not contain any reference to the Clergy Reserves but rather stated that the Lieutenant Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council should grant to any congregation professing to be Roman Catholics, Presbyterians, Lutherans, Congregationalists, Baptists, Methodists, Quakers, Menonites [sic], Tunkers or Moravians, having a settled minister or teacher ordained, and a subject of His Majesty, a Charter under the great Seal of the Province, enabling them to receive a conveyance of land by grant or purchase. Only five acres in any town could be held by any denomination.<sup>112</sup> This bill did not become law since there was no agreement between the two Houses. The House of Assembly sent a petition to His Majesty requesting that all religions should share in the benefits of the Clergy Reserves and if this was not feasible that the funds should be used for education and the general improvement of the Province.<sup>113</sup> The reply to the petition of the House of Assembly was that the King did not intend to increase the amount of reserves allotted by the Imperial Parliament for the established Church.<sup>114</sup>

At the third Session of the ninth Parliament the House resolved that the King's reply was unsatisfactory to the Assembly.<sup>115</sup> Eleven resolutions were passed, one of which was to draft a bill authorizing the sale of all clergy lands in the Province since it was only the Church of England clergy who enjoyed such benefits, and they were in the minority in the Province. "An Act to authorize the sale of the Clergy Reserves in this Province"<sup>116</sup> was passed by the Assembly. This bill was not approved by the Legislative Council<sup>117</sup> and thus did not go forward for Royal Assent.

On July 2, 1827 the Imperial Parliament passed "An Act to authorize the sale of a part of the Clergy Reserves in the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada".<sup>118</sup> Under this Act one fourth of the Clergy Reserves had to be kept in each Province and no township could be completely deprived of the whole of its Clergy Reserves.

Much of the Clergy Reserves had remained waste land and thus unproductive for want of capital. If certain parts of this land could be sold, the money thus raised could be used to improve the remaining land and used for its original purpose of supporting and maintaining the Protestant Clergy. This Act empowered the Lieutenant Governor with the advice of the Executive Council to sell up to one fourth of the land designated clergy reserve land. The amount of land to be sold could not exceed one hundred thousand acres in any one year. All money raised from the sale was to be paid to the revenue officer in the Province (i.e. the Receiver General). The Lieutenant Governor could grant or accept lands in exchange for Clergy Reserves.

On November 26, 1827 in a letter received from Downing Street the Lieutenant Governor was authorized, with the advice of the Executive Council, to proceed with the sale of the lands as laid down in the above Act. The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint a proper person to look after the sale of the lands. However, His Majesty had already nominated Mr. Peter Robinson who had already received two commissions on July 17, 1827, appointing him Commissioner for the sale and management of Crown lands in the Province of Upper Canada, and Surveyor General of His Majesty's Woods and Forests in the Province of Upper Canada. The Executive Council could nominate another person, but he had to be approved by His Majesty. The Lieutenant Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council was to prepare rules and regulations for proceeding with the sale. These also had to be approved by His Majesty.<sup>119</sup> The Executive Council made thirteen recommendations as follows: (1) Mr. Robinson had to give sureties of five thousand pounds; (2) The Surveyor General was to supply a return of all Clergy Reserves in the Province; (3) The proper officers were to furnish Mr. Robinson with a return of all arrears in rents owing on the Clergy Reserves; (4) Mr. Robinson was to prepare a statement of which reserves were to be sold and at what price; (5) Lots under lease were to be sold at a private sale; (6) Lots not under lease were to be sold in the same way; (7) The buyer of lots could pay by the instalment with ten per cent on entering the agreement, the rest in nine equal annual payments with yearly interest; (8) Actual settlement on the land had to be a condition of purchase; (9) Payment of arrears of rent was to be a condition of sale; (10) All rents received by Mr. Robinson were to be paid over half yearly; (11) Mr. Robinson could incur such expense as his office required; (12) Mr. Robinson, in reporting the proposed sales, was to suggest measures which would be useful in establishing general regulations; (13) The Act of the Imperial Parliament 7 & 8 George IV, c. 62 was to be promulgated by proclamation.

While the Executive Council was satisfied with the Imperial Act of 7 & 8 George IV, c. 62 and the appointment of an Agent for the sale of the Clergy Reserves, the House of Assembly apparently was not for on February 28, 1829 they passed a bill to be known as "An Act to provide for the disposal of a part of the Clergy Reserves in this Province." The bill was never returned from the Legislative Council.<sup>120</sup>

A third attempt was made on February 1, 1830 when a further bill for the sale of Clergy Reserves was passed by the House of Assembly.<sup>121</sup> When no word had been received from the Legislative Council on the bill, a Select Committee was appointed to search the Journals of that House for their proceedings.<sup>122</sup> The Committee reported that the Legislative Council had read the bill for the first time on February 1. However, the bill was not read further, nor was it returned to the House of Assembly.<sup>123</sup>

At the second Session of the eleventh Parliament the Assembly brought in still another bill. This time rather than attempting to sell the Clergy Reserves in support of education the bill, if passed, would re-invest the Clergy Reserves in His Majesty. This bill, however, was not proceeded with beyond the first reading.<sup>124</sup> At the next Session yet another proposal to bring in a bill for re-investment was presented but not proceeded with.<sup>125</sup>

At the fourth Session of the eleventh Parliament "A Bill to provide for the sale and leasing of the Clergy Reserves in this Province" was introduced.<sup>126</sup> On February 24, 1834 a proposed bill was presented. It was passed by the House of Assembly and sent to the Legislative Council.<sup>127</sup> Later that day one thousand copies with amendments were ordered printed.<sup>128</sup> No further report was found on this bill.

In 1835 "A Bill for the sale and leasing of the Clergy Reserves in this Province for the purposes of General Education" was presented. It was referred to a Select Committee to examine, amend and report.<sup>129</sup> That bill was passed and sent to the Legislative Council.<sup>130</sup> The Council did not pass the bill but sent down a series of resolutions in which they suggested that the Reserves be re-invested in His Majesty and kept for religious purposes.<sup>131</sup> Another Select Committee was established to study the resolutions. The Committee brought in a resolution in which they condemned the resolutions of the Legislative Council and reiterated their stand that the land should be sold and the proceeds used for education.<sup>132</sup> The resolution was presented to the Lieutenant Governor the next day<sup>133</sup> for transmittal to the Secretary of State.

A further bill "for the disposal of the Clergy Reserves in this Province for the purposes of General Education"<sup>134</sup> was passed in 1836. This time the Legislative Council returned the bill with amendments and reiterating that the Clergy Reserves should be re-invested "in His Majesty to be applied for the Maintenance of public worship and support of religion in this Province." These amendments were referred to a Select Committee.<sup>135</sup> The Committee amended the amendments by re-inserting the sale of the Clergy Reserves.<sup>136</sup> Four thousand copies of the bill with amendments of both the Legislative Council and House of Assembly were to be printed for the use of the members.<sup>137</sup> The Council rejected the amendments.

At the first Session of the thirteenth Parliament, the House of Assembly decided to send a resolution to the Legislative Council which they hoped would solve the impasse. The resolution stated: "Resolved that it is desirable that the Lands, commonly called Clergy Reserves, and the proceeds arising from the sale thereof, be appropriated for the promotion of the religious and moral instruction of the people throughout this Province."<sup>138</sup> A Joint Committee was established. The Legislative Council was not certain what moral instruction meant.<sup>139</sup> The Assembly established a Select Committee to further study the resolution. Up to this time the Clergy Reserves still had been for the sole use of the Church of England. Thus the Select Committee recommended that the proceeds be apportioned among the following churches:<sup>140</sup> The Church of England; The Synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, in connection with the Church of Scotland and the United Synod of Upper Canada; The Roman Catholics; The British and Canadian Wesleyan Methodists; The Baptists.

The funds were to be devoted to providing religious instruction. A report of the annual expenditure was to be submitted to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before both branches of the Legislature. All Clergy Reserves were to be sold under the same regulations as were Crown Lands. The amount each church should receive was to be based on the number of Ministers and the number of communicants. Two thousand copies of the above report were to be printed for the use of the members. There was no action taken on these recommendations.

The matter of the Clergy Reserves was discussed again at the third Session of the thirteenth Parliament but no action was taken.<sup>141</sup> However, at the fourth Session a bill was passed<sup>142</sup> by the House of Assembly, also by the Legislative Council<sup>143</sup> to be entitled "An Act to dispose of the Lands commonly called Clergy Reserves and for other purposes therein mentioned". In an address to the Lieutenant Governor which accompanied the Act it was stated that the proceeds from the sale of Clergy Reserves should be placed in the hands of the Receiver General, subject to the disposition of the Imperial Parliament, for religious purposes. Thus the concept that the money should be used for general educational purposes appears to have been laid to rest.

While the Act was passed on May 11, 1839 it was not until January 23, 1840, when a report was requested on the disposition of the Act, that the Lieutenant Governor assured the Legislature that he would transmit the Act without delay to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State.<sup>144</sup> Since this was the last Provincial Parliament of Upper Canada to be held, no reply was received and the government of the Province of Canada was left to decide the matter of Clergy Reserves.

Since no Act, passed in Upper Canada, received Royal Assent there was no requirement for any reports on the Clergy Reserves. However, a number of reports were published by both the House of Commons in Great Britain and the House of Assembly in Upper Canada.

That Clergy Reserves were being sold was evidenced by four reports, three of which were ordered to be printed by the House of Commons between 1838 and 1840. One document contained a report of all sales between 1827, the year Robinson was appointed agent, and 1839. A report for 1836 was published by the House of Assembly. These reports have been listed in chronological order under serials. Other reports dealing with the Clergy Reserves, rectories, Christian denominations, ministers, etc. have been listed in alphabetical order under special publications. In addition to the above, reports for the years 1832, 1833, 1835, 1836 and 1839 will be found under "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section on "General printing".

Commissioner for the Sale and Management of Crown Lands and Surveyor General of His Majesty's Woods and Forests

On July 17, 1827 the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury issued instructions to Peter Robinson<sup>145</sup> appointing him Commissioner for the sale and management of Crown Lands. He was already a member of the Executive Council and a year and one half later was appointed to the Legislative Council.<sup>146</sup>

The Commissioner was required to provide security for Clergy Reserves separate from that of the remainder of his duties. In each case he had to provide sureties of five thousand pounds with an additional five thousand pounds from his own assets.<sup>147</sup> He also was required to establish the following six accounts for receiving and disbursing money:<sup>148</sup> (1) Crown Lands, the net proceeds were to be paid to the Receiver General and were to form part of the casual and territorial revenue; (2) Clergy Reserves, the principal from the sale of these was to go to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury while any interest was to go to the Receiver General; (3) Military Reserves at Toronto; (4) Lands of the Six Nations Indians, money from the sale of numbers three and four was to be put in the public provincial account, which really meant sent to the Receiver General; (5) Lands of sundry tribes of Indians, the money from the sale of these lands was to be paid to the Superintendent of Indian Affairs; (6) Duties on timber under the head of Woods and Forests, were to be sent to the Receiver General to form part of the casual and territorial revenue.

The Commissioner also was required<sup>149</sup> to present an annual report of progress to the Lieutenant Governor as well as to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. Notice of property for sale was to be published in the York gazette (The York Gazette should read Upper Canada gazette since the former had ceased to be published in 1816) as well as any other newspaper which might be circulating in the Province, showing the time and lots to be sold.

In 1837 "An Act to provide for the disposal of Public Lands in this Province and for other purchases therein mentioned" had Royal Assent proclaimed on May 17, 1838.<sup>150</sup> Under this Act the Lieutenant Governor, with the consent of the Executive Council could appoint in each District resident agents of the Commissioner of Crown Lands for the sale of public lands. The Commissioner of Crown Lands was to furnish the District Agent with correct lists and maps of the lands for sale in his District. The District Agent was to collect the money from the sale of land which he must hand over to the Commissioner. When the land was completely paid for the purchaser would receive a free grant of the same by His Majesty's Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the Province.

The Commissioner was instructed to erect a grist-mill and a saw-mill in each township where it was necessary to have one. The Commissioner was required to give an account of sales to the Receiver General every three months. He also was required to present an annual report to the Lieutenant Governor. A list of the names of the District Agents and their residence was to be published in the Upper Canada gazette and in one newspaper in the District. This Act was to be in force for two years. On May 11, 1839 a further Act<sup>151</sup> amended the above Act to extend the time of the Act for a further period of five years.

The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, in a separate Commission, also issued on July 17, 1827 appointed Peter Robinson, Surveyor General of His Majesty's Woods and Forests in the Province of Upper Canada,<sup>152</sup> to do a survey of the woods and forests; ascertain in what Districts there might be considerable growth of masting or other timber suitable for the use of His Majesty's navy. He also was required to make an annual report of such survey to both the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury and the Lieutenant Governor. Public notices were to appear in the York gazette (Upper Canada gazette) and one newspaper for licenses for cutting timber. This requirement was to be upon the advice of the Lieutenant Governor. An annual report on the number of licenses granted and the quantity of timber cut was to be made to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. A copy of his contingent account was to be presented to the Lieutenant Governor.

A number of reports, issued by the Commissioner of Crown Lands were printed in the Appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly. Many more reports were issued by various departments of the Imperial House of Commons as Papers due to the fact that the Commissioner of Crown Lands was required to present an annual report to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. All reports in this section are arranged in alphabetical order under the name of the department. Further reports for the years 1831, 1832, and 1839 will be found under "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

Office of the Secretary of the Clergy Corporation

This office was established by the Executive Council of Upper Canada on October 20, 1818 and made patent under the Great Seal of Upper Canada on April 30, 1819. The Corporation still existed on November 19, 1839 although the government had suspended its operation earlier. The duties of this office were as follows: (1) Collect the rents on the Clergy Reserves; (2) Report on all petitions respecting the purchase of the Clergy Reserves; (3) Settle disputes; (4) Answer all inquiries respecting the Clergy Reserves; (5) Pay all money collected to the Receiver General; (6) Give security of two thousand pounds; (7) Submit a list of leases of Clergy Reserves, with the lot number of rent paid, every six months to the Inspector General with a copy to the Lieutenant Governor.<sup>153</sup>

The Commission on the Public Departments of 1839 published a statement of the amount in arrears for rents of the Clergy Reserves, the different lots and the amount for which each individual was in arrears.<sup>154</sup> A further statement showed the amount due on leased Clergy Reserves.<sup>155</sup>

No separately printed reports were issued by this Corporation. However, the twenty-seven page report published by the Commission does show, perhaps, how inactive the Secretary had been in collecting the rents.

Chief Agent for Emigration

In the Speech from the Throne read in the House of Assembly on February 5, 1818<sup>156</sup> the Lieutenant Governor remarked that migration from the United Kingdom was expected to have benefits for Upper Canada and that consideration should be given to paying the expense of the location of land which His Royal Highness the Prince Regent had bestowed upon the Emigrant.

On February 22, 1830 the Agent for emigrants of color petitioned the Lieutenant Governor to allow colored persons from the United States to purchase ten thousand acres of unsurveyed Clergy Reserves in the county of Lincoln in the Gore District. The Lieutenant Governor replied that vacant surveyed Crown lands were open for purchase by anyone, under the terms laid down by the Commissioner for the sale and management of Crown Lands.<sup>157</sup>

In his speech on January 28, 1832 on closing the second Session of the eleventh Provincial Parliament the Lieutenant Governor persuaded the members of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly to use their influence in their respective counties to organize societies for the purpose of providing information to emigrants. This information on settling and finding employment was to be available at the ports where emigrants would disembark.<sup>158</sup> Three years later in his closing speech at the first Session of the twelfth Provincial Parliament the Lieutenant Governor asked the members of both Houses to be prepared to receive emigrants from the "Parent State".<sup>159</sup>

At the opening of the next Session, in 1836, the Lieutenant Governor in his Speech from the Throne stated that "emigration was down, that highways must be improved, education must be easily available. Only then will you attract persons of wealth, intelligence, and industry."<sup>160</sup> No laws were passed by the Provincial Parliament concerning immigrants. (It is to be noted that the term "emigrant" was always used, thus inferring that all transactions were originating outside of Upper Canada, which indeed they were).

In 1833 the Office of the Chief Agent for Emigration was established in Toronto. His duties were: (1) Corresponding with agents; (2) Examining and paying accounts of agents; (3) Affording information to emigrants relative to the periods fixed for the sale of government lands and the condition on which it could be obtained; (4) Direct emigrants, in want of work, to places where they may find it; (5) Grant free passages and medical attendance and comforts to such indigent emigrants as may require such aid; (6) Afford relief to the commuted pensioners throughout the Province who need assistance.<sup>161</sup> A further duty was to keep the accounts of the persons authorized to distribute the bounty of the British Government to distressed commuted pensioners.<sup>162</sup>

A number of reports on emigrants were issued, chiefly by the Colonial Department of the Imperial government. However, reports are to be found in "Sundry reports" printed by the House of Commons for the years 1830, 1832, 1833 and 1835. All reports listed below have been arranged in chronological order.

School Lands

On June 18, 1798 the President informed both Houses of the Provincial Parliament that His Majesty was pleased "to direct the government of this Province to appropriate a certain portion of the waste lands of the Crown as a fund for the establishment and support of a respectable Grammar School in each District and also of a College or University for the instruction of youth in the different branches of liberal knowledge".<sup>163</sup> The amount of land to be granted was to be decided by the President in consultation with the Executive Council, Judges and Law Officers of the Crown.

Eighteen years later, on March 22, 1816<sup>164</sup> a joint address of both Houses of the Provincial Parliament was presented to the Lieutenant Governor in which they requested that an appropriation of a portion of the waste land of the Crown be used to encourage the establishment of common schools.

The problem of school lands still had not been resolved by 1831. On December 21 seven resolutions were submitted to the Assembly, based on documents which were printed in the Appendix to the Journal for that year, by a Committee relative to the School Lands Reservation, for adoption by the Assembly. They reiterated the statement of 1798 and stated that not even "one Free Grammar School had been endowed from the lands" nor had any Seminary been established. They further stated that the public schools were not able to give adequate instruction; school lands should be used for the purpose intended; money arising from school lands should be paid immediately to the Receiver General and funds placed at the disposal of the Legislature, where they would be open for public inspection; and an address should be presented to His Majesty, asking for the school lands to be used as intended by King George the third. On November 9, 1832 the King's reply was received. It stated that sums arising from the sale of school lands not already sold "will be paid into the hands of the Receiver General, to be applied in the promotion of Education in such manner as the Legislature may direct."<sup>166</sup>

A year later, in his Speech from the Throne the Lieutenant Governor stated "The important subject of public Education which has on several Sessions occupied much of your attention, demands your early notice and consideration particularly the questions which relate to the revision of the system of Township Schools — the application of the proceeds of sales of School Lands for the support of superior District Schools and the requisite extension of the Royal Charter under which the University is at present established."<sup>167</sup>

In their reply the Assembly stated that "the important subject of public education . . . shall not fail to receive our early and most anxious consideration, particularly the means by which, an improved system of Township School Education may be best promoted; and also the application of sales of School Land."<sup>168</sup>

On November 30, 1833 the Assembly passed eight resolutions dealing with education. It was pointed out that the whole reservation of school lands, which amounted to 740,275 acres, had already been divided as follows:

To individuals	170,719 acres
University of King's College	225,944
Upper Canada College	66,000
Surveyors for surveying	19,282
Remaining applicable to the support of Grammar Schools	258,330

On January 26, 1835 the Lieutenant Governor suggested that a Commission be established to carry into effect the measures which the Legislature had put forward with regard to the distribution of the proceeds from the sale of school lands.<sup>170</sup> That same day the Assembly requested a complete statement of all lots, tracts, parcels or blocks of land set aside for school teacher, master, school house in the several townships not made in the reservation of 1797 [sic].<sup>171</sup> The following day the Lieutenant Governor reported that he had not received any report on the request of the Assembly.<sup>172</sup> By March 12 the Lieutenant Governor sent the documents relating to land for schools and school masters to the House of Assembly.<sup>173</sup>

On March 19, 1835 the Assembly received a reply to their address of December 4, 1833 to the King<sup>174</sup> in which it was stated that the allotment of land made in 1798 for schools and larger seminaries consisted of twelve townships, that the amount stated by the Assembly was fairly accurate. However, after deductions for Crown and Clergy Reserves there would be 549,207 acres of which 291,944 acres had been assigned to the University and Upper Canada College. Approximately 240,000 acres were estimated to be available for the assistance and endowment of schools. 17,263 acres appeared to be left. These had been specified by the Assembly for the surveyors for surveying such lands. Most of the 240,000 acres were not advantageously situated. The Lieutenant Governor, if the Assembly wished it, could select this number of acres from the settled townships returning to the Crown the undesirable land.

For the next four years the matter of school lands appeared to be dormant. On March 21, 1839 the Assembly requested three hundred copies of the entries in the journals and documents of the first, second and third Sessions of the eleventh Parliament to be printed for the use of its members.<sup>175</sup>

The next year Investigation Committee number two of the Commission to investigate the public departments reported that they had not been able to acquire the information they sought on school lands, so they were unable to make a report to the Assembly at the fifth Session of the thirteenth Parliament.<sup>176</sup>

Six documents were issued, three of which are listed below under special publications and three for the years 1831, 1833, 1835 which will be found under "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

Surveyor General's Office

The Constitutional Act of 1791<sup>177</sup> made no provision for a Surveyor General. But in the Instructions issued by the King to Governor Carleton in 1768, on his appointment as Captain General and Governor in Chief of the Province of Quebec (which then included both Lower and Upper Canada) the Governor was to appoint a "skilful person" to make an accurate survey of the Province which was to be used for establishing settlements in the Province.<sup>178</sup>

By 1792 the instructions for the Surveyor General included: surveying the waste lands of the Province; examining the returns of the surveys; locating the lands granted to individuals; and preparing descriptions of the same for the Secretary of the Province to be inserted in the Patent Deeds; searching and certifying to the Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury all claims to lands by the heirs, devizees, or assignees of the original nominees of the Crown.<sup>179</sup>

The first person to be appointed as Surveyor General in Upper Canada, was on September 23, 1792, just six days after the first Provincial Parliament convened. From 1792 to 1840 six persons were appointed to the office as well as four persons who acted as Surveyor General for brief periods of time, one of whom later was appointed to the position. Only one of the six served on both the Executive and Legislative Councils. He also had been appointed the Commissioner of Crown Lands two years earlier. One served on the Executive Council, while two were members of the Legislative Council.<sup>180</sup>

The first Act to be passed concerning the Surveyor General was "An Act to ascertain and establish on a permanent footing the Boundary Lines of the different Townships of this Province".<sup>181</sup> Under this Act passed on July 5, 1798 provision was made for identifying the boundaries in that stone monuments or monuments of other durable material were to be placed at the corners of each township and concession with lines from the monuments showing the permanent boundary line. Such monuments could only be placed under the inspection and order of the Surveyor General of the Province. Any person defacing, wilfully pulling down or altering the monuments was guilty of felony and put to death without benefit of clergy.

The Surveyor General could carry out the provisions of the Act only after a Magistrate of a District or County, not being part of a District, in Quarter Sessions assembled, had applied to the Lieutenant Governor, requesting that such a survey be made.

Thirty freeholders within a township could apply to the Justices of the Peace in Quarter Sessions assembled to have monuments erected. The Justices must estimate the cost of the same. Each acre within the township was to be assessed equally.

On November 27, 1818 a further Act<sup>182</sup> was passed which confirmed the use and protection of monuments. This Act also set down the qualifications for surveyors which included an examination by the Surveyor General as to their fitness or capacity for the work. All surveyors had to obtain: a licence from and be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor; enter into a bond, with two sufficient sureties of five hundred pounds to His Majesty; and take an oath of allegiance to His Majesty to be administered by the Surveyor General.

On July 12, 1819 in an Act passed relative to the levying and collecting rates and assessments<sup>183</sup> the Surveyor General was required, before July 1, 1820, to provide the Treasurer of each District with a list of the lots in every town, township, or reputed township. The list was to include: the name of the person who had been granted the land by His Majesty; any ungranted land; land reserved as Crown or Clergy Reserves or for any other public purpose. This list was to be provided annually after July 1, 1820. The Surveyor General was to receive twenty shillings for every schedule for each township.

By April 14, 1821 a further "Act to remunerate the Surveyor General for certain services"<sup>184</sup> was passed. Under this Act the Surveyor General was to receive from the Receiver General one hundred and fifty-four pounds, four shillings and two pence local currency for the services listed in the 1819 Act.

At the next Session of Parliament a further Act<sup>185</sup> was passed on January 17, 1822 whereby the Surveyor General was to receive twenty shillings for each original schedule of a township provided after July 1, 1820.

On March 6, 1838 "An Act to authorize the establishment of Boards of Boundary Line Commissioners within the several Districts of this Province"<sup>186</sup> was passed. A Board of three persons, including a licensed surveyor was to be established by the Lieutenant Governor, in each District to be known as the Boundary Commissioners. The Commissioners were given the power and authority to hear and determine all matters of dispute touching any line or lines, boundary or boundaries of any township, concession or lot, and of any part or parts of any lot or lots in their respective districts. The acts, orders, judgments and decrees of the Commissioners, or any two of them, were final except in the case of appeal. All evidence taken before the Commissioners was to be written, read and signed by the person giving evidence. The judgments of the Commissioners could be appealed. The final judgments were to be published in the Upper Canada gazette. The Act was to last for four years.

By a further Act<sup>187</sup> passed on February 10, 1840 the provisions regarding boundaries passed in 1798 were binding on the Boundary Commissioners.

Only six reports issued by the Surveyor General were located, three of which were published in the Appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly. One report, however, covered a twelve year period. One report for 1832 will be found under "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

CHAPTER VI

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

Under the terms of the Constitutional Act<sup>1</sup> the Lieutenant Governor together with the Executive Council was to be a court of civil jurisdiction for the hearing and determining appeals. The Act provided for the Legislature to pass acts which would allow further courts to be established. Of the eight acts passed at the first Session of the first Provincial Parliament five were concerned with the Administration of Justice in the Province. Chapters one and eight were dated October 15, 1792. Chapters two, four and six bore no date. However, the House of Assembly stated that all acts were signed by the Lieutenant Governor on October 15, 1792.<sup>2</sup>

The first Act was "An Act to repeal certain parts of the Act passed in the fourteenth year of His Majesty's Reign, intituled, "An Act for making more effectual provision for the government of the Province of Quebec in North America and to introduce English Law as the Rule of Decision in all matters of Controversy, relative to Property and Civil Rights."<sup>3</sup> Real property, contracts and securities already executed were not to be affected by this Act. The laws of England were to be the rule of decision and the rules of evidence were to be regulated by those established in England. Ecclesiastical rights or dues were not affected.

Chapter two was "An Act to establish Trials by Jury."<sup>4</sup> All issues of fact were to be determined by the verdict of twelve jurors conforming to the law and custom of England. The jurors could bring in a special verdict.

Chapter four was "An Act to abolish the Summary Proceedings of the Courts of Common Pleas in Actions under Ten Pounds Sterling."<sup>5</sup> With the introduction of trial by jury it was considered very inconvenient to process debts of under ten pounds in the courts of common pleas. Thus Chapter six was "An Act for the easy and speedy Recovery of Small Debts."<sup>6</sup> Under this Act two or more Justices of the Peace, acting under His Majesty's Commission, could hold a court of justice to be called a Court of Request. The Justices, appointed to be Commissioners were: to meet the first and third Saturday in every month within their divisions, to hear, determine and give judgment on what seemed just. After February 1, 1793 any person having a debt or debts owing to him not exceeding forty shillings, Quebec currency, could cause the debtor to be warned or summoned by a writing by a Justice of the Peace to appear in this Court (Court of Request).

The eighth and last Act to be passed was "An Act for building a Gaol and Court House in every District within the Province and for altering the Names of the Districts."<sup>7</sup> As indicated in the Act, a gaol and court house was to be built in every District. Four Districts were to have their name changed as follows:

Lunenburgh	to	Eastern District
Mecklenburgh	to	Midland District
Nassau	to	Home District
Hesse	to	Western District

The Magistrates in Quarter Sessions were to procure different plans and elevations of the gaol and court house and approve of one plan. They also were to contract for the building, giving it to the lowest bidder, provided the security was sufficient. The gaol and court house were to be completed within eighteen months after the contract was let. The Act also designated the place where the buildings would be located as follows:

District	Town	Township
Eastern	New Johnstown	Edwardsburgh
Midland	Kingston

Home	Newark. This designation was changed by 56 George III, c. 18 to York
Western	Not designated, but to be as near to present court house as convenient

The Sheriff in the District was empowered to appoint a gaoler for the gaol and a keeper of the Court House. The Justices of the Peace were to draw up the rules and regulations, which had to receive the approbation and signature of one of the Judges of the Supreme Court. They also were to set the yearly salary of the gaoler.

At the second Session of the first Provincial Parliament two further acts were passed on July 9, 1793. Chapter six was "An Act to fix the times and places of holding the Courts of General Quarter Sessions of the Peace, within the several Districts of this Province."<sup>8</sup> The actual time and place was designated for the four Districts. The time of holding the Court was the second Tuesday in January, April, July and October.

Chapter eight was "An Act to establish a Court of Probate in this Province, and also a Surrogate Court in every District thereof."<sup>9</sup> The Probate Court was established for granting probate of wills and committing letters of administration of persons dying intestate. The Lieutenant Governor was to preside in the said Court to hear, give, order or decree, or pronounce judgment in all questions, causes or suits that might be brought before him. The Lieutenant Governor could appoint an official principal, register [sic] and such officers as might be necessary for the exercise of the jurisdiction of this Court.

The Lieutenant Governor also was authorized to institute by Commission, under the Great Seal of the Province a court in every District to be known as:

- Surrogate Court of the Eastern District
- Surrogate Court of the Midland District
- Surrogate Court of the Home District
- Surrogate Court of the Western District

He could appoint: a surrogate to preside as Judge in each of the said Courts; the Register and other necessary officers. Each Court was to have its own seal with the name properly inscribed.

During the third Session of the first Parliament three further acts dealing with the courts were passed, on July 9, 1794. The first was "An Act for the regulation of Juries".<sup>10</sup> This Act laid down how juries were to be selected. Among the list of duties which the clerks of the peace were required to perform was to prepare yearly a list of jurors duly classed and delivered to the sheriffs. The sheriffs were required to keep in a book a list of all persons summoned to serve as jurors. No juror was expected to serve more than once in a year. A panel of not less than thirty-six and not more than forty-eight was to be drawn for each assizes. Twelve names were to be selected from this panel. The Court of King's Bench could order a special jury to be struck for the trial of any issue.

The second Act to be passed was "An Act to establish a Superior Court of Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction and to regulate the Court of Appeal."<sup>11</sup> By this Act the Court of King's Bench was established as a Court of Record of original jurisdiction. It was to possess all the powers and authorities which the laws of England had given to a Superior Court of civil and criminal jurisdiction in that country. A Chief Justice with two Puisne Justices were to preside in this Court which was to be held in the same place as the Lieutenant Governor resided. The sitting of the Court was for four terms a year, Hilary, Easter, Trinity and Michaelmas. The several acts and ordinances of the late Province of Quebec constituting the Courts of Common Pleas were repealed.

The Court of Appeal, established by the Constitutional Act, remained. However, the Chief Justice of the Province could preside in place of the Lieutenant Governor if necessary. All matters of five hundred pounds or less were to be settled by the Court of Appeal, if the case was appealed. However, if the amount was over five hundred pounds an appeal could be made to His Majesty in Council. A schedule of fees for all persons holding official positions with the Court was appended.

The third Act to be passed was "An Act to establish a Court for the cognizance of Small Causes in each and every District of this Province."<sup>12</sup> This Court was to handle all actions of contract above forty shillings and not exceeding fifteen pounds. It was to be known as the District Court, and was to be presided over by a Judge or Judges, appointed by Commission under the Great Seal of the Province. It also had four terms of sitting, each of which were for one week preceding the Quarter Sessions by two weeks. A schedule of fees for the Attorney, Sheriff, Clerk, Crier and Judge was appended.

As doubts were rising about the jurisdiction of the Court of King's Bench, on August 10, 1795 "An Act to explain and amend an Act passed in the thirty-fourth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to establish a Superior Court of Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction and to regulate the Court of Appeal"<sup>13</sup> was passed. Under this Act the Court of King's Bench was to have jurisdiction in actions for goods seized as contraband and process to be had therein, as in similar cases in His Majesty's Court of Exchequer in England. The Act also stipulated that the Court of King's Bench would be held in Newark for two years.

On June 3, 1796 two further acts were passed. Chapter two<sup>14</sup> amended parts of 34 George III, 1794, c. 1, dealing with juries, and c. 2. which dealt with the establishment of the Superior Court of Civil and Criminal Justice. Under this Act the sheriffs and not the clerks of the peace were to establish the panel of names of jurors. The numbers remained the same.

Chapter four<sup>15</sup> amended certain parts of 33 George III, 1793, c. 6 which dealt with the time and place of holding the Courts of General Quarter Sessions. Under the original Act the Court for the Western District was to be held in Detroit. The place now was changed to the parish of Assumption. The Court was to be held as formerly on the second Tuesday of July, October, January and April. However, for the Midland and Eastern districts the time of holding court was changed from the second Tuesday to the fourth Tuesday for the months of January and April.

Over the period of the next twenty-five years various acts affecting the Court of King's Bench were passed,<sup>16</sup> which were repealed in whole or amended by an Act passed on January 17, 1822.<sup>17</sup> While this Act repealed most of the previous acts it repeated many of the clauses found in them. This Act really was an Act to reduce to one Act the requirements found in the previous acts. The schedule of fees contained in the 1794 Act did not appear and it was a requirement of the Judges to establish the fees to be paid to the officers of the Court.

During this same period of time various acts also were passed concerning the District Courts.<sup>18</sup> Thus also on January 17, 1822 "An Act to reduce into one Act the several Laws now in force establishing District Courts, and regulating the practice therof, and also to extend the powers of the said District Courts"<sup>19</sup> was passed. There were some changes in procedure. However, appointments and sittings remained the same. The schedule of fees for each category was enlarged to include payment for a number of items not listed in the 1794 Act. All the previous acts were repealed except those parts which dealt with the Court of Request.

The next year an Act<sup>20</sup> was passed in which a reporter was to be appointed, by the Lieutenant Governor, as an officer of the Court of King's Bench, to keep a record of all decisions of the Court. The Reporter was required to submit his report on the first day of each term for examination by the Judges, all of whom were required to sign it, as the authentic report of all the decisions made in the previous term.

The Act also required that attorneys take out annually before the first day of Michaelmas term certificates of having been admitted to practice in this Province as an attorney in the said Court. This certificate from the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas was given upon receipt from the Treasurer of the Law Society of Upper Canada of payment of two guineas. All money paid to the Treasurer must be paid to the Receiver General who would pay the Reporter on warrant from the Lieutenant Governor, and account for the same to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The actual day of sitting of two of the four terms of the Court of King's Bench caused doubts. Thus on January 17, 1825 "An Act to remove certain doubts with respect to the commencement of the Terms of Michaelmas in the last year, and of Hilary in this present, and to appoint the periods for holding the several Law Terms"<sup>21</sup> was passed. Under this Act specific dates were given for each term.

Approximately fifteen years earlier on March 12, 1810 "An Act to declare the Common Gaols in the several Districts of this Province to be Houses of Correction for certain purposes"<sup>22</sup> was passed. The gaols were to be houses of correction until such could be built. The persons to be so committed were idle and disorderly persons, rogues and vagabonds.

By 1831, it became apparent that the courts were not taking notice of private acts. Thus on March 16 "An Act to prevent a failure of Justice by reason of immaterial variances in certain Law proceedings, and to require all Courts to take judicial notice of private Act of Parliament"<sup>23</sup> was passed. This Act required "That all Acts of the Provincial Parliament" whether public or private were "equally to be taken notice of judicially by all Courts, Judges, Justices and other persons" without being specially pleaded.

While the laws relating to the District Courts had been repealed, amended, consolidated and extended in 1822, it was not until 1833 that the laws regarding the Court of Request received the same critical appraisal.<sup>24</sup> Under this Act two or more Commissioners, replacing the Justices of the Peace, appointed by the Lieutenant Governor by Commission, were empowered to hold a Court of Request on the first and third Saturday of each month within their respective divisions. The Justices, in Quarter Sessions were to decide the actual divisions. This law was to take effect September 1, 1833. The Commissioners could hear all cases not exceeding ten pounds. The Clerk of the Peace in each District was to transmit to the Office of the Lieutenant Governor a list of the divisions within his District. This Court could not hold pleas for gambling debts, liquors drank at a tavern or titles to real estate. This Act was to be extended to any new District which might be created. The first duty of the Justices of the Peace in a new District was to divide the District into divisions.

The Commissioners could appoint a clerk who was required to enter and preserve all proceedings of the Court. The clerk also was required to give security of one hundred pounds. The Commissioners could also appoint a bailiff who, like the clerk must give security of one hundred pounds.

All fines collected by the Commissioners were to be handed over to the Overseers of Highways in the Division where the fine was collected, to be used for highways. A schedule of fees for the Commissioners, clerks and bailiffs was appended.

On March 4, 1837 three acts were passed. The first was "An Act to establish a Court of Chancery in this Province."<sup>25</sup> In this Court the Lieutenant Governor was to be the Chancellor. The judicial powers, both legal and equitable were to be exercised by a Judge appointed by His Majesty under the Great Seal of the Province, who was to be known as "the Vice Chancellor of Upper Canada". This Court was to be held at the seat of government in this Province or in such other place to be appointed by proclamation of the Lieutenant Governor. The Court was to have the same jurisdiction as the Court of Chancery in England and possess the same power and authority as were possessed by the Court of Chancery, by the laws of England. The Court was to have jurisdiction in: all cases of fraud; all matters relating to trusts; all matters relating to mortgages; dower; all matters relating to infants; ideots [sic] and lunatics and their estates, except where special provision had been made; all matters relating to awards, etc. The Court could: prevent suits of law conscience; decree letters patent, repeal patents erroneously issued, etc.

The Vice-Chancellor had the full power and authority to: declare the form of process; define the practice and proceedings to be observed; regulate the amount of fees and disbursements to be taxed to parties and to the officers of the Court. The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint one Register, two Masters, one Accountant and a Serjeant-at-Arms.

The Common Gaols were to be under this Court. All sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, gaolers, constables and other peace officers were to aid, assist and obey the Court when required to do so by the Vice-Chancellor. Appeals went from this Court to the Lieutenant Governor in Council and thence to the King in Council in England as were the judgments of the Court of King's Bench.

The Vice-Chancellor could be removed from office by a joint address of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly requesting the same. The Vice-Chancellor could appeal the decision to His Majesty in His Privy Council. All barristers and attorneys admitted to practice in the courts of common law in the Province were to be permitted full power and authority to practice in the Court of Chancery as counsel or solicitor respectively.

The second act to be passed the same day was "An Act to amend the Law relating to the Court of Request."<sup>26</sup> This Act provided for persons, having a demand not exceeding ten pounds to be able to summon a debtor from any part of the District to the Division where the debt was contracted. There had been doubts about the magistrates varying or changing the divisions of the several Courts of Request within their District. This Act made it lawful for the magistrates to make such changes. They were, however, to declare the respective divisions at their Quarter Sessions. Each division was to be numbered, described in a book which was to be kept by the Clerk of the Peace. Periodically the Clerk of the Peace was to transmit a copy of such book to the Office of the Lieutenant Governor. Commissioners, who initially were appointed under 3 William IV, c. I could appoint a clerk, who would issue all summons, subpoenas, executions and receive from the bailiffs all moneys collected under this Act. They were also to appoint the bailiffs.

In the Report on the public departments, the thirteen Districts had 173 division Courts of Request with 1,068 Commissioners. The number of summons issued greatly out numbered the number of judgments issued.<sup>27</sup>

The third Act to be passed in 1837 was "An Act to authorize the erection, and provide for the maintenance of a House of Industry in the several Districts in this Province."<sup>28</sup> Under this Act all rateable property in the District was to be taxed in the same way for this purpose as it was for the purpose of erecting the gaols and court houses. The Justices of the Peace were to publish in one or more newspapers of the District what the rate would be. If no newspaper existed in the District then they were to post the rate on the Court House door. The Justices of the Peace also were to appoint five inspectors who would be responsible for the inspection and governing of the House. The Inspectors were to: meet once a month; make rules and regulations for governing the House; keep an account of the charges of erecting, keeping, upholding and maintaining such a House together with an account of all materials found and furnished, together with the names of the persons received into such House, as well as those discharged and also of the earnings. One copy of the report was to be presented annually to the Justices of the Peace in each District, and one copy was to go to each branch of the Legislature.

By 1838 it was found that the gaols which had been built in the Province, over thirty years earlier, were insufficient in accommodation and other requisites. Thus on January 12, 1838 "An Act to regulate the future erection of Gaols in this Province"<sup>29</sup> was passed. By virtue of this Act the Lieutenant Governor was to appoint three Commissioners, who together with the Chief Justice of the Province, the Vice-Chancellor, the Judges of Her Majesty's Court of Queen's Bench and the Sheriffs of the several Districts would compose a Board of Commissioners.

The Commissioners had to approve plans for any future gaols. Any contracts entered into by the Justices or other persons, but had not been completed, immediately were to be suspended and handed over to the Board of Commissioners with the plans and specifications. Arbitrators, five in number were to be appointed to determine the amount of damages suffered by the contractors required to suspend operations. The decision of the Arbitrators could be set aside by the Court of King's Bench. Awards were to be paid out of the funds of the District in which the gaol was to have been built.

The Commissioners were to make the rules and regulations for the government of the gaols, which included diet, clothing, bedding, medical attendance, religious instruction, conduct of prisoners, punishment, etc. These rules had to be submitted to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before each House of the Legislature at their next Session and could not take effect until the termination of that Session. The Commissioners also were to present an annual report to both branches of the Legislature.

Obviously little or no action had been taken on the above Act, since the Commission to investigate the public departments appointed in 1839, made the following recommendations: The Executive Council should be authorized by the Legislature to appoint a Commissioner or Commissioners to prosecute a system of local investigations of every gaol now in use; to examine the keeper of each gaol and from information received to draw up a correct report of the plan, size, situation and construction of the gaol building; the cells used for the confinement of criminals; the accommodation for debtors; the house observed; the system of internal discipline; the allowance of food, bedding, and other necessities; salaries; and generally everything relating to the moral and physical condition of the inmates. The report was to be submitted to the Commissioners appointed under the above Act.<sup>30</sup>

The Office of the Sheriff was also investigated by the Commission. While the duties of this officer were to collect fines; be entrusted with the charge of prisoners; appoint gaolers; superintend gaols, the chief responsibility was the care and custody of debtors and the seizure and sale of estates, real and personal. Since the sheriff handled large sums of money, he must own real estate to the value of seven hundred and fifty pounds above incumbrances (3 William IV, 1833, c. 9, s. 8). In addition he must give security to the government of the following amounts which varied from District to District: Home, Niagara, Gore, London, Newcastle, Midland, Johnstown, Eastern and any new District, the amount was one thousand pounds; Western, Bathurst and Ottawa five hundred pounds. These sureties had to be approved by the majority of the Justices of the Peace at a Court of General Quarter Sessions of the Peace for the District. All sureties had to be renewed every four years.<sup>31</sup>

The sheriff was required to hand over promptly to the Receiver General all money collected by him (7 William IV, 1837, c. 10, s. 12). The Commission found that this requirement was not being carried out and that indeed the Receiver General had received very little money from the sheriffs. The Commission recommended that the Inspector General should carry out a check on the activities of the sheriffs.<sup>32</sup>

One other officer investigated was the Clerk of the Crown and Pleas. The rules regulating his duties were laid down by the Court of Queen's Bench. As the keeper of the records the Clerk had no real protection for them from fire and accidents. The Commission recommended that better accommodation be provided for keeping these very important records.<sup>33</sup>

Three reports on the gaols were issued between 1836 and 1840. These are listed below in chronological order under serials. A number of reports were issued by the various branches of the Administration of Justice. These are listed below. Other reports will be found under "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing". Such reports include: Administration of Justice, 1829, 1830, 1834; Court martial pay list, 1831; House of Industry, 1839; King's Bench reports funds for printing, 1832; Sheriffs, 1834, 1839.

BOARD OF INSPECTORS OF THE PROVINCIAL PENITENTIARY

During the second Session of the eleventh Provincial Parliament an Act<sup>34</sup> was passed on January 12, 1832 to obtain plans and estimates for the erection of a penitentiary in the Province. One hundred pounds was granted Commissioners to obtain information and report their findings. Their report, which was presented to the third Session of the eleventh Parliament was published.<sup>35</sup> At the next Session, on March 6, 1834 "An Act to provide for the Maintenance and Government of a Provincial Penitentiary, erected near Kingston in the Midland District"<sup>36</sup> was passed.

The Penitentiary was to be under the direction of a board of five inspectors to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor. The Board was to choose one of its members to serve as President. They were to make all necessary rules and regulations respecting the discipline and policing of the Penitentiary. The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint the Warden, Chaplain, Physician, and deputy Warden while the Board would appoint not more than twenty keepers and the necessary number of clerks.

The Board was required to meet every two months at the Penitentiary. They also were required to keep regular minutes of meetings and proceedings, and to present an annual report to the Legislature before November 1 each year. The report was to contain a statement on: the state and condition of the Penitentiary; the prisoners; the moneys expended and received and generally their proceedings. The first report was issued for the year 1835. These reports were published in the Appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly, and are listed below in chronological order under serials.

The warden was required to close his accounts on the first day of October each year and on or before the first day of November render to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature, a full and true account of all moneys received and expended by him, with the accompanying vouchers. No copy of any of these reports were located.

Several further commissions were established; one to superintend the erection of the Penitentiary and another to consider the removal of the Penitentiary from Kingston to Marmora. The reports of the Commissioners were published in the Appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly. They are listed by author under special publications. In addition to the reports listed below other reports on the Provincial Penitentiary were printed in "Sundry reports" for the years 1831, 1833, 1834, 1835, 1836 and 1839. These will be found in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

ASSESSOR, CLERK OF THE PEACE, COLLECTOR AND DISTRICT TREASURER

On July 7, 1793 "An Act to provide for the nomination and appointment of Parish and Town Officers within this Province"<sup>37</sup> was passed. Under this Act annual town meetings were to be held. For 1793 a day was to be fixed by two Justices of the Peace. Hereafter the meeting was to be held the first Monday in the month of March. The Inhabitant Householders were to choose a town clerk whose duty it was to make a complete list of every male and female inhabitant within his jurisdiction. This list was to be given to the Justices of the Peace to be submitted to the General Quarter Session. The Clerk also was to keep a list which would be passed on to his successor.

The Inhabitant Householders were to choose two persons to serve as Assessors, who would assess all rates and taxes imposed by any Act of the Legislature. They also were to choose one person to be a Collector, who should demand and receive from the Inhabitant Householders all moneys due and payable.

On the same day "An Act to authorize and direct the laying and collecting of Assessments and Rates, in every District within this Province, and to provide for the payment of Wages to the Members of the House of Assembly"<sup>38</sup> was passed. Under this Act eight different classes of households were established. Assessors, within thirty days of their appointment, were to complete a return of every household living within the limits of their parish or township, etc. Their report was to be presented to two Justices of the Peace living within their parish, township, etc. which they were to signify as correct by signing the return. The Collector in every parish or township, who had been required to post a bond to the church or Town Warden of one hundred pounds, could now demand and receive the rates set down. A copy of the return also was to be given to the Clerk of the Peace of the respective Districts.

The Collector of the rates was required to pay, every three months to the Treasurer of the District, all the money he had collected. He also was required to keep books of assessment for the examination of the Treasurer.

If any Inhabitant Householder refused or neglected to pay his taxes within fourteen days after demand by the Collector, the said Collector was required to levy the same by distress and sell off the goods and chattels having first obtained a warrant from the Justice of the Peace.

The Justices of the Peace, at their General Quarter Sessions, were to nominate and appoint a suitable inhabitant of the District to be Treasurer. He was required to give security and was accountable for the several sums of money which would be paid to him, also the money to be paid by him under order from the Justices. He was allowed to keep three pounds out of every one hundred paid to him by the Collectors. Books of entry were to be kept by the Treasurer. He was required to report to the Justices the amount of money received and how it was spent.

When three quarters of the money collected, as shown by the Treasurer's report, had been spent the Justices in their respective General Quarter Sessions could revise the amounts laid down in this Act. Members of the House of Assembly were to be paid ten shillings per day when in attendance. A schedule containing the form of the high constable's warrant, to levy the rate and form of an assessment was appended to the Act.

On July 9, 1794 "An Act to amend certain parts of an Act passed in the thirty-third year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act to authorize and direct the laying and collecting of Assessments and Rates, in every District within this Province, and to provide for the payment of Wages to Members of the House of Assembly"<sup>39</sup> was passed. Chapter three, which had been passed in 1793 was found not to be sufficiently comprehensive. Thus, the Assessors were required to add a ninth and tenth class of Inhabitant Householders. The Collectors were to demand and receive the rate assessed for these two new classes of Inhabitant Householders as they could demand the taxes for the previous eight.

On March 5, 1803 "An Act particularizing the Property, real and personal, which, during the continuance thereof shall be subject to Assessments and Rates, and fixing the several valuations at which each and every particular of such Property shall be Rated and Assessed"<sup>40</sup> was passed. Under this Act all the clauses of 33 George III, c. 3 except those dealing with the application of rates, and all clauses of 34 George III, c. 6 were repealed. Instead of assessment based on the amount of acreage there was now a flat rate based on every acre of arable meadow or orchard. This Act also specified the amount to be paid on personal property, mills, shops, uncultivated land, fire-places, etc.

The Assessors were authorized, empowered and required to demand and receive from every inhabitant, annually a list of all rateable property, real and personal in his or her possession. In addition to posting the list in some public place the Assessor was to give a copy to the Clerk of the Peace so that he could lay it before the Court of Quarter Sessions.

The Magistrates, having ascertained the amount of money required to be raised for defraying the public expenses of the District, were authorized, empowered and required to divide it among the persons required to pay and to direct the Clerk of the Peace to give a certified copy of the report to every Collector within the District. Clauses 20, 22-27, 29 which dealt with the District Treasurers and their duties were to continue to be in force.

The Clerk of the Peace, in each and every District, was required to transmit, before the end of November, to the Clerk of the House of Assembly an aggregate account of the assessment containing a full and true statement of every species of property on which the assessment was based. The Treasurer was to transmit to the Lieutenant Governor, before the first Monday in November a true copy of the account which he delivered to the Justices of the Peace and had posted in the Court House. The Act was to continue for four years. The form to be used in the assessment was appended.

On March 10, 1807 "An Act to repeal the several Acts now in force in this Province, relative to Rates and Assessments, and also to particularize the property, real and personal, which during the continuance thereof, shall be subject to rates and assessments, and fixing the several valuations at which each and every particular of such property shall be rated and assessed"<sup>41</sup> was passed. Under this Act the acts of 33 George III, c. 3; 34 George III, c. 6, and 43 George III, c. 12 were repealed. This Act as had the previous Act specified the amount of money to be paid per acre of cultivated land, the type of house (height and material used) animals owned, etc. Some of the rates formerly quoted in pounds, now were quoted in shillings. The Assessors still were to receive from the inhabitants a list of their rateable property, both real and personal. The Clerk of the Peace still was to receive a copy of the list from the Assessors to be laid before the Court of Quarter Sessions.

Now the Courts of Quarter Sessions, instead of the Magistrates, were to assess the amount of money required to defray the public expenses of the District and to divide this amount among the inhabitants. The Clerk of the Peace was to transmit a certified copy of the Assessment Roll to every Collector in the District. If taxes were not paid the Collector could seize and sell the goods and chattels of the person refusing to pay, under a warrant issued by the Justice of the Peace. The Clerk of the Peace still was required to send to the Clerk of the House of Assembly an aggregate account of all assessments.

The Justices were to nominate and appoint a Treasurer for the District who was required to give security, which was to be approved by the Justices at their Quarter Sessions. The Treasurer was required to keep books of entry of all money received and paid by him. These were to be available for inspection by the Justices. This Act was to be in force for four years. The form of assessment to be used was appended.

On March 16, 1808 in "An Act for the better regulation of Parish and Town Officers throughout the Province"<sup>42</sup> the bond to be posted by the Collector was completely changed. He now had to enter into a bond jointly and severally, with two sufficient freeholders, to the Treasurer of the District to the amount of two hundred pounds lawful money of the Province. Thus the amount specified in 1793 not only was doubled but the sureties were completely changed.

By 1811 the present mode of assessment had been found inconvenient, thus on March 13, at the third Session of the fifth Provincial Parliament "An Act to repeal an Act passed in the forty-seventh year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to repeal the several Acts now in force in this Province, relative to Rates and Assessments, and also to particularize the Property real and personal, which during the continuance thereof, shall be subject to Rates and Assessments, and fixing the several valuations at which each and every particular of each Property shall be Rated and Assessed" and to make further provisions for the same"<sup>43</sup> was passed. Under this Act the Act of 47 George III, c. 7 was completely repealed, to take effect the first Monday in March 1812. The basis for assessment was changed in that definite personal items were assessed as well as real estate. The Assessors could demand lists of rateable property which lists they were to return to the Clerks of the Peace to be laid before the Quarter Sessions. The Clerks of the Peace were also required to transmit certified copies of the Assessment Rolls to the Collectors. If the Collector could not collect the amount of taxes fourteen days after demand he could sell the goods and chattels of the person refusing to pay, under warrant issued by a Justice of the Peace.

The Treasurer of the District continued to be appointed by the Justices at their General Quarter Sessions. He was required to give security and to pay the accounts authorized by the Justices. He also was required to keep books and give a report to the Justices at their General Quarter Sessions. Now in addition he was required to present an annual report to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature. This Act was to continue for four years. The form of assessment to be used by the Assessor was attached to the Act.

On March 14, 1815 a further Act<sup>44</sup> was passed. This Act continued 51 George III, c. 8 with certain exceptions. The Assessors were no longer to demand the lists of rateable property real and personal from the Clerk of Peace, but after March 1, 1816 from each inhabitant. The Assessors still were to transmit the list to the Clerk of the Peace to be laid before the Court of Quarter Sessions. From the lists submitted by the Assessors, the Clerk of the Peace was to draw up a schedule according to a form annexed to this Act. A copy of each schedule was to be submitted to the Treasurer of the District. This Act was to be in force for the usual four years.

On July 12, 1819 "An Act to repeal the several Laws now in force relative to levying and collecting Rates and Assessments in this Province, and further to provide for the more equal and general Assessment of Lands and other Rateable Property throughout this Province"<sup>45</sup> was passed. This Act which was to take effect the first Monday in January 1820 repealed all the above acts which had been passed between 1793 and 1815. The Assessors were to draw up lists giving particular specifications of land. The several Courts of Quarter Sessions, having determined the amount of money needed were to apportion the same among the names on the Rate Rolls. The Clerk of the Peace was required, as formerly, to transmit a certified copy of the Assessment Roll to each Collector in the District.

The Surveyor General, annually on July 1, was to furnish the Treasurer of each District with a list or schedule of the lots in every town, township or designated township, designed by numbers and concessions. Crown Reserves and Clergy Reserves were to be included. The Treasurer was to keep an account of all lands according to the schedule submitted by the Receiver General. His books had to be available for examination by the Justices at the Court of General Quarter Sessions.

The Clerk of the Peace in every District was required annually before the end of January to transmit to the Lieutenant Governor, an aggregate account of the assessment to be laid before the Legislative Council and House of Assembly.

The Treasurer still was to be appointed by the Justices at their General Quarter Sessions. He was required to give security and was accountable to the Justices for the payment of bills. He was required to keep books of entry of the several sums of money received and paid by him and to deliver under oath to one of the Justices, at their respective General Quarter Sessions, a true and exact account of all money received and spent. He also was required to transmit annually, under oath a certified copy of the same to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislative Council and House of Assembly.

The Surveyor General was to be paid by the Receiver General for all surveys under warrants which would be issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The Receiver General was accountable to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

On February 28, 1823 when the Lieutenant Governor presented the assessment and population returns to the Legislative Council,<sup>46</sup> he was not satisfied with these returns and recommended that more adequate laws be instituted for obtaining correct statements of the population.<sup>47</sup> As a result a Joint Committee of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly was established to investigate the problem of accurate population statistics.<sup>48</sup> The Committee suggested that the Assessors should visit every household to obtain actual information on the number of males and females both under and over sixteen who were living in a household.

Still concerned about an accurate census of the population, on January 19, 1824 "An Act to repeal part of the second clause of an Act passed in the thirty-third year of His late Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to provide for the nomination and appointment of Parish and Town Officers within this Province" and to make more effectual provision for obtaining an accurate census of the population of this Province"<sup>49</sup> was passed. It was considered expedient that an accurate census of the population of this Province should be obtained from time to time and deposited in the Office of the Lieutenant Governor. Under this Act the Town Clerk was no longer responsible for taking the census. It now was to be the responsibility of the Assessor. A form was drawn up which included names of heads of families, males, females under sixteen, males and females over sixteen and a total, with the number in each family. Refusal to have a census of the family could cause a fine of forty shillings.

Assessors still were to be chosen at the Town Meeting. However, if any Assessor so chosen refused to perform his duties then the Justices would appoint another person to be assessor. The Town Clerk was required to present a list of Assessors to the Clerk of the Peace for the District within twenty days of the Town Meeting.

The Assessors were to deliver the list, of the population, to the Clerk of the Peace before April 1 each year. The Clerk was to compile a general return of the population of his District and transmit it to the Lieutenant Governor on or before June 1 each year.

On April 4, 1825 "An Act to amend and make permanent a certain Act of the Parliament of this Province, passed in the fifty-ninth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George III, intituled, "An Act to repeal the several Laws now in force, relative to levying and collecting Rates and Assessments in this Province, and further to provide for the more equal and general Assessments of lands and other rateable property throughout this Province" and to render more effectual the several Laws of this Province, imposing Rates and Assessments by providing under certain restrictions for the levying such Rates and Assessments by the sale of a portion of the lands on which the same are charged"<sup>50</sup> was proclaimed. Owners of land which had not been surveyed by or under the authority of the Surveyor General were required to submit a schedule of such land to the District Treasurer, or a schedule of the land actually surveyed with a plan or map of the land. This return had to be submitted by July 1, 1825. The District Treasurers were to keep a record of all unsurveyed land and the owners were to be assessed on this land as well as the land on which the Surveyor General had submitted a report. This included the Clergy Reserves.

The Treasurer of each District was to present to the Justices of the Peace in Quarter Sessions assembled an accurate account of all land in his District which was eight years in arrears in taxes, specifying the amount. This was to take effect beginning July 1, 1828, and was to be presented annually. The Clerks of the Peace were to issue writs for levying the assessments due in each township. These writs were to be directed to the Sheriff who could sell a portion of the land for taxes. The money collected by the Sheriff was to be turned over to the Treasurer of the District. The Treasurer of each District was to insert in the Upper Canada gazette and also in a newspaper in the District a list of all lands liable for sale for arrears of taxes. No land could be sold within six months of the Sheriff receiving the writ. All sales were to be by public auction. A copy of the form of assessment which included the population statistics as well as the form of the writ to sell and the form of the Sheriff's deed was included with the Act. On March 25, 1828 "An Act to amend the Assessment Laws of this Province"<sup>51</sup> was passed. It was considered expedient to enable persons holding lands in several Districts in the Province to pay the rates and taxes on the same to the Treasurer of the District in which they resided. The person paying in another District however, was to pay five per cent on said rates to compensate the Treasurer for his work of collecting the tax. The Treasurer had to keep an account of the moneys received for each District separately and had to transmit to the Treasurer of the District in which the lands were situated on July 1 the amount of taxes, rates or assessments.

After July 1, 1829 the Treasurers were not to receive taxes on lands in other Districts if they were in arrears for more than six years. In each case the tax must be paid in the District in which the land was situated. No Treasurer could receive payment if overdue by eight years.

In an Act<sup>52</sup> passed on April 16, 1835 some sixteen acts were repealed including several relative to the appointment and duties of town officers, line fences, water courses, fence viewers and Overseers of Highways and Roads. However, in sections 19, 20, 21 provision was made for the Assessors to conduct a census on a somewhat different basis in that the space for totals was omitted but in its stead were two columns, one for listing "deaf and dumb" and the other for "insane". The date for presenting the return to the Lieutenant Governor, by the Clerk of the Peace, was July 1 instead of June 1.

On March 4, 1837 "An Act to amend the Laws now in force regulating the Sale of Lands for Arrears of Taxes, and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>53</sup> was passed. Under this Act all sales of land in any District for taxes was to take place in the town in which the Quarter Sessions were held, on the second day of such Sessions, at or near the Court House.

No Treasurer, Sheriff or Clerk of the Peace could purchase any of this land. The Sheriff within one month after each sale was to make a return of the lots sold and transmit the same to the Secretary and Registrar of the Province in order that all land be registered in one public office in the Province.

Two further acts were passed on March 6, 1838, one "to postpone the sale of Lands in arrears of Taxes".<sup>54</sup> The second "altered and amended sundry Acts regulating the appointment and duties of Township Officers".<sup>55</sup> Under the first Act the large quantities of land which were to be sold for arrears of taxes, due to the peculiar circumstances of the Province (1837/8 Rebellion) such sales should be postponed and no lands sold during 1838. Under the second Act voters at Township Meetings had to be a Freeholder or Householder and twenty-one years of age. At the meeting one Clerk, one Assessor, one Collector was to be chosen. The Township Clerk was required to make two copies of his proceedings, one to be kept and the other transmitted to the Clerk of the Peace for the District.

The Assessor was to obtain from every rateable inhabitant a list of all property both real and personal. This work was to be completed annually between the first Monday in January and the first day of March. The list was to be attested under oath before the Clerk of the Peace of the District.

Further amendments were made to the census returns in that the necessary columns were to be added to show the different denominations of Christians to which a family might belong.

The Collector still was to apply to the Clerk of the Peace for the Assessment Roll for his township. He was to pay all money collected to the District Treasurer on or before the third Tuesday in December.

The Clerk of the Peace in every District still was required to make out a general return of the population of his District from the several returns received from the Assessors and transmit it to the Lieutenant Governor on or before July 1 each year.

Assessment returns were published every year from 1824 to 1840 with the exception of 1828 and 1829 when they were published with the other "Sundry reports" which have been listed above in Chapter IV under "General printing". Population returns also were published each year from 1824 to 1840 except for the year 1828. District Treasurers reports were published for 1832 and from 1836 to 1840. These are listed below in chronological order under serials. The Sheriff's Office issued two reports for land sold for taxes. These also are listed in chronological order under serials. Four special reports were published, one return for the Niagara District issued by the Clerk of the Peace for that District and one by the Sheriff's Office for land sold in the Ottawa District and two by the Treasurers.

CHAPTER VII

COMMISSIONS

Four special Commissions were established by the Lieutenant Governor under acts passed by the Provincial Parliament, to investigate matters of concern to the Province. Two such Commissions dealt with the War of 1812, another with the 1837/8 Rebellion while the fourth was to investigate the activities of the public departments.

FORFEITED ESTATES

On March 14, 1814 "An Act to declare certain persons therein described, Aliens, and to vest their estates in His Majesty"<sup>1</sup> was passed. Many persons who claimed to be subjects of His Majesty and had taken the oath of allegiance, in order to receive grants of land from His Majesty, were actually inhabitants of the United States and had voluntarily returned to the United States without permission. After July 1, 1812 these persons were considered aliens and could no longer hold land in the Province. Under this Act the Lieutenant Governor could authorize by Commission under the Great Seal of the Province, any sheriff, coroner, or other persons in the several Districts to inquire of such persons by a jury, and also what lands they were seized of, and after such inquisition such land would revert to His Majesty. This Act was not to affect bona fide creditors.

On November 27, 1818 a further "Act for vesting in Commissioners the Estates of certain Traitors, and also the Estates of persons declared Aliens by the Act passed in the fifty-fourth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to declare certain persons therein described Aliens, and to vest their Estates in His Majesty" and for applying the proceeds thereof towards compensating the losses which His Majesty's Subjects have sustained in consequence of the late war, and for ascertaining and satisfying the lawful debts and claims thereupon".<sup>2</sup>

The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint as many commissioners as necessary in whom the forfeited estates, real and personal should be vested. Certified extracts of inquisitions were to be furnished to the Commissioners by the Clerk of the Crown. The extracts were to be kept in a book by the Commissioners. An extract signed by two Commissioners was to be evidence in a court of law. The Commissioners were to keep a register of the names of all persons attainted of high treason committed during the war and of all real and personal estate. This book was open for public inspection.

Duplicates of entries of real estate forfeited were to be sent to the Clerk of the Peace in each District where the real estate lay. Claims for forfeited personal estate had to be made within six months and to real estate within eight months after it had been registered by the Commissioners. Claims had to be in writing. The decisions of the Commissioners were final unless appealed within thirty days. When the Commissioners determined that a claim was just the Sheriff was to put the claimant in possession of the real estate decreed to him. The Commissioners were to sell the forfeited estates, both personal and real, by auction.

A further Act was passed on April 14, 1821<sup>3</sup> whereby the Commissioners could revise all claims brought before them respecting lands not yet sold under 59 George III, c. 12, and in cases where there had been bona fide sales by the alien, or under a judgment against him before his departure and before the passing of 54 George III, c. 9, could decree the lands to the persons claiming them under such sale. The claim had to be made within six months.

On January 17, 1822 "An Act to enable persons who have preferred claims to or out of certain Forfeited Estates in this Province to withdraw the same"<sup>4</sup> was passed. Under this Act persons preferring claims before the Commissioners of Forfeited Estates, could withdraw the claim and all proceedings would cease.

Fourteen years had passed since the first Act regarding Forfeited Estates was passed. However, on March 25, 1828<sup>5</sup> a further Act was passed whereby no commission under 54 George III c. 9, would be issued after July 1, except such as might be necessary for rectifying an error in the proceedings under which an estate had been returned as forfeited.

On March 20, 1829 the final Act, dealing with confiscated estates<sup>6</sup> was passed. Power was given to the Commissioners, in certain cases, with the consent of the parties, to transfer lots which were intended to have been sold in place of those which by error, were actually sold, and to accept a transfer of the lot erroneously sold, in return. When the purchaser of land erroneously sold, declined to accept the intended lands in exchange, the money paid by him was to be repaid with interest, and the land conveyed to the rightful owner.

None of the above acts required any reports from the Commissioners on their activities. However, they did issue their proceedings in 1830.

WAR LOSSES

While the War of 1812 had been over for some period of time it was not until March 19, 1823 that “An Act to provide for the appointment of Commissioners, to investigate the claims of certain inhabitants of this Province, for losses sustained by them during the late War with the United States of America, and for other purposes therein mentioned”<sup>7</sup> was passed. The Lieutenant Governor was empowered, by Commission under the Great Seal of this Province, to appoint five Commissioners, three of whom should form a quorum, to enquire into the losses sustained by His Majesty’s subjects during the late war with the United States of America.

The Commissioners could examine, under oath, all persons thought necessary to determine losses. They also were given the power to request any books, papers, writings or records necessary for their information. They could appoint clerks, messengers and officers to assist them. They were required to give an account of their proceedings in writing to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the House of Assembly.

The Lieutenant Governor was empowered to issue warrants up to one thousand pounds to the Receiver General, authorizing him to pay the expenses incurred by the Commissioners. The Receiver General was to account for all money to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury. The Act was in force for three years.

Two different printings of the report of the Commissioners were issued in 1825. One report listed below was issued by the Legislative Council. Further reports for the years 1833 and 1835 will be found with “Sundry reports” published by the House of Assembly and listed above in Chapter IV under “General printing”.

REBELLION 1837-8

In December 1837 rebellion broke out in the Province. On March 6, 1838 "An Act to authorize the appointment of Commissioners to investigate the claims of certain inhabitants of the Province for losses sustained during the late unnatural Rebellion" was passed. The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint three persons as Commissioners by Commission under the Great Seal of the Province to enquire into the losses sustained by His Majesty's subjects during the rebellion. The Lieutenant Governor was to authorize the place(s) where the Commissioners would hold sittings from time to time. The Commissioners could send for persons, books, papers, writings or records which they judged necessary to carry out their investigations. They could employ a clerk or messenger to assist them.

The Commissioners were required to submit a copy of their Proceedings to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the next Session of Parliament. The Commissioners not only issued a report but also made the documents, which they had collected, available. In addition: two reports were issued by the Treasury Chambers in Great Britain giving an estimate for the army and ordnance services occasioned by the insurrection; forms of prayer on two occasions and communications from the Lieutenant Governor of both New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were printed. These have been arranged below in alphabetical order.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENTS

In an address to His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor dated May 9, 1839 the House of Assembly requested that an investigation be undertaken of the public departments of the Province. On October 22, 1839 a Commission of five members of the Executive Council with fifteen other persons including the Receiver General, Inspector General, Attorney General, with a representative from the Militia, Legislative Council, Upper Canada College, and the judiciary were appointed by the Lieutenant Governor.

The Commissioners were given full power and authority to summon persons and to send for and examine all papers, records and documents of every description in order to investigate the system of conducting the public business. They were to make recommendations for change where necessary.

To carry out the investigations eight committees were established, namely: Inspector General's Office; Receiver General's and other offices; Executive Council; Indian Affairs;

Education; Sheriffs and Clerk of the Crown and Pleas; Courts of Request and Commissioners of those Courts; Militia.

Several reports on specific departments as well as the main report were issued. These are listed below in alphabetical order by author.

CHAPTER VIII

TRADE, COMMERCE, DUTIES

Under the terms of the Constitutional Act of 1791 "the King and Parliament of Great Britain" were not to impose any duty, tax or assessment whatever, payable in any of His Majesty's Colonies, Provinces, and Plantations in North America, or the West Indies, except only such duties as it may be expedient to impose for the regulation of commerce, the net produce of such duties to be always paid and applied to and for the Colony, Province, or Plantation, in which the same shall be respectively levied, in such manner as other duties collected by the authority of the respective General Courts or General Assemblies of such Colonies, Provinces or Plantations are ordinarily paid and applied". The net produce of such duties was to be applied to and for the use of the Provinces respectively and in such manner as directed by the laws made by His Majesty with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly of the Province.

On July 9, 1801 "An Act for granting to His Majesty, His Heirs and Successors, to and for the uses of this Province, the like Duties on goods and merchandize brought into this Province from the United States of America, as are now paid on goods and merchandize imported from Great Britain and other places"<sup>2</sup> was passed.

The following places were designated as ports of entry for the collecting and payment of duties: Cornwall, Johnstown, Newcastle, York, Kingston, Niagara, Queenston, Fort Erie Passage, Turkey Point, Amherstburgh and Sandwich. The Lieutenant Governor was to nominate and appoint one or more Collectors to each Port, who were required to report to the Lieutenant Governor all entries made at their Port. They were to account every six months to the Receiver General for all duties and seizures levied, paid and made by virtue of this Act or any Act or acts of the Parliament of Great Britain.

The Collectors were required to give security by two sureties of five hundred pounds each and himself of one thousand pounds. The Indians were not to pay any duty on pelts brought by land or inland navigation. A table of fees, contained in the Act, was to be posted in a conspicuous place in the office of the Collector.

By 1803 the above Act was found to be inadequate and that additional remedies and security against the evasion of such duties was necessary. Thus on March 5 a further Act was passed.<sup>3</sup>

The Lieutenant Governor with the advice of the Executive Council could authorize the building of Custom Houses to be paid for from the duties collected. Goods seized of less than twenty pounds in value could be proceeded with by the Magistrates in Quarter Sessions. If the owner did not agree with the Magistrates' assessment of the value of the goods he could request to have the case tried in the Court of King's Bench. The owner was required to give bond.

The Collector was required to pay to the Receiver General the duties collected on every vessel. The Lieutenant Governor was empowered to authorize the building of light houses.

On May 5, 1812 the Imperial Parliament passed "An Act to prevent foreign goods of certain descriptions being brought from the United States of America into Canada, and to allow a greater quantity of Worsted Yarn to be exported from Great Britain to Canada".<sup>4</sup> No goods except those grown, produced or manufactured in the United States of America were to be imported into the provinces from the United States. Twenty thousand pounds of worsted or woollen yarn could be imported from Great Britain per year.

A further Act was passed by the Provincial Parliament on July 12, 1819 whereby part of the Act of 1801 was repealed.<sup>5</sup> A list of articles with the amount of duty to be paid was outlined such as ale, beer, rope, playing cards, wax, leather, nails, salt, tobacco, etc. Flour, oak, pine and timber were to be imported free of duty. Tonnage was to be paid on all American vessels except those exclusively employed for transporting passengers and their baggage.

All money collected under this Act was to be paid to the Receiver General for the public use of the Province and towards the support of the government. The Receiver General was to account for the money to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. This Act was to last only until the end of the next Session of Parliament. Nothing in the Act was to affect the provisions of any Act of the Parliament of Great Britain for regulating trade in this Province with the United States of America.

The following year still another Act was passed<sup>6</sup> in which certain articles could continue to be imported, some with an increase in price. New articles such as pork and beef were added to the list. This Act was to last until the end of the next Session of the Provincial Parliament.

The above Act was repealed on April 14, 1821.<sup>7</sup> In the new Act a much longer list of articles was included. Fruit and dairy products were added. Settlers coming into the Province could import some livestock free of duty. This Act was to be in force for two years.

On June 24, 1822 "An Act to regulate the trade between His Majesty's Possessions in America and the West Indies, and other places and the West Indies"<sup>8</sup> was passed. This Act repealed twenty-four Acts which had been passed between 1786 and 1820. The Imperial Act of 52 George III, c. 55 was not repealed. However, procedures concerning any seizures of goods, wares, merchandize or ships which had occurred before the passing of this Act were to continue. Three schedules were appended to the Act: (A) A list of free ports in British possessions (Quebec was the port listed for the Canadas (Upper and Lower); (B) A list of articles which could be imported; (C) A schedule of duties payable on articles imported into His Majesty's possessions in America and the West Indies, from other places in America and the West Indies.

Another Act was passed the same day which regulated "the trade between His Majesty's possessions in America and the West Indies, and other parts of the world".<sup>9</sup> Under this Act six acts were repealed bearing dates from 1785 to 1817. This Act contained two schedules: (A) A schedule of articles allowed to be exported from Ports in Europe, or in Africa to any of His Majesty's Colonies, Plantations, or Islands in America or the West Indies; (B) A schedule of duties payable on articles imported into His Majesty's Colonies, Plantations or Islands in America or the West Indies, from ports in Europe or Africa, under the authority of this Act.

On August 5, 1822 "An Act to Regulate the Trade of the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada, and for the purposes relating to the said Provinces"<sup>10</sup> was passed. This Act empowered the Lieutenant Governor with the advice and consent of the Executive Council to increase or decrease by proclamation the number of ports or places which were or hereafter might be appointed for the entry of goods, wares and commodities imported from the United States of America. Goods which were the produce of any of His Majesty's dominions could be exported to any port in the United States except arms or naval stores which required a licence.

The Province of Lower Canada was to pay through drawbacks to the Province of Upper Canada the duties imposed on goods coming into Lower Canada but proceeding for consumption in Upper Canada. This procedure had been by regulations and acts passed by the two legislatures regarding the same. However, the last agreement had expired on July 1, 1819. Commissioners appointed to look into the matter claimed that there were certain arrearages on the part of Lower Canada which Lower Canada denied. Arbitrators were to be appointed, one by the Lieutenant Governor of each Province and the third by the other two arbitrators. If the arbitrators could not agree on the appointment of a third then His Majesty would make the appointment. The Arbitrators had power to hear all the claims of Upper Canada on account of drawbacks. They had the power to send for and examine persons, papers and records which they judged necessary. Any one refusing could be fined fifty pounds.

They were to report to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. Their award was final which they were to certify to the Treasury Commissioners and to the Lieutenant Governor in each Province. If any sum of money was to be paid, the Lieutenant Governor of Lower Canada was to issue a warrant to the Receiver General of Lower Canada, to pay the Receiver General of Upper Canada the amount awarded.

All duties arising in Lower Canada from July 1, 1819 through to July 1, 1824 were to be paid in the proportion of one fifth for Upper Canada. After July 1, 1824 the division of duties was to be determined every four years by arbitrators appointed for that purpose. The Province of Lower Canada could no longer change the proportion of duties which affected Upper Canada by an Act of the Legislature. All such acts had to be sent to the Lieutenant Governor of Upper Canada and laid before both Houses of the Imperial Parliament. Two schedules were appended to this Act: (1) A schedule of goods produced in the United States which could be imported into either Province; (2) Duties to be paid on goods listed in schedule 1.

On March 7, 1823 "An Act to amend an Act of the last Session of Parliament, for regulating the trade between His Majesty's Possessions in America and the West Indies and other parts of the world"<sup>11</sup> was passed. Under this Act, instead of seven and one half per cent on the value of brandy imported, a duty of one shilling per gallon was to be collected.

On January 19, 1824 "An Act further to regulate by Law the commercial intercourse of the Province of Upper Canada with the United States of America"<sup>12</sup> was passed by the Provincial Parliament. Approximately twenty-eight items were listed with the duty to be imposed. Other articles could be imported duty free. All money collected was to be paid to the Receiver General and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. This Act was to be in force for five years.

That same day another Act was passed which repealed 41 George III, c. 5 and 43 George III, c. 2.<sup>13</sup> The Lieutenant Governor was authorized to nominate and appoint one or more Collectors at the Ports of Entry and Clearance now in existence or to be established in the future. Each Collector was required to give security with two sureties of five hundred pounds each and himself of one thousand pounds. The Collector could appoint a deputy. They could seize any vessel, boat, raft, carriage, goods, wares or merchandize liable to be seized under this Act. The Collectors were required to make a quarterly report to the Inspector General of all entries made at the Port; all duties paid or secured and the proceeds of all seizures and penalties received. All money collected was to be paid quarterly to the Receiver General.

The Lieutenant Governor could appoint in each District three Commissioners of Customs, any two of whom would be a quorum, to hear and determine, in a summary way, all information exhibited before them for the condemnation of any goods, wares or merchandize, seized or forfeited, not to exceed forty pounds. They also could seize the boat, vessel or raft or carriage in which goods were found. The Commissioners were to meet the last Saturday of the month at the Court House in the town in which the Quarter Sessions were to be held. An owner of seized property could request, upon payment of fifty pounds, to have his case removed to the Court of King's Bench.

All moneys paid to the Receiver General were to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The clerks to the Commissioners were to report quarterly to the Inspector General, giving a full and correct statement of the proceedings of the Commissioners. A list of fees to be taken and received by the Collectors was to be prominently displayed in their office.

On June 27, 1825 "An Act for further regulating the trade of His Majesty's possessions in America and the West Indies, and for the warehousing of goods there"<sup>14</sup> was passed by the Imperial Parliament. This Act repealed schedules B. and C. of Imperial Act of 3 George IV, c. 44 and A. and B. of Imperial Act of 3 George IV, c. 45 and all the duties imposed by either Act. Schedule A of Imperial Act of 3 George IV, c. 44 contained the list of free ports. Under this new Act it was lawful after January 5, 1826 to import into any of the free ports, except Newfoundland, from any foreign place in America, Europe, Asia, within the Mediterranean Sea, Africa, Gibraltar, etc . provided such imports came in British vessels or in the ships of the country which produced the goods. There were, however, a number of items which could not be imported such as gunpowder, arms, ammunition or utensils of war, dried or salted pork, beef, pork and bacon, whale oil blubber, books prohibited in the United Kingdom, base or counterfeit coins. The new duties to be imposed were to be levied under the same powers as in former acts. It was lawful to export goods from any of the free ports, except Newfoundland, in the ships of the place of designation.

It was considered expedient to constitute and appoint some of the free ports to be free warehousing ports for all goods which might be legally imported into the said ports. Thus Quebec was considered such a port for the Canadas. The Collectors were to designate the place of the warehouse and were to direct the importers where the goods could be stored. The importer, instead of paying duty, had to give bond of two sufficient sureties, approved by the Collector. Goods could not be left longer than two years. A schedule of duties to be imposed was appended to the Act.

On July 5, 1825 "An Act to repeal the several laws relating to the Customs"<sup>15</sup> was passed. Some thirteen acts were repealed by this Act. The same day "An Act to regulate the trade of the British possessions abroad"<sup>16</sup> was passed. This new Act which contained eighty-six clauses was to become effective January 5, 1826. A table of free ports was listed. Quebec still remained the free port for both Upper and Lower Canada. A table of prohibitions and restrictions as well as a table of duties was included. The Imperial Act of 31 George III, c. 31, known as the Constitutional Act was not to be repealed. This Act really brought together into one Act the conditions of trading with the British possessions. A number of clauses dealt with countries other than Canada.

Two years later "An Act to amend the laws relating to the Customs"<sup>17</sup> was passed on July 2 1827. This Act included a "Table of new duties, 1827".

By 1832 some doubts had arisen as to the jurisdiction of Commissioners of Customs, thus on January 28 "An Act to remove doubts respecting the jurisdiction of Commissioners of Customs in this Province"<sup>18</sup> was passed. This Act stated that the Commissioners of Customs appointed in each District "shall have power to hear and determine, in a summary way all information exhibited before them for the condemnation of any goods, wares or merchandize, seized or forfeited under the provisions of the said Act when the value thereof... shall not exceed forty pounds. They were to be a Court of Record, having jurisdiction in cases of forfeitures and penalties not exceeding forty pounds of lawful money of Upper Canada.

On March 4, 1837 "An Act to amend the Laws relating to the Collection of Duties on imports from the United States into this Province, and for further purposes therein mentioned"<sup>19</sup> was passed. This Act authorized the Collector to retain twelve pounds, ten shillings out of every hundred pounds of duties collected up to one thousand pounds and five pounds out of every hundred over and above the thousand. The Collector could not keep more than three hundred pounds in any one year. The Act contained explicit penalties for not obeying the laws.

A number of reports were issued, many of which originated in Great Britain but affecting Upper Canada. These have been arranged in alphabetical order by author. Further reports on duties for the years 1829, 1833, 1834, 1835 and 1839 will be found in "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section on "General printing".

CHAPTER IX

TRANSPORTATION

One of the essentials to opening up new territory is to have adequate transportation. Prior to 1791 there were Indian trails which continued to be used and waterways which were used extensively. The first Session of the first Parliament concentrated on the Administration of Justice. While the second Session did not concentrate on road building, two of the thirteen laws passed did lay the framework for the building of roads.

As time went on bridges became important, then navigation which included canals, harbours, light houses, followed by macadamized roads and finally steam dredging machines for keeping the harbours free of sediments. This Chapter will be devoted to all the above subjects, looked at separately, including the publications which were issued in connection with each topic.

SURVEYOR OF HIGHWAYS

At the second Session of the first Provincial Parliament, held in 1793, two acts were passed which concerned the highways of the Province. The first was "An Act to provide for the nomination and appointment of Parish and Town Officers within this Province"<sup>1</sup> by which at least two and not more than six persons were to be chosen by the Inhabitant Householders at the Town Meeting, to be specified in the warrants issued by the Justice of the Peace, to serve the Office of Overseers of Highways and Roads. These persons were to oversee and perform such things as would be directed by an Act to be passed dealing with highways and roads in the Province. The second Act was just such an Act entitled: "An Act to regulate the laying out, amending, and keeping in repair the Public Highways and Roads within this Province".<sup>2</sup> The method of road building, which had been used, was found to be insufficient, inconvenient and had resulted in numerous complaints. Each and every Justice of the Peace, acting under a Commission, issued by His Majesty, was declared a commissioner to lay out and regulate the highways and roads within their division. Two to six Overseers of Highways and Roads were to be appointed according to provisions laid down in 33 George III, c. 2. The actual number, in each division, was to be specified in a warrant to be issued by the Justice of the Peace.

The roads already laid out were to be regulated by the Commissioners, who could alter them and lay out new ones. Such highways and roads were to be considered common public highways. The width of the roads and bridges also was specified. Fences were to be built if the road ran adjacent to a large body of water. The Commissioners could divide their respective parishes or townships into divisions which they could allot to the Overseers of the Highways to superintend, repair and keep in order. The Overseers were responsible for summoning persons required to do statute labour and set them to work to amend, lay out etc. the road. They were also required to keep a list of all persons who owned a car [sic] cart or team and all inhabitants who were liable to work on the highways and transmit it to the Commissioners of the division in which they belonged. Statute labour could be compounded. Each Overseer was to keep books of all statute labour as well as that compounded. On the third Sunday in March the Overseers were to publish, in writing, a notice to all persons desirous of compounding for their duties, specifying the time and place of payment of such composition. The money was to be used on the highway. After September 1, 1794 any tree standing within thirty yards of the highway was to be cut down by the owner. A fine of ten shillings could be imposed for not doing so.

From April 20 to May 20 and from July 1 to October 1 all work on the highways could be suspended. The Overseers could call out persons to remove the snow from the roads. Any person owning two hundred acres of land but not residing in the Province was required to pay twenty shillings per annum to keep the King's Highway in repair.

In 1794 a further Act<sup>3</sup> was passed. In this Act the Magistrates in Quarter Sessions were to enforce the section regarding the cutting of trees within the thirty-yard limit.

In "An Act to alter the method of performing Statute Duty on the Highways and Roads within this Province"<sup>4</sup> which was given Royal Assent by proclamation January 1, 1800, the Act of 33 George III, c. 4 was repealed in so far as statute labour was stipulated. Yearly rates were set based on the value of real and personal property. No mention was made of compounding statute labour.

On March 9, 1804 "an Act for granting to His Majesty a certain sum of money out of the funds applicable to the uses of this Province and defray the expenses of amending and repairing the Public Highways and Roads, laying out and opening new Roads and building Bridges in the several Districts thereof"<sup>5</sup> was passed. By 1804 it had become evident that the general prosperity of the Province would be advanced if the public highway and roads, already laid out in the several Districts, were amended and repaired and if new roads were laid out. Bridges were also becoming necessary, the lack of which was endangering lives. One thousand pounds was to be granted out of the rates and duties, already levied and collected, unappropriated in the hands of the Receiver General, and was to be spent under regulations issued by the Lieutenant Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council.

The Lieutenant Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council was to issue a proclamation or proclamations stating what roads were to be repaired and what new roads were to be established. The proclamation would contain the names of the Commissioners appointed with full power and authority to proceed to repair and amend roads and bridges specified in the proclamation. The Commissioners were required to take an oath to faithfully carry out the duties assigned to them, before they could undertake any work. This Act did not repeal any former acts for raising or levying rates or regarding statute labour. All moneys granted were to be paid to the Receiver General in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor and were to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

On March 3, 1806 "An Act to repeal an Act passed in the forty-fourth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled, "An Act for granting to His Majesty a certain sum of money out of the Funds applicable to the uses of this Province, to defray the expenses of amending and repairing the Public Highways and Roads, laying out and opening new Roads and building Bridges in the several Districts thereof" and to make further provision for the opening and amending the said Roads"<sup>6</sup> was passed. This Act stated, as had the previous Act, that it would very much advance the general prosperity of this Province if the public highways and roads, already laid out in the several Districts, were amended and repaired and new and additional roads laid out and opened in certain parts of the Province, which at present were difficult of access. Certain bridges also would become indispensably necessary. The Act provided for one thousand six hundred pounds which was to be divided among the Districts as follows:

Districts	1806	1808
Eastern	200	200
Johnstown	150	200
Midland	150	200
Newcastle	200	200
Home	200	200
Niagara	150	200
London	300	200
Western	250	200

The money was to be paid by the Receiver General to the District Treasurers in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The Treasurers were required to post bonds. The Receiver General was to account for the money to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. This Act was to be in force for two years.

A further Act<sup>7</sup> was passed on March 16, 1808 in which another one thousand six hundred pounds was to be granted to His Majesty out of provincial funds for the repairing of roads and laying out and opening new roads and building bridges. The distribution of this money was somewhat different (See table above). The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint one or more Commissioners in each District to carry out the Act. The Receiver General was to pay the money in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor and account for the same to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. This was a temporary Act.

The following year, on March 9<sup>8</sup> a similar temporary Act was passed in which another one thousand six hundred pounds was granted. One year later on March 12, 1810 "An Act to provide for the laying out, amending and keeping in repair, the Public Highways and Roads in this Province, and to repeal the Laws now in force for that purpose"<sup>9</sup> was passed. Under the terms of this Act the Justices of the Peace in each District, in General Quarter Sessions assembled, were to appoint, as the occasion required, one or more surveyor or surveyors of highways in each county and riding, to lay out and regulate the highways and roads in each county or riding. Each Surveyor was required to take an oath before the Justice of the Peace that he would faithfully discharge his duty. Twelve freeholders could apply, in writing, to the Surveyor to have a road altered or to open a new highway. The Surveyor was required to report, in writing, to the Justice of the Peace. The Justice of the Peace in Quarter Sessions could authorize the Surveyor of Highways to employ a surveyor of lands to lay out or alter a highway. He was to be paid ten shillings per day for his work. All bridges and causeways were not to be less than fifteen feet in width. The Surveyors of Highways were paid only seven shillings and six pence per day.

Overseers of Highways and Roads were to continue to be appointed by the Justice of the Peace as authorized by 33 George III, c. 2. They were to superintend, repair and keep in order, the highways and roads, streets and bridges in their division. The Overseers were to summon the persons within their division required, to do statute labour, on the highways. Each Overseer was required to keep a list of every person who owned a cart, waggon [sic] plough, sled or team as well as a list of inhabitants who were liable to work on the highways. These lists were to be delivered to the Justices of the Peace. The Overseers also were responsible for collecting forfeitures. Since none of the above lists were required to be presented to the Legislature they do not appear to have been printed. The labourers were required to bring their own tools and work for eight hours per day. If a labourer owned a cart, wagon, or team of two horses, oxen or beast of burden, he was required to use them and provide a man to drive the same. For this the labourer was allowed two days of personal labour. A labourer could compound for such duty by paying the Overseer the sum of ten shillings for each cart, wagon, team, and driver, for each day and could compound for statute labour the sum of five shillings for each day not worked.<sup>10</sup>

Over the period of several years further temporary acts were passed which granted certain sums of money to be spent to amend, repair and build new highways and roads as follows:<sup>11</sup>

1810	(50 George III, c. 2)	£2,000
1811	(51 George III, c. 1)	3,450
1814	(54 George III, c. 3)	6,000
1815	(55 George III, c. 1)	20,500
1816	(56 George III, c. 23)	513.12.6 (This amount was to reimburse the Commissioners who had not received their allotment)

1816	(56 George III, c. 37)	21,000
1818	(59 George III, c. 5)	750

On April 1, 1816 a further Act<sup>12</sup> was passed. Under this Act statute labour could be compounded by paying a certain sum in lieu of work. Every male, from the age of twenty-one to fifty, not rated on the Assessment Roll, was compelled to work on the highways three days a year.

By 1819 it was considered expedient once more to amend the laws dealing with the public highways and roads. Thus on July 12 "An Act to repeal part of and amend the Laws now in force for laying out, amending, and keeping in repair, the Public Highways and Roads in this Province"<sup>13</sup> was passed. This Act repealed the clause dealing with compound for duty as required in 1810. However, now to compound for statute labour, three shillings, nine pence had to be paid per person per day and seven shillings and six pence for each cart, wagon, team. It also stated what persons, after the first Monday in March, 1820 were to perform statute labour on the highways, and in what proportion, based on the Assessment Roll. The part dealing with equipment and live stock was not exempt and at least three days work was to be completed by their use. Lands subject to be assessed, but not included in the Assessment Roll were rated at one eighth of a penny per acre. The District Treasurers were to collect this money. The Act was to be in force for eight years.

Five years later, however, two further acts were passed on January 19, 1824. Under the first Act<sup>14</sup> the Act of 1819 was to be made perpetual. Every person liable to perform statute labour now could compound it by paying two shillings, six pence per day in lieu of work. However, persons living in towns liable for more than six days of statute labour were required to pay to the Surveyor of Streets, two shillings and six pence in lieu of work before the first day of May in each year. The money collected by the Surveyors of Streets, who were to be appointed under this Act, was to be spent in repairs under the jurisdiction of the Justice of the Peace. All laws relating to the Overseers of Highways were repealed. The money paid to the Overseers of Highways by the District Treasurers now was to be paid to the Magistrates, in the month of March.

The second Act passed in 1824 was "An Act to repeal part of and amend an Act passed in the fiftieth year of His late Majesty's reign intituled, "An Act to provide for the laying out, amending, and keeping in repair, the public Highways and Roads in this Province, and to repeal the laws now in force for that purpose" and also to repeal part of and amend the provisions of "An Act to repeal part of and amend the provisions of an Act passed in the fifty-ninth year of His late Majesty's reign intituled "An Act to repeal part of and amend the laws now in force for laying out, amending and keeping in repair, the public Highways and Roads in this Province."<sup>15</sup> The clauses dealing with the width of roads in 50 George III, c. 1, and how statute labour was to be compounded in 59 George III, c. 8 were repealed. All roads now were to be no less than forty feet in width and no more than sixty feet. The householders, under approval of the Justice of the Peace, could perform their statute labour in an adjoining town.

On March 25, 1828 "An Act to make valid the acts of Road Surveyors, and to make further provision for the same"<sup>16</sup> was passed. Surveyors had been required to be appointed annually and take the oath to faithfully perform their duty annually (50 George III, c. 1). Many however had continued to work for several years without their appointments being renewed. This Act made legal all actions taken by the Surveyor of Highways as though he had been appointed annually. Hereafter the Surveyor needed only one appointment and oath until he was removed from office.

By 1830 it was necessary to raise more money for road building. Thus, on March 6, 1830 two acts were passed. The first was "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money for the improvement of the Roads and Bridges in this Province".<sup>17</sup> Thirteen thousand, six hundred and fifty pounds was to be granted out of the rates and duties already raised, levied and collected or hereafter to be raised. This amount was to be allocated as follows:

District	1830	1831
Eastern	£1,300	£1,900
Ottawa	800	1,000

Bathurst	1,100	1,900
Midland	1,900	2,200
Newcastle	1,100	1,900
Home	1,550	1,900
Gore	1,600	2,000
Niagara	1,000	1,600
London	1,100	2,000
Western	1,100	1,700
Johnstown	1,100	1,900

These amounts were further divided by counties. The actual amount for a county and the specific road in the county was specified. The money was to be paid by the Receiver General to the Treasurer in the District. All work was to be performed under contract. The Commissioners, who were appointed by the Act to oversee the spending of the money, were required to transmit an account in detail to the Lieutenant Governor before January 1, to be laid before the Legislature. The Receiver General was accountable to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

While the two acts received Royal Assent the same day, before the second Session of the tenth Parliament prorogued it was discovered that the amount of money specified in chapter four could not be raised out of rates and duties. Thus a further Act was passed "to raise by loan a certain sum of money, to be expended on the public highways within this Province."<sup>17</sup> Under this Act the Receiver General was authorized to raise eight thousand pounds (over half of the original amount) by issuing debentures for two, four and six years. These debentures were chargeable upon the general funds of the Province. A report was to be submitted to the Legislature on all debentures issued, the interest paid, and how many had been redeemed.

On March 16, 1831 still another "Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money, to be raised by debenture for the improvement of Roads and Bridges in the several Districts of this Province"<sup>18</sup> was passed. Under this Act the Lieutenant Governor was to authorize the Receiver General to raise by loan upon the credit of government bills or debentures twenty thousand pounds at a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent, to be paid half yearly. No amount for the individual debenture was specified. They were redeemable at a period not exceeding twenty years.

The Receiver General, before each Session of Parliament, was to report to the Lieutenant Governor, a correct account of the numbers, amounts and dates of the different debentures, the amount of the debentures redeemed by him, the interest paid, and the amount of the debentures outstanding and unredeemed, to be laid before the Legislature. Warrants were to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor to the Receiver General for the payment of the interest on January 1 and July 1 each year. The division of this money among the Districts is shown above. As in the 1830 Act, this Act specified exactly where the money was to be spent in each District.

Commissioners were appointed for each District to oversee the spending of the money allotted to their District. The Receiver General, under warrant from the Lieutenant Governor was required to pay the money to the District Treasurers and account for the same to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The District Treasurers were required to pay the amount specified in the Act to the Commissioners. Contracts were to be let by tender, and given to the lowest bidder. The Commissioners were required to keep proper vouchers to accompany their accounts which were to be presented to the Lieutenant Governor on December 31 to be laid before the House of Assembly. (It is to be noted that the Legislature which included both the Legislative Council and House of Assembly was not specified, but only the House of Assembly.)

During the first Session of the eleventh Parliament some of the money allotted in 1830 for building roads and bridges in four of the Districts had not been completely spent. Thus on March 16, 1831 an Act was passed<sup>20</sup> whereby new Commissioners were appointed to oversee the spending of the money on the roads, which had been designated in 1830. The same requirements as laid down in the 1830 Act applied to the new Commissioners.

On March 6, 1838 "An Act to alter and amend sundry Acts regulating the appointment and duties of Township Officers"<sup>21</sup> was passed. Once more the Inhabitant Freeholders and Householders were to choose, at their Town Meetings, Overseers of Highways. The duties of the Overseers were stated in the Act. Each Overseer was required to: superintend, make and keep in repair the highways, roads, streets and bridges under orders from the Magistrates; notify all persons within his division, liable to perform statute labour, what needed to be repaired, etc.; give a certificate to every person upon completion of his statute labour; erect fences or guards along any highway passing by deep water.

The Overseer was to be provided, by the Township Clerk, with a list of all persons liable to do statute labour. Such persons could compound such work by paying the Overseer two shillings, six pence for every day they were required to work. The Overseer, under oath before a Magistrate, was required, by September 1, to account for all persons liable to work on the highways, showing labour completed or unperformed or compounded for the same. If compounded, he was to account for all money paid to him. By December 1, the Town Clerk was to submit a list to the Magistrate of all Overseers who had not complied with the above regulation.

Seven reports on the roads were located, two of which have been listed in chronological order under serials. The reports which the Receiver General was required to issue will be found in Chapter V under Receiver General in the section on serials. Five of the reports which dealt with repairing of roads for the years 1829, 1831, 1832, 1835 and 1839 will be found in "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

BRIDGES

River Trent

While the first Act to be passed regarding the building of bridges was in 1793<sup>22</sup> it was not until 1803 that the House of Assembly, in an address to the Lieutenant Governor asked him to allocate seven hundred and fifty pounds, from the unappropriated funds in the Provincial Treasury to be used to build roads and bridges.<sup>23</sup> This address apparently was never delivered for on the next day another address was drafted, this time asking for only five hundred pounds.<sup>24</sup> The Lieutenant Governor replied that the matter had to have the concurrence of every branch of the Legislature. Thus no action was taken.<sup>25</sup> The next year an Act<sup>26</sup> was passed whereby a certain sum of money was to be granted for building both roads and bridges.

It was not, however, until 1833 that a separate Act, dealing with the building of a specific bridge, was passed.<sup>27</sup> In "An Act to provide for the erection of a Bridge across the River Trent, and for other purposes therein mentioned" passed on February 13 Commissioners were to: have a survey undertaken to determine the most suitable place for a bridge; procure plans and estimates thereof; contract persons to do the work; fix rates and tolls upon the completion of the work; report to the Lieutenant Governor, for the information of the Legislature, on or before the first of November each year on all matters performed, with an account in detail of all moneys received and paid by them.

Four thousand and fifty pounds was to be raised by loan to finance the building of the bridge. The debentures were to be issued by the Receiver General. Warrants were to be issued for the payment of the debentures. The Commissioners were not to be concerned in the contracts, but they were to appoint officers, engineers, workmen, etc.; negotiate with parties interested, for lands taken or damages done. If settlement could not be reached then arbitrators were to be appointed to settle the dispute.

The Commissioners could make rules and regulations touching: the management and disposition of the moneys coming into their hands; the duty and conduct of the officers, clerks and servants employed by them. Fifty pounds was to be paid to the person making the survey. The Commissioners could appoint one of their number or some other person to act in all matters relating to the management and control of the works. All moneys raised by debenture were to be paid by the Receiver General in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor and were to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The Receiver General also was required, before each Session of Parliament, to transmit to the Lieutenant Governor, to be laid before the Legislature, correct accounts of the numbers, amounts and dates of the different debentures, the amount of the debentures redeemed by him and the interest paid, also the amount of the debentures outstanding and unredeemed.

The report of the engineer was published as well as five reports by the Commissioners, two of which are listed below. The reports for 1833, 1834 and 1838 were printed as part of the "Sundry reports" of the House of Assembly for those years. The reports issued by the Receiver General will be found in Chapter V with his other reports.

Don and Humber Bridges

On March 6, 1830 "An Act to make good certain monies advanced by His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to erect the Don and Humber Bridges"<sup>28</sup> was passed. Thus the Lieutenant Governor had directed the Receiver General to advance one thousand one hundred and eighty pounds, nine shillings, eight pence for the purpose of erecting the bridges, charging it to His Excellency's salary until the same could be authorized by law. The money was to be paid by the Receiver General under warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor, and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

There was no requirement for any reports on the project. However one report was printed, which is listed below.

Dunnville Bridge

On March 6, 1834 "An Act to grant a sum of money to defray the expense of erecting a Bridge over the Grand River at Dunnville, and for other purposes therein contained"<sup>29</sup> was passed. A Board of Commissioners was to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, whose duty was: procure plans and estimates for a bridge across the Grand River at Dunnville and contract with such person or persons to undertake to build and erect the same. When completed, they were to fix such rates and tolls as seemed just. They also were required to report to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the Legislature on or before November 1, each year, on all matters done with a detailed account of all moneys received and paid by them.

The Receiver General was to raise a loan upon government securities, not exceeding one thousand, two hundred and fifty pounds at six per cent interest. He was to issue debentures which would be payable in eight, nine, or ten years with interest. He also was required to render to the Lieutenant Governor an account of the number and dates of all debentures issued. This report was to be laid before the Legislature. Interest was payable half yearly under the Lieutenant Governor's warrant to be issued June 30th and December 31st.

The Commissioners could appoint engineers and officers. However, no Commissioner or secretary was to be directly engaged in or interested in any contract. They were to make rules and regulations; touching the management and disposition of the moneys coming into their hands; touching the duties and conduct of the officers, clerks and servants employed by them. They could appoint one of their own or some other person to manage the works.

All moneys raised by debentures were to be paid by the Receiver General in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor and were to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

By 1836 the Commissioners found that more work was necessary than had been at first estimated, to complete the bridge. Thus on March 4, 1837 "An Act to grant the Commissioners of Dunnville Bridge a certain sum of money to complete the same"<sup>30</sup> was passed. Two hundred and fifty pounds was granted. The same conditions as listed above were contained in this Act.

Four reports were issued by the Commissioners, only one of which is listed below. The reports for 1834, 1835 and 1838 were printed as part of the "Sundry reports" issued by the House of Assembly. The reports which the Receiver General was required to issue will be found in Chapter V.

Toll Bridge at Chatham

On the same day that the Act granting a supplementary amount of money to complete the Dunnville Bridge was passed "An Act granting a sum of money for the erection of a Toll-Bridge over the Thames River at Chatham, in the Western District"<sup>31</sup> was passed. Under this Act the Lieutenant Governor was to have the power from time to time to appoint two or more Commissioners to superintend the erection and completion of a bridge across the Thames River at Chatham. The Commissioners were to make a report to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the Legislature on or before the first day of January annually, of all monies received and paid as well as all other matters done by them.

The Receiver General was to raise by loan one thousand, five hundred pounds at six per cent payable half yearly to finance the project. The debentures were for eight, nine or ten years. The Receiver General also was to issue an annual report to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature. All monies paid by the Receiver General were to be paid under a warrant issued by the Lieutenant Governor and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The reports of the Receiver General will be found in Chapter V. One report was issued by the Commissioners which is listed below.

NAVIGATION

Internal

While roads and bridges were the concern of the Legislature from 1793, when the first laws were passed regarding their building, it was not until the third Session of the seventh Parliament, held in 1818, that "An Act for granting to His Majesty a Sum of Money for the Survey of the Waters of the Saint Lawrence and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>32</sup> was passed on November 27. Two thousand pounds was to be granted to His Majesty to be expended on procuring surveys of the Saint Lawrence and estimates for improvement in the navigation. When the Select Committee on Public Accounts reported to the House of Assembly on June 25, 1819 they noted that there had been no mention of the two thousand pounds.<sup>33</sup> It was recommended that it might be desirable to address the Lieutenant Governor requesting him to suspend the operation of the above Act until funds were provided to meet the expense.

On February 24, 1820 the Lieutenant Governor reported that he had received a letter from the Provincial Agent in London regarding a civil engineer of sufficient abilities to undertake a survey of the Saint Lawrence.<sup>34</sup> On March 7, 1820 the Committee on Public

Accounts stated that the survey of the Saint Lawrence could not be considered an urgent matter and would further add to the deficit of the Province.<sup>35</sup>

On April 14, 1821 “An Act to make provision for the improvement of the internal navigation of this Province”<sup>36</sup> was passed. This Act repealed the Act of 59 George III, c. 18, thus leaving in abeyance for the time being a survey of just the Saint Lawrence waters. Under this Act the Lieutenant Governor could appoint five Commissioners (two with the President to be a quorum) to explore, survey and level the most practical routes for canals between Lake Erie and the eastern extremity of the Province. The Commissioners also were to transmit to the Lieutenant Governor, plans and estimates together with maps, field books accompanied by a report of all their proceedings to be laid before the Provincial Parliament within twenty days of their 1822 Session.

The Lieutenant Governor was to issue warrants for two thousand pounds to the Receiver General in favour of the Commissioners to defray the expenses for carrying the Act into effect. The money was to be taken from unappropriated funds in the hands of the Receiver General and was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury. A detailed account of the money was to be transmitted to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the House of Assembly at the next Session of Parliament. This Act was to continue for three years.

On January 29, 1823 “An Act to amend and extend the provisions of an Act passed in the second year of His Majesty’s reign, intituled, “An Act to make provision for the improvement of the internal navigation of this Province””<sup>37</sup> was passed. The Commissioners were relieved from reporting within twenty days of the 1822 Session but had to report by February 15, 1823. The report, however, was not tabled until December 31, 1823 which was the fourth Session of the eighth Parliament.<sup>38</sup>

In the meantime, on March 19, 1823 “An Act to make additional provision for the improvement of the Inland Navigation of this Province”<sup>39</sup> was passed. An additional one thousand pounds was granted in aid of the survey, etc. The Receiver General was to pay this amount on warrants, issued by the Lieutenant Governor, which was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury. If the money was not completely issued it was subject to the disposal of the Provincial Parliament.

Since the 1821 Act of 2 George IV was for only three years and the work on internal navigation had not been completed “An Act to continue for a limited time an Act passed in the second year of His Majesty’s reign, intituled, “An Act to make provision for the improvement of the Internal Navigation of this Province” as amended by an Act passed in the third year of His Majesty’s reign, intituled, “An Act to amend and extend the provisions of an Act passed in the second year of His Majesty’s reign intituled “An Act to make provision for the improvement of the Internal Navigation of this Province (except so much thereof as is thereby repealed and to grant a further sum for such improvement)””<sup>40</sup> was passed on January 19, 1824. Under this Act two amounts of money which had been granted under the two previous acts were to continue. This Act was to continue for two years. The Commissioners were given power to cause a survey, by competent persons of the isthmus between Presque’isle harbour, in the Newcastle District and the head of the Bay of Quinty [sic] and estimates prepared of the sum of money necessary to connect the same by a navigable canal.

Several reports were issued by the Commissioners which were printed. One of the reports not only was published in the Appendix to the Journal of the House of Assembly but was printed privately as well. The last report, issued in 1829, was printed as part of the “Sundry reports” issued by the House of Assembly. It will be found listed in Chapter IV in the section “General printing”.

Improvement of Navigation on the River Saint Lawrence

In 1818 an Act<sup>41</sup> was passed whereby two thousand pounds was to be granted to undertake a survey of the waters of the Saint Lawrence. This Act was later repealed and in its place an Act<sup>42</sup> was passed in 1821 to do a survey of the inland waters of the Province. Ten years later a committee was set up in Brockville to study improvement of navigation on the Saint Lawrence. The Committee sent recommendations to the Legislature requesting that navigation be improved. It was not however, until February 13, 1833 that "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money to be raised by debenture for the improvement of navigation of the River Saint Lawrence"<sup>43</sup> was passed. The Act recognized the importance to the agricultural and commercial interests of the Province of having good navigation facilities on the Saint Lawrence. Thus the Lieutenant Governor was to authorize and direct the Receiver General to raise by loan seventy thousand pounds upon the credit of government bills or debentures at a rate of interest not exceeding five per cent payable half yearly in this Province or four per cent to be paid half yearly in London. One third of the debentures was for eight, nine and ten years respectively.

The Receiver General was to transmit, before each Session of Parliament, to the Lieutenant Governor a correct account of the numbers, amounts and dates of the different debentures, the amount of the debentures redeemed and the interest paid and the amount of the said debentures outstanding and unredeemed. This information was to be laid before the Legislature. The Lieutenant Governor was required to issue the warrants necessary for the payment of interest on the debentures on the 30th of June and 31st of December.

Seven Commissioners, one to be a President, were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor. They were to: have a survey undertaken and plans of improvements to be made in the navigation of the Saint Lawrence between Prescott and the eastern extremity of this Province by canals, locks or otherwise with estimates of the expense of such improvements; make contracts, fix tolls on any part completed; report to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the Legislature on or before November 1st each year, all matters done by them with an account in detail of all moneys received and paid out; appoint engineers, agents, officers, workmen and servants for carrying out the work. The Commissioners were given full power and authority to explore the country between Prescott and the eastern extremity and to designate and establish, take, appropriate, have and hold for the use of the Province the line and boundary of a canal.

Navigation between the Head of the Long Sault and Cornwall was to be the first to be completed. Commissioners were to enter into agreements with the owners of the land for purchase of what might be required and for damages done in the progress of the work. If no agreement could be made three Arbitrators were to be appointed, one by the Commissioners, one by the claimant plus a third. Parties declining to accept the Arbitrators' decision might have damages assessed by a Jury at their own expense.

The Commissioners were to set the rates and dues on the completed canal. An account of tolls was to be rendered to the Inspector General on June 30th and December 31st. The money was to be paid to the Receiver General to be applied to the liquidation of the principal and interest on the debt. The Commissioners were to construct bridges where the highways were intersected by the canal. They could appoint one of their number to act in all matters relating to the management and control of the work to be carried on under their orders and directions. All Commissioners were to meet once a month.

All money raised by debenture was to be paid by the Receiver General in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor in favour of such Commissioners and be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

On March 6, 1834 "An Act to repeal part of, amend and extend the provisions of an Act passed in the last Session of the present Parliament intituled "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money, to be raised by debentures for the improvement of navigation of the River Saint Lawrence""<sup>44</sup> was passed. The sections dealing with the seventy thousand pounds and the monthly meetings of the Commissioners were repealed. The Lieutenant Governor now could authorize the Receiver General to raise three hundred and fifty thousand pounds upon debenture at a rate of interest not to exceed six per cent in the Province or five per cent in London. The Commissioners could alter any highway which might interfere with the improvements to be made, but had to make another road equally good. Houses might also have to be removed. The owners were to be compensated.

All money raised by the debentures was to be paid by the Receiver General to the Commissioners under warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The Act of 7 George IV, c. 20 with regard to debentures issued for the Welland Canal Company was to be applied to the debentures issued under this Act.

On March 4, 1837 "An Act to amend the law for the improvement of the navigation of the Saint Lawrence"<sup>45</sup> was passed. The 31st clause of 3 Wm. IV, c. 18 dealing with building bridges across the Canal was repealed. Instead the Commissioners were to provide scows to keep up the communication or erect a floating bridge where it was deemed absolutely necessary for the public convenience.

An annual report was issued by the Commissioners from 1834 to 1839. These were printed and are listed in chronological order below. The report of the Brockville Committee also was printed as were a number of other special publications.

Inland Waters of the District of Newcastle

At the same time that improvements were being made for navigation on the Saint Lawrence River improvements of inland waters further west were being considered by the Legislature. On February 13, 1833 "An Act to provide for the improvement of certain inland waters in the District of Newcastle"<sup>46</sup> was passed. It was believed that commerce would be greatly facilitated if the Otonabee River and the waters leading from Mud River to Scugog Lake were improved. Thus two thousand pounds was to be raised by loan. Debentures were to be issued by the Receiver General to be chargeable on the tolls.

The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint seven Commissioners to receive plans, tenders and estimates. They were to: let the contracts and supervise the work; appoint a toll collector who could appoint deputies. They could appoint one of their own or another person to act in all matters relating to the project. The rate of tolls to be charged was indicated in the Act.

The Receiver General was to pay the Commissioners, under a warrant to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor and was to account for all moneys to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

Three years later a further Act was passed which had received Royal Assent, as indicated by message, from the Lieutenant Governor, to the Legislature on November 28, 1836.<sup>47</sup> That navigation should be improved was important to agriculture, mining and forestry. Sixteen thousand pounds was to be advanced to the Commissioners by the Receiver General under warrant issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The Commissioners could appoint superintendents, engineers, agents, officers, workmen and servants and pay them such salaries and wages as they deemed reasonable. They were given the power to enter upon any lands. Lands so taken were to be vested in His Majesty. Agreements were to be made and compensation given for land taken or damaged. Damages were to be settled by arbitration. The Commissioners were to: set the rates and dues to be taken; appoint persons to take such rates and dues; and make rules and regulations for the management and disposition of all moneys coming into their hands. All money paid by the Receiver General, under warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor, was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

On March 4, 1837 "An Act to amend an Act passed during the last Session, intituled "An Act to improve the navigation of the inland waters of the District of Newcastle"<sup>48</sup> was passed. The clause dealing with the Commissioners appointed and how the dues and rates were to be collected was repealed. Under this Act five Commissioners were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor. They could cause further surveys to be made by a competent engineer but could not diminish the size of the locks already recommended. The Commissioners were to report to the Lieutenant Governor on their activities for the information of the Legislature. An account of the rates received was to be made to the Inspector General before December 31st each year and all money was to be handed over to the Receiver General within ten days of the report to the Inspector General.

On May 11, 1839 still another "Act to make further provision for the completion of the improvement of the navigation of the inland waters of the District of Newcastle"<sup>49</sup> was passed. Under this Act an additional three thousand pounds was to be made available to the Commissioners appointed to superintend the sixteen thousand already allotted.

The Commissioners issued one report which was printed. Two reports on surveys also were printed.

River Trent

Still in the Newcastle District, but more easterly, it was considered very important for the agricultural and commercial interests that a good line of communication be established between the waters of the Bay of Quinte and Rice Lake. Thus on March 4, 1837 "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money to be raised by Debenture, for the improvement of the Navigation of the River Trent"<sup>50</sup> was passed. The Lieutenant Governor was to authorize the Receiver General to raise seventy-seven thousand five hundred and seven pounds, eleven shillings and four and one half pence by debenture upon the credit of government bills or debentures at six per cent, interest payable half yearly in the Province or, five per cent payable in London. The debentures were for twenty years.

The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint five Commissioners to carry out the Act. They were to contract with suitable persons to carry out the work, and after completion of any part to impose rates and tolls. They were to report on or before November 1, to the Lieutenant Governor on all work done with a detailed account of all moneys received and expended, for the information of the Legislature.

The Commissioners had full power and authority to explore the country lying between the mouth of the River Trent and Percy Landing. They could: contract with persons to take land for the use of the Province; appoint engineers, agents, officers, workmen and servants to carry out the work; fix the dues and rates which were to be paid to persons and at places designated by them.

All proceeds were to be paid to the Receiver General and accounted for on June 30th and December 31st to the Inspector General. All moneys raised by debenture were to be paid by the Receiver General in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

On the same day another Act concerning public aid to railroads, dealt, in section seven of the Act, with the money to be raised by debenture for the improvement of navigation on the River Trent. The Commissioners were to continue and proceed with their work which from time to time would be determined by the Lieutenant Governor on the advice of the Executive Council.

Two reports were issued by the Commissioners which were printed. One report also was issued by the Surveyor.

Ottawa River

By 1837 the government considered that it was important to the commercial interests of the Province to have a navigational communication link between the Ottawa River and Lake Huron. Thus on March 4, 1837 "An Act to provide for a Survey of the Ottawa River, and the country bordering on it, together with the country and waters lying between that River and Lake Huron"<sup>52</sup> was passed. Under this Act the Lieutenant Governor was to appoint three Commissioners who were authorized to engage an engineer and surveyor to survey and report on the practicability of establishing such a water communication. The Commissioners were to report to the Lieutenant Governor all proceedings, with a detailed account of expenses, to be laid before the Legislature. Three thousand pounds was to be granted by the Lieutenant Governor to the Receiver General to pay the surveyor and engineer. All money was to be accounted for by the Receiver General to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The Commissioners issued one report which was printed.

Grand River Navigation Company

Not all navigation improvements were carried out directly under Commissioners appointed by the government. However the government generally was involved with loaning money to a private company. Such was the case when on March 4, 1837 “An Act to loan a certain sum of money to the Grand River Navigation Company”<sup>53</sup> was passed. The Lieutenant Governor was to instruct the Receiver General to raise by loan upon the credit of the government bills or debentures a sum not exceeding twelve thousand, five hundred pounds at six per cent interest per annum. The Company was to give security to the Receiver General which the Lieutenant Governor and Executive Council had to approve.

The Directors of the Company issued two reports, one of which is listed below. The other report will be found in the “Sundry reports” of the House of Assembly in Chapter IV in the section “General printing”.

CANALS

Burlington Bay Canal

In an Act<sup>54</sup> passed on April 14, 1821 to improve the internal navigation of the Province, the Commissioners were to explore and survey the most practical routes for canals between Lake Erie and the eastern extremity of the Province. While the first Act, dealing with canals, did not connect Lake Erie with the eastern extremity it was “An Act to provide for constructing a navigable Canal between Burlington Bay and Lake Ontario”<sup>55</sup> which was passed on March 16, 1823 and it would promote the general interest of the Province.

The Receiver General was to raise by loan upon debentures five thousand pounds. Interest was to be paid half yearly from a fund which would be raised by tolls to be levied on goods, produce and all other articles, as well as vessels, passing through the Canal. Debentures were to be for sixteen years, but could be redeemed earlier upon the Lieutenant Governor inserting a notice in the Upper Canada gazette requiring the holders to present the same for payment. The Receiver General was to transmit an annual report to the Lieutenant Governor, of debentures issued, redeemed and outstanding and interest paid, to be laid before Parliament. All money paid was to be on a separate warrant received from the Lieutenant Governor.

Five Commissioners were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor to carry out the Act. Three were a quorum. The President and vice-President were to be elected. The Commissioners were to: obtain plans, contract for the completion of the work, fix rates of tolls; report to the Lieutenant Governor every three months on the progress of the work. A draw bridge was to be constructed. However no toll was to be paid for passing the same.

The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint a toll collector who was to account half yearly to the Receiver General. The Receiver General was to account to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury.

The following year, on January 14, 1824 “An Act to amend and extend the provisions of an Act passed at the last Session of Parliament, intituled "An Act to provide for constructing a Navigable Canal between Burlington Bay and Lake Ontario"<sup>56</sup> was passed. The Receiver General was to raise a further loan of three thousand pounds under the same regulations as before.

The Commissioners could lower the toll, but not so low that the debt could not be paid within the sixteen years. They had full power and authority to make such rules and regulations as were needed to regulate vessels, craft, boats and rafts passing through the Canal. The Canal could be enlarged to permit vessels of war to pass through if necessary. No boats belonging to His Majesty were to pay tolls.

On February 17, 1827 "An Act to provide for the further survey of the works done at the Burlington Bay Canal, and to afford further aid to complete the same"<sup>57</sup> was passed. A further eight thousand pounds was to be raised by loan upon debentures, by the Receiver General. These debentures could be called in upon six months notice. They were to be a charge on the Provincial Revenue.

A competent civil engineer was to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor to superintend the work. Moneys appropriated were to be paid into the Bank of Upper Canada on account of the Commissioners.

On March 25, 1828 "An Act to provide for the valuation of the labour and materials applied in constructing the Harbour at Burlington Bay and for other purposes relating to the said Harbour"<sup>58</sup> was passed. Tolls which previously had to be paid in sterling could now be paid in provincial currency. Three Arbitrators were to be appointed for estimating the actual value of the labour and materials employed in making the harbour at Burlington Bay. One arbitrator was to be appointed by the Commissioners, one by the plaintiff and one jointly. James G. Strowbridge was the plaintiff.

Seven years after the first Act had been passed, the Burlington Bay Canal still was not completed. Thus on March 6, 1830 "An Act to afford further aid to complete the Burlington Bay Canal and for other purposes relative to the said canal"<sup>59</sup> was passed. The tolls were considered to be too high. However, the tolls and rates were not to be lowered until the loan and the interest on the loan was paid off. A schedule of the rates and tolls payable was included in the Act. The Canal was open but the work was not completed.

The Receiver General was authorized to raise by loan a further sum of five thousand pounds at six per cent per annum to be backed by the government, but chargeable on the tolls, for the completion of the Canal. Seven Commissioners were appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, to receive plans, tenders and estimates and of contracting for the superintending the work and labour necessary to complete the Canal, including the banks, piers and excavation thereof, and to receive pay in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor. All amounts had to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The Commissioners could appoint a President. They were to account to the Receiver General on the first day of January each year for all moneys received; make an annual report of their transactions to the Lieutenant Governor; appoint a superintendent of works, who would act as Secretary to the Board, and oversee all work on the Canal. The Superintendent was to file and preserve the accounts as audited; give them to the Commissioners to be transmitted to the Receiver General for the inspection of the Legislature, if required.

On January 28, 1832 "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money to be expended in the completion of the Burlington Bay Canal and to defray the expenses thereof"<sup>60</sup> was passed. Two thousand, four hundred and seventy-eight pounds and four shillings was to be granted to His Majesty for the completion of the Canal. Three Commissioners were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor. They were to receive the money in discharge of warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The money was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The following year on February 13 “An Act to defray the expenses of keeping a Light at the Burlington Canal and for other purposes therein mentioned”<sup>61</sup> was passed. One hundred pounds was to be granted annually to the Commissioners of the Canal out of the unappropriated money in the hands of the Receiver General. This money was to provide for lights on the pier and to pay the salary of a person to look after the lights.

The Commissioners were to: make rules and regulations for keeping the lights, and keeping open the bridge; present an annual report to the Lieutenant Governor, to be laid before the Legislature.

The Receiver General was to pay the money annually to the Commissioners in discharge of warrants to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor and account for it to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury.

On March 4, 1837 “An Act granting a sum of money to complete the Burlington Bay Canal and for other purposes therein mentioned”<sup>62</sup> was passed. Five thousand pounds was to be granted to His Majesty out of the rates and dues levied and collected, in the hands of the Receiver General and unappropriated, to be used to complete the Canal and erect a light house. The money was to be paid to the Commissioners by the Receiver General in discharge of warrants to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury.

The Commissioners were to issue a report to the Lieutenant Governor before December 1st on how the five thousand pounds was to be spent, for the information of the Legislature. The Receiver General was not to advance any money until the proposed works and improvements had been reported upon by a competent engineer. Two additional Commissioners were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor to superintend the work.

Between 1824 and 1837 the Commissioners issued nine reports on the Canal. These were printed. One special report also was published. Further reports for the years 1830, 1832, 1834, 1835 and 1839 can be found under “Sundry reports” in Chapter IV under “General printing”.

Welland Canal

The Welland Canal, unlike the Burlington Bay Canal, was to be built by a company incorporated by the government of Upper Canada. Thus on January 19, 1824 "An Act to incorporate certain persons therein mentioned, under the style and title of "The Welland Canal Company""<sup>63</sup> was passed. The Company, composed of eight men, was given full power and authority to explore the country lying between the River Welland in the Niagara District and Lake Ontario and between the River Welland and the Grand River, and to establish the line of boundaries of two intended canals with the necessary locks, towing paths, basons [sic] and railways, one to connect the River Welland with Lake Ontario and the other to connect the River Welland with the Grand River. The Company was also to select sites for mills, manufactoryes, warehouses, etc.

The President and Directors could establish tolls, payable by persons navigating upon the Canal. The Company was annually, if requested by either branch of the Legislature, to present a report on the tolls collected and the amount of money spent on keeping the Canal in repair, and also of the goods, wares and merchandize transported in and along the same.

The Company was given five years to complete the Canal between the River Welland and Lake Ontario and seven years to complete the Canal between the River Welland and the Grand River. After five years the Legislature could reduce the amount of the tolls, if they believed them to be excessive. However, the Company was to make at least twenty per cent on their capital expended in making the Canal.

The stock of the Company was not to exceed forty thousand pounds. Each share was to be worth twelve pounds, ten shillings. The number of shares was not to exceed three thousand. A person could subscribe to only eighty shares with ten per cent down and the remainder when demanded at intervals by the President and Directors.

Five Directors, one of whom was to be President would manage the Company. The election of the Directors was to be held the first Monday in April each year. Directors were to make the necessary laws, appoint officers, clerks, etc. The Treasurer with two securities was to give bond. After thirty years His Majesty could take over the Canal by paying to the Company the full amount of their shares.

On April 13, 1825, "An Act to repeal part of and extend the provisions of an Act passed in the fourth year of His present Majesty's reign, intituled, "An Act to incorporate certain persons therein mentioned, under the style and title of the Welland Canal Company""<sup>64</sup> was passed. The clauses which dealt with the amount of stock, namely forty thousand pounds; the number of shares which were limited to sixteen thousand; His Majesty's purchase of the property after thirty years were repealed. Under this Act the Canal could be widened and deepened. The number of Directors was increased from five to seven. The actual route of the Canal was indicated. Stockholders could withdraw their shares within three months if they did not like the terms of this Act. All money paid in on stock was to be deposited in the Bank of Upper Canada. The number of votes a stockholder had was based on the number of shares held. The time in which His Majesty's government could purchase the Canal was extended to fifty years. After this purchase the amount of toll and profits were annually to be laid before the Legislature and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The following year two further acts were passed. The first was "An Act to repeal parts of, and to explain and amend the several Acts of this Province relating to the Welland Canal Company".<sup>65</sup> When the survey was completed, of the route in 1825, it was found to be too expensive and impractical. Thus, a deviation of part of the route was authorized by this Act. Also certain stipulations regarding the acquisition of property and arbitrators appointed to settle disputes were modified.

The second was "An Act to authorize the Government to borrow a certain sum of money, upon Debentures, to be loaned to the Welland Canal Company".<sup>66</sup> Twenty-five thousand pounds was to be raised to facilitate the completion of the Canal. The Lieutenant Governor was to authorize the Receiver General to raise the amount upon the credit of government bills or debentures. As soon as the money was raised the Lieutenant Governor would issue a warrant to the Receiver General authorizing him to turn over the money to the Welland Canal Company. Six per cent interest was to be paid. Debentures on maturity and interest was to be paid from the duties levied and received from the Province of Lower Canada, upon goods imported into Upper Canada.

The Receiver General, before each Session of Parliament, was to transmit to the Lieutenant Governor a correct account of the numbers, amount and dates of each debenture issued by him, also the amount of each debenture redeemed by him and the amount of interest paid as well as the amount of all debentures outstanding and unredeemed. The report also was to contain the amount or amounts lent and advanced to the Welland Canal Company. This report was to be presented to the Legislature.

Interest was to be paid half yearly. This also was to be paid under a warrant issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The debenture could only be paid when due, under a warrant signed by the Lieutenant Governor. The Welland Canal Company had to issue bonds to the Receiver General before he could release any money to the Company. These bonds also were to carry six per cent interest to be paid to the Receiver General computed half yearly. All moneys were to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

In 1827 two further acts were passed on February 17, one to allow the Company to receive aid from His Majesty's government and the other to receive public aid. The first was "An Act to enable the President and Directors of the Welland Canal Company to accept an aid from His Majesty's Government, towards the completion of the said Canal, and to secure His Majesty the free use thereof".<sup>67</sup> Sixteen thousand, three hundred and sixty pounds sterling, being one-ninth part of the cost of the Canal was to be given to assist with the completion, provided the locks would be twenty-two feet wide and that all government vessels and those conveying government stores could pass through toll free.

The second was "An Act for affording public aid toward the completion of the Welland Canal".<sup>68</sup> Fifty thousand pounds public stock could be taken in the Welland Canal Company by the Receiver General for the government. This stock was to be subject to the same conditions as that held by other stockholders in the Company. The Company was required to pay six per cent interest and was to deposit a bond for twenty thousand pounds with the Receiver General. The Receiver General was to raise, by loan on the credit of government bills or debentures, the fifty thousand pounds at six per cent per annum. The debentures were to be for a period of two, four or six years each for a third of the total amount to be raised.

On March 20, 1829 "An Act to render effectual certain securities to be given by the Welland Canal Company for a loan advanced by His Majesty's government, and for other purposes relating to the said canal; and also for authorizing the making a lateral cut from the Welland Canal, through the town of Niagara to the mouth of the river Niagara, by a company incorporated for that purpose"<sup>69</sup> was passed. This Act stated that the Imperial Parliament had passed an Act in 1828 (Imperial Act of 9 George IV) whereby the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury had lent and advanced fifty thousand pounds sterling to the Welland Canal Company toward defraying the expenses of completing the Canal. The interest was four per cent per annum and the principal was to be paid back within ten years. The money was to be secured by an assignment of the tolls and profits of the Canal. Under this Act the Company could raise further money and give bonds for such loans.

The Company could enlarge the feeder in progress from the Grand River. The owners of the land were to be compensated. Arbitration was to be provided in case the parties could not agree. Another company to be known as the Niagara Canal Company was to be incorporated. This Company was to explore a route for the canal leading to Niagara. This canal was for boat navigation only. They could raise by subscription within the town twenty-five thousand pounds in shares of twelve pounds, ten shillings each. There were to be three Directors, one of whom should be President to be elected annually. They could make regulations and by-laws. Water for this canal was to come from the Welland Canal. Five Arbitrators were to be appointed to determine the compensation to be paid to the Welland Canal. If the Welland Canal Company declined to accept the recommendations of the Arbitrators, the stock created by this Act would merge in the Welland Canal Company and the Niagara Canal Company would cease to exist. The Welland Canal Company was to complete this canal within two years, provided a sufficient sum of money was paid by the Niagara Canal Company for the purpose, which was twenty-five per cent of the estimated cost. This amount was to be paid into the Bank of Upper Canada on account of the Welland Canal Company.

Assuming that the Niagara Canal Company existed they had to compensate the owners of the land needed for the Canal. Arbitrators were to be appointed to settle any dispute. Five Directors were to be chosen annually by the stockholders of the Welland Canal Company and two by the House of Assembly as long as the government held stock in the Company. The President and Directors of the Company were required, every year, to lay before the Legislature accounts in detail of receipts and expenditure.

On March 6, 1830, "An Act to grant a further Loan to the Welland Canal Company and to regulate their further operations"<sup>70</sup> was passed. This Act began "Most gracious Sovereign" with a statement of the work to be completed, but the fifty thousand pounds promised in 1827 had not been received and the Company needed immediate aid. The Lieutenant Governor was authorized to direct the Receiver General to raise twenty-five thousand pounds by loan upon the credit of government bills or debentures, at a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent. As soon as the money was raised the Lieutenant Governor was to issue his warrant to the Receiver General in favour of the Welland Canal Company. The Act stipulated how the money was to be spent. The Welland Canal Company was to give bonds to the Receiver General for all money advanced. They were not to make any other canal or channel between the Welland Canal and Lake Erie or the Grand River without further legislative approval. A Commissioner was appointed to examine the condition of the Canal and to report to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the Legislature.

On March 16, 1831, "An Act to afford further aid to the Welland Canal Company, and to repeal part of and amend the laws now in force relating to the said Company"<sup>71</sup> was passed. Debentures to the extent of fifty thousand pounds could be issued to the Welland Canal Company upon giving security. This amount was to be issued in not less than two hundred pounds for each debenture and was for twenty-five years, with interest at five per cent payable in London half yearly. This money had to be used to complete the Canal, the towing paths, locks and harbours connected with the Canal. The debentures were chargeable to the general revenues of the Province. The Directors were to appropriate tolls to pay the interest. If in default the Canal would be taken over for the use of His Majesty. Security for half of this loan had to be given by the Company. The provision in 11 George IV, c. 11, forbidding the Company from extending the Canal without further legislative action was repealed.

Three Arbitrators were appointed to settle and award damages sustained by individuals whose property had been damaged by the operations of the Company. A full account in detail of the expenditure of all moneys raised by the Welland Canal Company was to be laid before the Legislative Council and House of Assembly.

On February 13, 1833 "An Act for affording further aid towards the completion of the Welland Canal, and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>72</sup> was passed. A further seven thousand five hundred pounds was authorized, by the Lieutenant Governor, which the Receiver General was to raise by loan upon credit of government bills or debentures at five per cent interest. As soon as the money was raised the Receiver General under warrant was to turn the money over to the Commissioners, not the Welland Canal Company, who would superintend the spending of the same. This money was to be spent in deepening and enlarging the feeder from the Grand River and in keeping the locks and Canal in repair.

The Commissioners were to have a complete survey of the Canal and all the works connected with it made by a competent engineer. The engineer was to make a detailed report of the state of the Canal, of the improvements necessary for completing the same, with an estimate of the probable cost with any alterations in any part of the route.

The stock for the seven thousand, five hundred pounds was to become public stock and was to be subscribed by the Receiver General from the stock held by the Welland Canal Company. The three Commissioners together with two further persons were to act as arbitrators in disputes with the Company. Their decision was final.

On March 6, 1834 "An Act to alter and amend the Charter and increase the stock of the Welland Canal Company, and to authorize His Majesty's Receiver-General to subscribe Stock in the said Company on behalf of the Province"<sup>73</sup> was passed. Under this Act the number of shares constituting the capital stock of the Welland Canal Company was not to exceed twenty thousand at twelve pounds ten shillings each.

The Lieutenant Governor was authorized to direct the Receiver General to subscribe further stock in the Welland Canal Company to the amount of fifty thousand pounds, such stock to be held by the government. The government would have the same conditions as other stockholders. This money was to be raised by loan on debentures issued on the credit of government bills or debentures. Each debenture was for not less than one hundred pounds and was to be held for not less than twenty years and not more than forty years. Interest was not to exceed six per cent provincial to be paid half yearly or five per cent in London. Any money so raised was to be paid by the Receiver General to the Welland Canal Company under a warrant issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The number of Directors to be appointed annually was not to exceed seven, three of whom were to be appointed by the House of Assembly.

On April 16, 1835 "An Act to explain and amend an Act incorporating the Welland Canal Company and for appointing Arbitrators for certain purposes therein mentioned"<sup>74</sup> was passed. Under the original Act, when it became necessary to cut through a highway for the Canal, the Company was required, within one month, to build a secure, sufficient and commodious bridge for the passing of carriages, under penalty of four pounds for each and every day after the one month. It was understood, although not explicit, that the Company would maintain and keep in repair the said bridges. Such bridges were to be maintained on public highways. Insecure bridges were to be reported to the Overseer of Roads in the division in which the bridge was located. The Overseer was to examine the bridge within twenty-four hours and report to the Company in writing within three days. New Arbitrators for the settling of disputes were appointed.

Royal Assent was given by message on November 28, 1836 to "An Act to loan two thousand pounds to the Welland Canal Company".<sup>75</sup> A detailed account of the money was to be laid before the Legislature and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

By 1837 the Welland Canal appeared to be nearing completion; therefore on March 7 "An Act to provide for the permanent completion of the Welland Canal, and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>76</sup> was passed. One hundred, seven thousand, five pounds had been subscribed as public stock and one hundred and two thousand pounds had been loaned by the government to the Welland Canal Company. The loan now was to be deemed public stock. The Lieutenant Governor, before April 1, 1837, was to direct the Receiver General to subscribe further stock in the Company to the amount of two hundred and forty-five thousand pounds to be deemed public stock. The capital stock of the Company was to be five hundred and ninety-seven thousand, three hundred pounds divided into forty-seven thousand, seven hundred and eighty-four shares of the value of twelve pounds ten pence to be held as follows: thirty-six thousand, three hundred and sixty pounds by the government of Upper Canada; two thousand by the government of Lower Canada; nine thousand, four hundred and twenty-four by private shareholders. Directors could spend forty-five thousand pounds for payment of debts, temporary repairs, etc. for the current year. They could appoint two scientific and practical engineers to examine the state of the Canal, the present route, explore the surrounding country, and the expense of making the Canal a permanent work, either on the present or another route which they might recommend. They were to appoint a superintendent to have the control, care and superintendence of the work. The report of the engineers was to be laid before both branches of the Legislature at their next Session.

The Lieutenant Governor could direct the Receiver General to raise the two hundred and forty-five thousand pounds, above mentioned, by debentures and deliver it to the Directors in amounts of not less than fifty pounds. The debentures were to be repaid out of money from tolls. The Board of Directors were to report to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the Legislature on or before the first day of December each year.

On March 6, 1838 "An Act to amend the Charter of the Welland Canal Company"<sup>77</sup> was passed. Under this Act all claims against the Company were to be settled by arbitration.

Between 1826 and 1840 a number of reports were issued by the Welland Canal Company. These varied from annual reports to accounts. They are listed below, under serials, in chronological order regardless of their title. Several reports also were issued by the Commissioner and Commissioners. Two special reports were issued. In addition to the reports listed below, the following reports will be found in Chapter IV under "Sundry reports" in the section on "General printing": Commissioner of the Welland Canal, 1831 and 1836; Welland Canal Committee, 1832, 1833 and 1835; Niagara Canal Company Charter, 1832.

Rideau Canal

On December 24, 1825 the House of Assembly, in a resolution, stated "That it is expedient for the improvement of this Province and for carrying into effect the proposed object of connecting the waters of the Ontario and Ottawa by a canal five feet deep for boat navigation to accept the gracious offer of His Majesty's Government to loan to this Province £70,000".<sup>78</sup> On December 30 a Joint Committee of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly was established to look into the matter of the Rideau Canal.<sup>79</sup> On January 4, 1826 in a joint address to the Lieutenant Governor, the two Houses requested that Lower Canada be approached to take part in the project.<sup>80</sup> Later that same year, when the estimates were released by the Colonial Office in Great Britain they showed a sum of money appropriated for water communication between Montreal and Ottawa and between Ottawa and Kingston.<sup>81</sup> The following year on February 17, "An Act to confer upon His Majesty certain powers and authorities, necessary to the making, maintaining and using the Canal intended to be completed under His Majesty's direction, for connecting the waters of Lake Ontario with the River Ottawa, and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>82</sup> was passed. The Military Department had been given the superintendence for the construction of the canal uniting the waters of Lake Ontario with the Ottawa River. This Canal (Rideau) was not only for the transport of military and naval stores but essentially for the security of the Province, and would promote the agricultural and commercial interests.

The officer employed by His Majesty to superintend the work was to have full power and authority to explore the country between the two points and to enter any property, to ascertain what lands it may be necessary to occupy, to erect bridges, etc. He could contract for the surrender to His Majesty for any land required. If agreement for recompence could not be agreed upon three Arbitrators would be appointed to settle the claim. If no agreement could be reached, then a jury of seven members could be summoned at the expense of the dissatisfied party. There was no indication that the officer had to submit any report of his activities.

On March 25, 1828 "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money to be applied in defraying the expense of drafting a Map of the Rideau Canal"<sup>83</sup> was passed. This Act was to provide two hundred and eighty pounds to defray the expense of procuring five hundred copies of the map of the Rideau Canal.

Eight years later, on April 20, 1836, "An Act to alter and amend an Act passed in the eighth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to confer upon His Majesty certain powers and authorities necessary to the making, maintaining and using the Canal intended to be completed under His Majesty's direction, for connecting the waters of Lake Ontario with the River Ottawa, and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>84</sup> was passed. Under the 1827 Act it was intended that remuneration should be provided for any damages sustained by any persons in consequence of the work done either in construction or repair of the Canal. Owners of mill sites were particularly mentioned since they could lose their water for running the mill, or have machinery damaged. Arbitrators, now, would be appointed to settle the claims.

Three years later, on May 11, 1839, "An Act to limit the period for owners of lands making claims for damages already occasioned by the construction of the Rideau Canal and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>85</sup> was passed. Claims for damages had to be made before April 1, 1841. Claims before April 1, but not determined by that date also were invalid.

Collectors of rates on the Canal were to make quarterly returns under oath to the officer superintending the Canal, which officer had been employed by His Majesty.

Only three reports, dealing with the Rideau Canal, were found which were printed by the government of Upper Canada. Two are listed below under special publications. The third report is listed in Chapter IV in "Sundry reports" in the section "General printing". This report was for 1839. A number of reports were found ordered to be printed by the House of Commons in Great Britain. These reports included: estimates, supplementary estimates, accounts of progress, correspondence, select committee deliberations. They included not only the Rideau Canal but other water communication in Upper Canada, such as the communication between Montreal and Ottawa and between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario (Welland Canal). All reports are listed below in chronological order by the date ordered printed regardless of the department issuing them or their title.

HARBOURS

Kettle Creek Harbour

As water communication increased it became evident, by 1827, that better harbour facilities were needed. Thus, on February 17, "An Act to provide for the construction of a Harbour at the mouth of Kettle Creek, in the London District"<sup>86</sup> was passed. Three thousand pounds was to be raised by debenture on the credit of government bills or debentures, by the Receiver General at six per cent interest, to be redeemable in twenty years. The Receiver General, before each Session of Parliament, was to issue a report to the Lieutenant Governor giving a correct account of the numbers, amount and dates of the different debentures which he may have issued, also the amount of the debentures redeemed by him, the interest paid and the amount of debentures outstanding and unredeemed. This report was to be laid before the Legislature. Warrants were to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor on June 30th and December 31st to the Receiver General for the payment of interest.

Not more than five Commissioners were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor for making contracts and superintending the work. The Commissioners were to report every three months on the work done by them, also to be laid before the Legislature. Tolls were to be collected and paid to the Receiver General to be applied by him, to pay the interest and for the redemption of the debt. Warrants were to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor in favour of the Commissioners. All moneys paid by the Receiver General were to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

Before any Commissioners were appointed the Lieutenant Governor was to appoint a competent engineer to do a survey and estimate the cost in detail of the expense of doing the work. The Act contained a list of the rate of tolls to be charged for the various products coming into the harbour.

By 1831 it was evident that more money was needed to complete the harbour, thus on March 16, 1831, "An Act to make further provision for completing the Kettle-Creek Harbour in the District of London"<sup>87</sup> was passed. The Lieutenant Governor could authorize the Receiver General to raise by loan on the credit of government bills or debentures three thousand pounds at six per cent interest. The Receiver General was to issue the debentures. The same stipulations applied to this loan as applied to the original loan.

One report was issued by the Commissioners in 1831. Other reports will be found in Chapter IV under "Sundry reports" in the section on "General printing" for the years: 1830, 1834 and 1835.

Toronto Harbour

On February 13, 1833 "An Act granting a sum of money for the construction of works to improve and preserve the Harbour of York and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>88</sup> was passed. By this Act two thousand pounds was to be granted out of the rates and duties still unappropriated in the hands of the Receiver General. Tolls were to be imposed for raising a fund for defraying the principal and interest on the money granted. The Lieutenant Governor with the advice of the Executive Council was to make the regulations for the levying and collecting the tolls. The Collector of Customs was to receive all tolls levied and to pay them to the Receiver General. As soon as the two thousand pounds with interest was paid back, tolls were to cease. All moneys received and collected had to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The Lieutenant Governor was authorized to appoint three Commissioners to superintend the construction of this work.

By 1837 it was found that a further two thousand, five hundred pounds was needed to complete the work on the harbour. Thus on March 4, 1837 "An Act granting a sum of money to complete the improvement of the Harbour at Toronto"<sup>89</sup> was passed. This Act stipulated that the rates and tolls imposed by the 1833 Act had to be collected before any of the two thousand, five hundred pounds provided in this Act would be advanced. Three persons were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor to superintend the spending of the above amount. The money was to be paid by the Receiver General under warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor, and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. As in the former Act the money was to be granted out of the duties raised, still unappropriated in the hands of the Receiver General.

The Commissioners issued one report in 1835. None were located after the 1837 Act was passed. Two further reports on the Toronto Harbour for the years 1832 and 1833 will be found listed with the "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section on "General printing".

LIGHT HOUSES

As navigation increased, it was essential that aids to navigation be improved. Between 1828 and 1837 various sums of money were granted for the erection of a light house at several points along the shores of both Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

False Ducks Island in Lake Ontario

On March 25, 1828 "An Act to provide for the erection of a Light House on the False Ducks Island in Lake Ontario"<sup>90</sup> was passed. Under this Act three Commissioners were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor to erect a good and sufficient light house and to procure the necessary apparatus for lighting the same. One thousand pounds was to be granted out of rates and duties collected and remaining in the hands of the Receiver General as yet unappropriated. The money was to be issued in favour of the Commissioners under a warrant from the Lieutenant Governor and was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The Commissioners were to report on December 1st next and account for all moneys expended by them, also to report what tonnage or other duties on vessels will be sufficient to defray the charge of the light house, and how such duties can most effectively be collected. The Lieutenant Governor was to lay the report before the Legislature at its next Session.

On March 20, 1829 "An Act to provide for the completing the Light House on the False Ducks Island, and for the keeping and maintaining the same during the present year"<sup>91</sup> was passed. Under this Act a further seven hundred and thirty pounds was to be granted from the rates and duties collected and held by the Receiver General, which was still unappropriated. The money was to be paid to the Commissioners, appointed for superintending the erection of the light house on warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor. This money was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The Collector at the Port of Kingston was to advance money from duties collected, for maintaining the light in the light house and for paying the keeper. The Commissioners were to render a detailed account of all money spent, by them, before the first day of January to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the Legislature.

Two reports were issued by the Commissioners. A report for 1835 will be found in "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

Long Point Light House in Lake Erie

The same day that an Act was passed to provide funds to complete False Ducks Island light house, "An Act to provide for the erection of a Light House on Long Point in Lake Erie"<sup>92</sup> was passed. Three Commissioners were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor to erect a good and sufficient light house and to procure the apparatus for the same. The Receiver General was to set aside one thousand pounds out of the rates and duties collected and remaining unappropriated to defray the expense of erecting and furnishing the light house. This money was to be paid under a warrant, to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor, to the Commissioners, and was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The Commissioners were to present to the Lieutenant Governor, on or before January 1, 1830, an account of the moneys expended and also report what tonnage or other duties upon vessels would be sufficient to defray the expense of the light house, and to repay the one thousand pounds plus interest. They also were to determine at what place the duties were to be collected. Their report was to be laid before the Legislature. The contract was to be by tender and must be accompanied by two good sureties.

The following year it was essential that money should be provided for erecting a dwelling for the light house keeper, build a boat for his use, and make available a supply of oil during the summer months. Thus on March 6, 1830 "An Act to provide for the erection of a House for the Light-Keeper, and for keeping and maintaining the Light-House on Long Point in Lake Erie, for the present year"<sup>93</sup> was passed. Under this Act four hundred pounds was to be granted from the unappropriated money in the hands of the Receiver General which had been raised, levied and collected by rates and duties. The money was to be paid by the Receiver General to the Commissioners appointed for superintending the erection of the light house, under warrants issued by the Lieutenant Governor. All moneys were to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The Commissioners were to render a detailed account of all money expended under this Act, before January first to the Lieutenant Governor, to be laid before the Legislature.

One report was issued by the Commissioners which is listed below. However, the reports for 1830, 1831, 1832 and 1833 were included in the "Sundry reports" which are listed in Chapter IV under "General printing".

Point Peter Light House

As time went on, it was found necessary to erect more light houses along Lake Ontario, so on January 28, 1832 "An Act for granting to His Majesty a sum of money to defray the expense of erecting a Light-House between Nicholson's Island and the Ducks, and for appointing Commissioners to superintend the erection thereof"<sup>94</sup> was passed. Five Commissioners were appointed to: decide the most suitable place in the County of Prince Edward in the Midland District; and provide the necessary apparatus for lighting the same. One thousand pounds was to be granted from the unappropriated money held by the Receiver General. It was to be paid out of the rates and dues levied and collected. This money was to be paid to the Commissioners under a warrant to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor. The use of the money was to be accounted for by the Receiver General to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The Commissioners were to render an account of the expenditure of the money received by them and to report on the tolls to be levied on vessels, to the Lieutenant Governor before December 1 to be laid before the Legislature at their next Session. The contract was to be awarded by tender. Two good sureties were required of the contractors.

The Commissioners issued one report which was printed. A further report was issued in 1833, by one of the Commissioners which was printed with the other "Sundry documents" and will be found listed in Chapter IV under "General printing".

Nine Mile Point Light House

On February 13, 1833 "An Act granting a sum of money to defray the expense of erecting a Light-House on Nine Mile Point, at the entrance of the Harbour of Kingston"<sup>95</sup> was passed. Seven hundred and fifty pounds was to be granted out of the unappropriated money held by the Receiver General for the erection and completion of the light house. Three Commissioners were appointed to contract and supervise the erection and completion of the work. The Receiver General was to pay the money, under a warrant or warrants to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor, and he was to account for it to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

One report was issued by the Commissioners.

Bois Blanc Island Light House

Three and one half years were to pass before more money was requested for erecting a further light house. This time the following Act was not automatically given Royal Assent by the Lieutenant Governor. The Legislature did receive a message on November 28, 1836 that "An Act granting three hundred pounds towards the completion of a Light-House on Bois Blanc Island, in the Western District"<sup>96</sup> had received Royal Assent. The three hundred pounds was to be paid by the Receiver General, under a warrant issued by the Lieutenant Governor and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. Two Commissioners were appointed to superintend the work. They were required to issue a report to the Lieutenant Governor, to be laid before the Legislature, on their expenditures. They issued two reports.

Other Light Houses

By 1837 it became apparent that several light houses should be built. Instead of passing separate legislation for each light house, as heretofore, on March 4, "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money for the erection of certain light-Houses, within the Province, and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>97</sup> was passed. Three thousand, five hundred pounds was to be granted out of rates and duties in the hands of the Receiver General unappropriated to defray the expense of erecting light houses, and furnishing the same:

Presqu'isle Point	Newcastle District	£1,000
Oakville	District of Gore	500
Port Colborne	Niagara District	500
Port Burwell	London District	500
Lake Saint Clair	Western District	1,000

These amounts to be paid under a warrant to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor, to the Receiver General in favour of the respective Commissioners and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint immediately one or more Commissioners for erecting the Presqu'isle Point light house and eventually appoint other Commissioners for erecting each of the other light houses. The Commissioners were required, on or before the first day of January 1839, to render an account in detail, with proper vouchers, to the Lieutenant Governor, of the moneys spent under this Act, to be submitted to the Legislature. A tonnage duty, on every boat and vessel owned by British subjects, was imposed to pay the interest and principal. The Collectors of the above duty were to make a quarterly return of the duties collected, to the Inspector General and the amount collected was to be paid to the Receiver General.

The Commissioners for the Presqu'isle, Oakville and Port Colborne light houses each issued one report. No report was located from the Commissioners for either the Port Burwell or Lake Saint Clair light houses.

MACADAMIZED ROADS

By 1840 there were several macadamized roads in Upper Canada, each with its own Act. Rather than amending all seven it was considered more expedient to have an uniform system under one Act. Thus on February 10, 1840 "An Act to repeal, alter, and amend, the Laws now in force for the regulation of the several Macadamized Roads within this Province"<sup>98</sup> was passed. Under this Act the present Trustees of the several Turnpike Trusts were to form a Board within their respective Districts to be known as Commissioners of the District Turnpike Trusts. They were to have power and authority over the several macadamized roads within the limits of their Districts. The Commissioners, who were appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, could appoint: a competent engineer or surveyor whose duty would be to superintend the construction and repairing of the turnpike roads under their care; a collector or collectors of tolls, for taking the tolls arising on such roads; and clerks and other officers considered necessary to carry out their work. All three groups were required to give sufficient security to the Commissioners. All proceedings of the Commissioners were to be recorded in a book by the Clerk. The Clerk also was to keep a book of accounts of all sums of money received, paid, laid out and expended on account of each road respectively. These books could be submitted as evidence in all Courts.

The Commissioners were required to hold a general meeting the first Monday in November each year. The Clerk was required to present a statement of the debts, revenue received and incurred on account of the Trust according to a schedule appended to the Act. When approved, the Chairman signed the account, which was to be sent to the Lieutenant Governor within ten days for the information of the Legislature.

Tolls could be collected. The Commissioners could establish new toll gates along the Turnpike. They also could establish weighing machines. The tolls were to be sufficient to pay all debts, including interest and principal on all money borrowed.

All persons living within one half mile of any road and liable to perform statute labour were required to commute the same and pay two shillings, six pence for each day assessed. The Town Clerk was required to deliver to the Clerk of the Commissioners, by May 1, the names of the persons required to pay such commutation and the amount. The Commissioners were empowered to collect this money. This Act repealed the election of Overseers of Highways. The money collected from tolls by the Collector was to be paid to the Commissioners, who were required, by January 1 and July 1 to hand over the money to the Receiver General to be applied to paying off the interest and principal on the loans.

One report was issued by the Commissioners of Macadamized Roads which has been listed below. Each macadamized road has been treated separately with the publications following the text for each of the seven roads.

City of Toronto Roads

On February 13, 1833 "An Act to raise a sum of money to improve certain Roads in the vicinity of the Town of York and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>99</sup> was passed. Under this Act the Receiver General was to raise ten thousand pounds by way of a loan on the credit of the tolls to improve the public highways approaching the Town of York — Dundas Street, Yonge Street and Kingston Road. The interest was to be paid half yearly. The Receiver General was required to issue an annual report on December 31 to the Lieutenant Governor, of the correct account of numbers, amount and dates of the different debentures issued, also debentures redeemed, interest paid, also the amount of tolls received. The Lieutenant Governor was required to lay the report before the Legislature.

The Trustees, who were appointed to improve the principal approaches to the Town of York (now the City of Toronto) had full power and authority to make surveys and compile estimates preparatory to any work being undertaken. They were required to submit to the Lieutenant Governor, on the 2nd day of January each year, an account of all work done by them. This report was to be submitted to the Legislature. The ten thousand pounds was to be used as follows:

Yonge Street	£4,000
Dundas Street	1,500
Kingston Road	2,000

Two thousand, five hundred was to be held in reserve to pay the interest if necessary.

The debentures were for thirty years, but could be redeemed earlier. The amount of the tolls could be raised after fifteen years. Persons using the road to attend a funeral did not have to pay a toll.

Three years later, on April 20, 1836 "An Act to continue the improvements of certain roads in the Home District"<sup>100</sup> was passed. Under this Act the Receiver General was authorized to raise by loan thirty-five thousand pounds on the credit of tolls collected or to be collected to continue the macadamization of the roads. This loan was to be divided as follows:

Yonge Street	£15,000
Kingston Road	10,000
Dundas Street	10,000

Interest on the loan was to be paid half yearly. Any deficiencies from the tolls were to be paid by the inhabitants of the Home District, the money to be collected in the same manner as other taxes. The Receiver General, if necessary and under warrants from the Lieutenant Governor, was allowed to meet the debts by using public money. Such money, however, would be charged against the Trustees of the said road. Trustees still could raise such tolls after fifteen years. Debentures also were for thirty years, but could be redeemed earlier. The debentures issued in 1833, under 3 William IV, c. 38 were to be paid off.

By the next year more money was needed; thus on March 4, 1837 "An Act granting a further sum of money for completing the Macadamization of Yonge Street and other Roads in the Home District"<sup>101</sup> was passed. The Receiver General was to issue debentures for one hundred thousand pounds to be used as follows: (1) Sixty thousand pounds for completing Yonge Street to Holland Landing; (2) Twenty thousand pounds for continuing the improvement of the Eastern Road to the eastern limit of the Home District; (3) Twenty thousand pounds to continuing the improvement of the Western Road to the western limit of the Home District. Three thousand pounds of this allotment was to be appropriated for macadamizing the Front Road and for graveling the road along the beach.

By 1838 the three thousand pounds granted for the Front Road was not sufficient. The Trustees of the West York Road were authorized to increase the amount in order that the Lake Road could be completed to the Humber.<sup>102</sup>

As required by law reports were to be submitted to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature. These reports on the several roads are listed below in alphabetical order by author. One further report for 1838 will be found in Chapter IV under "Sundry reports" in the section on "General printing".

West Gwillimbury Road

By 1836 it was realized that good roads were essential for the convenience of both agriculture and commerce. Thus on April 20 "An Act to provide for the making and keeping in repair the West Gwillimbury Road and Bridge, and to authorize the erection of a Toll Gate thereon"<sup>103</sup> was passed. Commissioners were appointed with power to make such improvements on the bridge and road as they deemed expedient and necessary, and when this was completed they had the power to erect a gate and fix the necessary tolls. They were to report to the Lieutenant Governor, for the information of the Legislature, on or before December 1 on all matters undertaken by them with a detailed account of all moneys received and spent by them. They were to appoint all personnel and pay them salaries deemed just and reasonable.

The Receiver General was to raise one thousand pounds on the credit of the tolls, interest on which was to be paid half yearly. An account of all debentures was to be made to the Lieutenant Governor, previous to each Session of the Provincial Parliament.

On March 4, 1837 in "An Act granting a further sum of money for completing the Macadamization of Yonge Street and other Roads in the Home District"<sup>104</sup> one of the roads was the West Gwillimbury Road. Under this Act the Receiver General was to raise a further sum of five hundred pounds provincial currency for the completion of the road and bridge under the same terms as stated in 6 William IV, c. 28. The Commissioners were to determine where the West Gwillimbury Road could intersect with Yonge Street.

One report was issued by the Commissioners.

Hamilton to Brantford Macadamized Road

On March 4, 1837 five acts were passed for the macadamizing of new roads in the southern part of Upper Canada. The first was "An Act to raise a sum of money to Macadamize the main Road leading from Hamilton to Brantford in the District of Gore and for other purposes therein mentioned".<sup>105</sup> The Receiver General was authorized to raise thirty thousand pounds upon the credit of the tolls to be levied and collected upon the road. Neither the principal nor the interest was chargeable against the general revenue of the Province. The road was to run from the town of Hamilton via Ancaster to Brantford. Interest upon the debenture was to be paid half yearly.

The Trustees were to have full power and authority to have the necessary surveys undertaken and estimates prepared. Persons living within one mile of the road were required to commute statute labour and pay two shillings six pence for every day they were assessed. This money was to be collected by the Path-masters and paid to the Trustees, who were to use it for work on the road. The Trustees were required to submit to the Lieutenant Governor an annual report at the end of the year for the information of the Legislature, the sums they had received and spent as well as the tolls collected. The tolls collected by the Trustees were to be paid to the Receiver General. The Trustees were required to collect tolls sufficient to retire the loan in thirty years.

Any deficiency was required to be paid by the inhabitants of the Gore District through taxation. Interest in arrears could be paid out of the Provincial Treasury under a Lieutenant Governor's warrant but it was to be charged against the Trustees. The amount of the tolls could be raised after fifteen years. All money paid by the Receiver General was to be paid under a warrant from the Lieutenant Governor and had to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

One report was issued by the Commissioners. This report also included the Kingston and Napanee macadamized road, discussed below. The 1839 report will be found in the “Sundry reports” in Chapter IV under “General printing”.

Dundas to Waterloo Road

The second Act to be passed on March 4, 1837 concerning roads was “An Act to authorize the construction of a Macadamized Road from Dundas to Waterloo in the Gore District”.<sup>106</sup> The Receiver General was authorized to raise twenty-five thousand pounds on the credit of the tolls to be collected on the road. The money was to be used to macadamize a road from Desjardin’s Canal, in the village of Dundas, to the township of Waterloo, and also a branch of the said road, from where the Galt Road intersects it in crossing the bridge at Galt, to the township line of Waterloo. The interest was to be paid half yearly. The Trustees were to have full power and authority to authorize surveys and estimates. All persons living within one half mile were to pay two shillings and six pence per day in commutation of statute labour for which they were assessed. The Path-masters were to collect the commutation and hand it over to the Trustees who would use the money on the roads.

The Trustees were required to report to the Lieutenant Governor at the end of each year, for the information of the Legislature, the sum they had received and expended together with the amount of tolls received. The Toll Gate receipts were to be handed over to the Receiver General at least once every three months, to pay the interest on the loan.

Any deficiencies were to be paid by the inhabitants of the Gore District through their taxes. If tolls and taxes were not enough the deficiency would be supplied by the Provincial Treasury upon a warrant issued to the Receiver General by the Lieutenant Governor. This latter was a charge against the Trustees and had to be repaid. Tolls could be raised after fifteen years. All money advanced by warrants had to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty’s Treasury.

One report issued by the Trustees is listed below. The 1838 report will be found under “Sundry reports” in Chapter IV in the section “General printing”.

Brockville to Saint Francis Road

The third Act to be passed on March 4, 1837 was “An Act to raise a sum of money to Macadamize the Roads leading from Brockville to Saint Francis, Charleston, Lyndhurst, Beverly and Portland, in the District of Johnstown, and to authorize the erection of Toll-Gates on the said Roads”.<sup>107</sup> The Receiver General was authorized to borrow thirty thousand pounds on security of tolls. It was not chargeable against the general revenue of the Province. The interest was to be paid half yearly. The Trustees were to have full power and authority to cause surveys and estimates to be made. They could appoint three persons to assess all damages claimed under the provisions of this Act. All persons living within one half mile of the road were required to commute their statute labour and pay two shillings six pence per day for every day they were assessed. The Overseers of the Highways were authorized to demand and receive commutation of statute labour. This money was to go to the Trustees to be used on side roads leading to the main road with any left over to be used to macadamize the main road.

The Trustees were required, at the end of the year, to report to the Lieutenant Governor for the information of the Legislature all money received and expended together with the amount of tolls received with the proper vouchers.

Toll money was to be paid to the Receiver General for paying the interest and paying off the loan. The loan had to be paid off in thirty years. Any deficiencies left by the tolls were to be paid in taxes assessed on the inhabitants of the District of Johnstown. If still insufficient money, the Receiver General could advance the necessary amount from the public money on a warrant from the Lieutenant Governor, applied for by the Trustees. The amount of the toll could be raised after fifteen years. All moneys were to be paid by the Receiver General under warrant from the Lieutenant Governor and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

Kingston to Napanee Road

The fourth Act to be passed on March 4, 1837 was "An Act to raise a sum of money to Macadamize the Road between the Town of Kingston and the Village of Napanee, in the Midland District, and for other purposes therein mentioned".<sup>108</sup> The Receiver General was to raise thirty thousand pounds on the credit of tolls. It was not to be chargeable against the general revenue of the Province. The interest was to be paid half yearly. The Trustees, to be appointed, would have the sole management of the roads. They had full power and authority to have the necessary surveys undertaken and estimates to be made. All persons living within one mile of the road were to pay two shillings six pence per day for every day they were assessed in lieu of statute labour.

The Trustees were to report annually, at the end of the year, to the Lieutenant Governor, for the information of the Legislature, the sum they had received and expended, together with the amount of tolls received. The Trustees were to pay to the Receiver General once every three months all the tolls collected, so that he could pay the interest on the loan. Debentures were for thirty years. The amount of the tolls could be raised after fifteen years.

The Receiver General could only pay out any money, under a warrant issued by the Lieutenant Governor. He had to account for all money to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. The Lieutenant Governor appointed the Trustees and also filled any vacancies.

Two reports were issued, one by the engineer and the other had two different printings. A third report was issued with the Hamilton and Brantford road report and is listed above under that heading. The report for 1839 will be found under "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

Queenston and Grimsby Road

The fifth Act to be passed on March 4, 1837 concerning roads was "An Act to raise a sum of money to macadamize the Main Road from Queenston to the West Boundary Line of Grimsby, in the Niagara District, and for other purposes therein mentioned."<sup>109</sup> The Receiver General was to raise thirty thousand pounds on the credit of the tolls to be levied and collected and was not chargeable against the general revenue of the Province. The interest was to be paid half yearly. The debentures were for thirty years. The Trustees were to have full power and authority to undertake surveys and do estimates of costs. All persons living within one half mile of the road were required to commute statute labour and to pay two shillings, six pence per day for every day on which they were assessed. Path-masters were to collect such money and pay it to the Trustees. The Trustees were to report annually, at the end of the year, to the Lieutenant Governor, to be laid before the Legislature, the amount of money received and expended and the amount of tolls. All moneys received by the Trustees were to be paid to the Receiver General. If tolls were not sufficient to pay the interest and retire the loan, the inhabitants of the Niagara District were required to pay through taxes the deficient amount. The amount of the tolls could be raised after fifteen years.

The Receiver General was to pay the bills, only under a warrant issued by the Lieutenant Governor, and was accountable to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

One report was issued by the Trustees.

STEAM DREDGING MACHINE

By 1835 the harbours of the Province needed to be deepened; thus on April 16, "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money for the purpose of a Steam Dredging Machine"<sup>110</sup> was passed. Two thousand pounds was granted to be paid by the Receiver General under a warrant to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor. Three Commissioners were to be appointed to look into the purchase of such a machine. They were to report to the Lieutenant Governor.

Eighteen months later it was evident that the two thousand pounds was not sufficient so on November 28, 1836 "An Act to raise a sum of money for the purpose of completing a Steam Dredge for deepening the several Harbours in this Province"<sup>111</sup> was passed. Under this Act an additional one thousand, and four hundred pounds was granted. This money was not to be paid unless it was sufficient to cover the cost of the machine. An account of the previous grant with vouchers was required. The Commissioners were required to give an account in detail to be laid before the Legislature.

Five reports were issued by the Commissioners, which are listed below in chronological order. Further reports for the years 1836 and 1839 will be found in the "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

CHAPTER X

MISCELLANEOUS

This Chapter deals with a number of services which do not come under any particular branch of government, but were discussed by government and had reports published by the government. These services are: Canada Company; currency; hospitals; insurance; lunatic asylum; post office; and the pretended Bank of Upper Canada.

CANADA COMPANY

On April 15, 1825 the House of Commons of the Imperial Parliament ordered the printing of "Minutes of intended arrangements between Earl Bathurst, His Majesty's Secretary of State, and the proposed Canada Company".<sup>1</sup> Over a fifteen year period the Company could acquire land to the value of twenty thousand pounds sterling beginning January 1, 1826. On the Monday following March 25, June 24, September 29 and December 25 in each year during the fifteen years the Company was to pay five thousand pounds. They also were required to deliver to the Lieutenant Governor a return, stating particularly and minutely the several lots of land which had been occupied during the previous quarter. They could acquire lands in the proportion of one lot Clergy Reserves and two lots of the Crown Reserves so long as sufficient remained unoccupied.

The above articles of agreement had been signed November 24, 1824. On June 27, 1825 "An Act to enable His Majesty to grant to a Company, to be incorporated by Charter, to be called "The Canada Company", certain lands in the Province of Upper Canada, and to invest the said Company with certain powers and privileges, and for other purposes relating thereto"<sup>2</sup> was passed. One equal half part called "the Clergy Reserves" which on or before March 1, 1824 was actually laid out, could be sold, provided it had not already been sold. The money paid for this land was for the exclusive support and maintenance of the Protestant Clergy. His Majesty could substitute other lands for the lands called Clergy Reserves.

A further "Act to alter and amend an Act for enabling His Majesty to grant to a company to be incorporated by charter, to be called "The Canada Company", certain lands in the Province of Upper Canada"<sup>3</sup> was passed on July 15, 1828. The Act permitted the Company, by warrant of attorney under their corporate seal, to appoint two or more persons, being in Upper Canada, to execute conveyances in the name of the Company, to any individual(s) of the land to be granted to or purchased by the Company. It also permitted certain persons to be employed in Upper Canada, by the Company for a period not exceeding seven years. Two or more Justices of the Peace could impose fines up to fifty pounds or imprisonment up to three months for ill-behaviour against the Company by any persons employed in Upper Canada. This Act also allowed His Majesty to alter or amend the Letters Patent issued to the Company, if it appeared necessary. While the Company could hold land in any country of His Majesty's dominions this Act applied only to the provinces of Upper Canada and Lower Canada. The Charter was dated September 13, 1826.

A number of publications, dealing with the Canada Company, were published between 1825 and 1840, in the appendices to the Journal of the House of Assembly as well as in the Papers of the House of Commons of Great Britain. These reports are listed below in chronological order. In addition, one report for 1835 was published with "Sundry reports" which are listed in Chapter IV "General printing".

CURRENCY

The various currencies which were being used in the Province presented many problems. Thus on June 3, 1796 "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins current in this Province"<sup>4</sup> was passed. Gold and silver coins were to be deemed legal tender in payment of all debts. A list of British, Portuguese, American Eagle, Spanish and French were designated as to the weight or amount which was acceptable. All counterfeit brass or copper money was to be seized, under warrant and broken and defaced in open Court. One shilling in copper could be used in one payment. After June 1, 1797 gold coins in payments of over fifty pounds would be weighed in bulk if either party demanded it.

Thirteen years later there were still many problems. On March 9, 1809 "An Act to repeal and amend certain parts of an Act passed in the thirty-sixth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for the better regulation of certain Coins current in the Province to equalize them to the standard weight and value of the like Coins in the Province of Lower Canada"<sup>5</sup> was passed. Under this Act a number of changes were made in the value of gold coins. Instead of payments of over fifty pounds gold being weighed in bulk it now became twenty pounds. The coins of Great Britain, Portugal and America could be weighed together and the coins of Spain and France. The former were valued at the rate of eighty-nine shillings for each ounce Troy while the latter were at the rate of eighty-seven shillings, eight pence, half penny for each ounce Troy. A table of values for each group was attached to the Act.

By 1821 it was decided that it was in the public interest to have an uniform currency in the Province. Thus on April 14, 1821 "An Act to establish an uniform Currency throughout this Province"<sup>6</sup> was passed. The currency was supposed to have a legal value in pounds, shillings and pence of ten to nine to the sterling money of account in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. In actual fact in some parts of the Province, New York currency still was used, bearing to sterling money the proportion of sixteen to nine. Under this Act no interest could be demanded on any bond, note or other instrument after July 1, 1822 in which the penalty or sum payable was expressed in New York currency. Also after July 1 the Provincial Currency was to be five shillings to a dollar. This Act was to be read by the Clerks of the Peace in the several Districts in open Court on the first day of the General Quarter Sessions for four successive Courts. No mention was made of the coins of other countries, which were mentioned in the two previous Acts.

On January 30, 1826 "An Act to repeal part of an Act passed in the thirty-sixth year of His late Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for the better regulation of certain coins current in this Province" and to make further provision for the regulation of the British silver and copper coinage current in this Province”<sup>7</sup> was passed. Under this Act silver coins were to be deemed legal tender in payment of all debts and demands in the Province. The British crown was to be five shillings and nine pence; the British shilling was to be one shilling and two pence. All higher and lower silver coins also were to be deemed legal tender. British copper money also was deemed legal tender. However, no one person need accept more than one shilling in copper money at any one time. Gold was not mentioned in this Act. However, it apparently still was considered legal tender.

A further “Act for the better regulation of the Currency”<sup>8</sup> was passed on March 6, 1830. Under the terms of this Act silver coins of the United Kingdom which had depreciated in weight by more than one twenty-fifth part of their full weight were no longer considered legal tender. Spanish pestareen, French crown and other smaller French coins were no longer to be considered legal tender.

Six years later on April 20, 1836 “An Act to repeal and amend certain Acts of this Province, in relation to the Gold and Silver coin made current by law, and to make further provision respecting the rates at which certain Gold and Silver Coins shall pass current in this Province”<sup>9</sup> was passed. Under this Act all previous Acts, listed above, were repealed. A list of both the gold and silver coins with their values was shown. For gold coins both British and American were considered legal tender. However, for silver coins, British, American dollar, Spanish dollar and Mexican dollar were considered legal tender. If any coins, declared by this Act, depreciated in weight more than one twenty-fifth part of their full weight they were no longer to be considered legal tender. This Act was to continue in force for four years.

On May 11, 1839 a bill was passed by the Legislature, whereby once again all former Acts regarding the regulation and value of gold and silver in the Province were repealed. However this bill did not receive Royal Assent and thus did not become law.<sup>10</sup> Not having received Royal Assent for the 1839 bill, at the next Session of the Parliament, on February 10, 1840 an Act<sup>11</sup> did receive Royal Assent to continue the 1836 Act for another two years.

Several special reports were issued, and were printed either in the Appendix to the Journal of the Legislative Council or House of Assembly.

HOSPITALS

By the second decade of the nineteenth century hospitals were considered a necessity. However, while money was made available for construction, no money appears to have been given for running the institutions. Once built both the Kingston and Toronto hospitals were used for other purposes for a time before they became recognized as hospitals.

Kingston Hospital

On January 28, 1832 "An Act granting to His Majesty a sum of money in aid of the erection of an Hospital in or near the Town of Kingston"<sup>12</sup> was passed. Three thousand pounds was to be granted to His Majesty in aid to erect a hospital for the destitute sick. The money was to be paid by the Receiver General, under the Lieutenant Governor's warrant, in three installments of one thousand pounds per annum and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. Three Commissioners were to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor for choosing a site and superintending the erection of the building.

More money was needed by 1837; thus on March 4 "An Act granting a sum of money in aid of the Kingston Hospital"<sup>13</sup> was passed. Under this Act five hundred pounds was to be paid by the Receiver General and accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

Although the building was completed, due to lack of an endowment the building still had not been used by 1840. Thus on February 10, "An Act to authorize the temporary occupation, by the proposed University of Kingston, of the General Hospital at Kingston, upon certain terms therein mentioned"<sup>14</sup> was passed. This Act authorized the Lieutenant Governor to lease the buildings and grounds to the Trustees of the University for an annual rent and for a term of years to be determined by him. The Sheriff of the Midland District was to collect the rents and pay it to the Receiver General for the benefit of the General Hospital.

Two reports were issued by the Commissioners, which are listed below in chronological order. Reports for the years 1832, 1834, and 1835 will be found among the "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV, in the section "General printing".

Toronto General Hospital

In a report, issued by the Trustees in 1836, it is stated that the Hospital was built in 1819 from a residue of a subscription to the Loyal and Patriotic Society made in London and which had remained unexpended for the purposes. While the building was completed in 1819, due to inadequate support it was not opened until August, 1829. This report also contained a statement of admissions, discharges, deaths and expenses for the years 1829 to 1834 inclusive.<sup>15</sup> There also were elaborate statements of payments made between May 8, 1819 and February 3, 1836 as well as the diseases treated from February 1, 1835 to February 1, 1836.

In 1825 the Lieutenant Governor directed the hospital to be fitted out for the use of the Legislature, the Parliament buildings having been destroyed by fire. The building, however, was used for only one Session.<sup>16</sup>

On March 4, 1837 "An Act granting a sum of money in aid of the Toronto Hospital"<sup>17</sup> was passed. In this Act two hundred and fifty pounds was to be paid to the hospital out of the rates and duties collected and not appropriated for other purposes. The Receiver General was to pay this amount in discharge of warrants to be issued by the Lieutenant Governor, and was to be accounted for to the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. By a further Act passed on May 11, 1839 the amount of money to be paid to the hospital was raised to five hundred pounds.<sup>18</sup>

Several reports were issued by the Trustees, which are listed in chronological order under serials. Reports for the years 1832, 1833, 1834, 1835 and 1839 will be found in "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

INSURANCE COMPANIES

By the 1830's the inhabitants were becoming aware of the advantages of insurance against loss by fire or marine damage. Thus three companies were established, two of which dealt with fire losses and the other damages to vessels, boats, etc.

On February 13, 1833 two companies were established, one "An Act to incorporate a company under the style and title of the British American Fire and Life Assurance Company".<sup>19</sup> No reports were located for this Company. The second Act dealt with marine insurance.

Saint Lawrence Inland Marine Assurance Company

On February 13, 1833 "An Act to incorporate certain persons under the name and title of the Saint Lawrence Inland Marine Assurance Company"<sup>20</sup> was passed. This Company was to continue until 1860 a body corporate. The Company was to have the power and authority to make contracts of assurance against losses or damages to vessels, boats or crafts, navigating upon the lakes or rivers of this Province or elsewhere. The capital stock was to be one hundred thousand pounds, each share of which was twelve pounds, ten shillings with no person holding more than fifty shares. Eleven Directors, who were stockholders holding twenty shares and British subjects, were to be elected annually. They were to meet once a week.

Once a year the Company was to report to Parliament, giving: a full account of the funds and property of the Company; the amount of the capital subscribed and paid in; the amount of property insured the previous year; the amount of insurance charged upon the several kinds of property insured; and the amount which the Company paid or was liable to pay for losses during the year.

Books of subscription were to be opened in the towns of Kingston, Niagara, York, Brockville, Perth, Sandwich, London, Cobourg, Cornwall and Hamilton. This Act could be altered at any future date by the Legislature, should the public interest require it.

The Company issued two returns, which are listed below in chronological order. A return for 1838 will be found listed with "Sundry documents" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

Mutual Insurance Companies

On April 20, 1836 "An Act to authorize the establishment of Mutual Insurance Companies in the several Districts of this Province"<sup>21</sup> was passed. Under this Act ten freeholders in any District could call a meeting to consider whether or not it was expedient to establish a fire insurance company on mutual principles. Such a meeting had to be advertised in the newspaper and thirty persons must be present before a company could be established. Only one company could be formed in each District. If a company was formed seven persons were to be chosen annually to serve as a Board of Directors. They would make the rules and regulations for the Company. Each Director had to post a bond of five hundred pounds currency with the District Treasurer along with two sureties of two hundred and fifty pounds each. The Legislature could change the Act at any time should the public interest demand it.

There was no requirement that any reports be issued. One despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies was published by the Legislative Council.

LUNATIC ASYLUM

By the first Session of the twelfth Parliament, held in 1835, the members believed that there were enough people in Upper Canada with mental illnesses to warrant an institution for their care. Three Commissioners were appointed to obtain the best plans and estimates for building an insane asylum. In addition the Commissioners were to obtain information respecting the system and management of schools and colleges. The Commissioners were granted fifty pounds to defray expenses.<sup>22</sup> The first report on the Lunatic Asylum was presented to the House of Assembly on February 20, 1836.<sup>23</sup> The report on education was a separate report. On March 30, 1836<sup>24</sup> a resolution was passed whereby ten thousand pounds was to be used for the erection of the Asylum. The next day a committee was appointed to draft a bill granting the ten thousand pounds for the building.<sup>25</sup>

Three years later, on May 10, 1839 "An Act to authorize the erection of any Asylum within the Province for the reception of Insane and Lunatic persons"<sup>26</sup> was passed. The Act included certain clauses not only for the erection of the building but also for the administration of the Asylum once it was built. The Lieutenant Governor was to appoint Commissioners, one of whom was to be a medical practitioner, for superintending the erection of the building. Once the building was completed the Lieutenant Governor was to appoint a board of directors of not less than twelve members, two of whom had to inspect the building at least once a month. Annually on the first Tuesday in November the Board was required to submit to the Lieutenant Governor a report on the state of the institution and the patients, for the information of the Legislature.

The Directors were to: make the rules and regulations for governing the institution; appoint a medical superintendent who would reside at the institution; appoint all other officers and servants required to operate the institution. The Board was required to meet once a month.

Only one report on the Asylum was located, that of the Commissioners.

POST OFFICE

The Post Office for Upper Canada was a subsidiary of the General Post Office of Great Britain. From time to time a report would be issued on the Post Office. However, on January 17, 1838 the deputy Post Master General of Great Britain stated that he was submitting "Accounts of the receipts and disbursements of the Post Office Department in the Canadas for the information of the Lieutenant Governor to be laid annually before the Legislature of Upper Canada". He had been instructed to present these accounts by the Post Master General.<sup>27</sup> Two reports were issued, which are arranged in chronological order under serials, along with earlier reports. A number of reports were published by both the Legislative Council and House of Assembly. These are arranged in alphabetical order under special publications. Further reports for the years 1830, 1831 and 1836 will be found under "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".

PRETENDED BANK OF UPPER CANADA AT KINGSTON

On April 21, 1821 an Act,<sup>28</sup> which had been passed by the Legislature in 1819, received Royal Assent by proclamation to incorporate sundry persons under the title of the Bank of Upper Canada. The Act listed a number of places where books of subscription were to be opened, including Kingston. However all did not appear to be above board with the Kingston group. Thus on March 19, 1823 "An Act vesting in the hands of certain Commissioners therein named, all the stock, debts, bonds, and property of the pretended Bank of Upper Canada, lately established at Kingston, for the benefit of the creditors of that institution"<sup>29</sup> was passed. A Board of three Commissioners was established, under this Act, for settling the affairs of the pretended Bank of Upper Canada. The Commissioners had full power and authority to ask, demand, sue for, recover and receive from all persons, bonds, stocks, rights, etc. who were indebted to the Association under the title of the Bank of Upper Canada. The Board was to determine all claims, examine all persons connected with the Bank, request all books and papers. Any persons refusing could be jailed. They were required to hold public meetings, administer oaths, and keep account of all notes submitted for payment.

The Commissioners were to furnish, to the Lieutenant Governor, an annual report of their proceedings to be laid before the Legislature, the first day of every Session until the final settlement and closing of affairs. The sale of the estates or private property of the Directors was prohibited until the affairs of the Bank were closed.

On January 19, 1824 "An Act to repeal part of an Act passed in the last Session of Parliament, intituled "An Act vesting in the hands of certain Commissioners therein named, all the Stock, Debts, Bonds, and Property of the pretended Bank of Upper Canada, lately established at Kingston, for the benefit of the Creditors of that Institution" and to make further provision for the settling the affairs of the said pretended Bank"<sup>30</sup> was passed. This Act repealed the section dealing with the personal estates of the Directors. They could now sell personal but not real estate. The Board of Commissioners could receive in payment of debts due to the Bank any notes of the Bank or certificates of the Board of Directors within nine months.

By 1828 the affairs of the pretended Bank still had not been settled, thus on March 25 "An Act to repeal the Laws now in force respecting the late pretended Bank of Upper Canada, and for settling the affairs of the said Institution"<sup>31</sup> was passed. All Acts passed to date had been found ineffectual. Thus other means for collecting the debts contracted with the Bank, had to be found for the benefit of the creditors. Two Commissioners were to be elected, one by the Stockholders and another by the certificate holders. These two Commissioners were to appoint a third.

The former Commissioners were to deliver all books, papers, documents, matters and things whatsoever to the Commissioners appointed under this Act. They were to be known as the Kingston Bank Commissioners and could bring action. The Commissioners were to publish in the Upper Canada gazette as well as all other newspapers in Upper Canada and in the Montreal and Quebec gazettes their hours, place of meeting and call for the production of all claims against the said institution. The Commissioners were to report their proceedings, on the first day of January each year, to the Lieutenant Governor to be laid before the Legislature at its next Session.

The next year when the affairs of the Bank still had not been settled a further "Act to make more effectual provision for settling the affairs of the late pretended Bank of Upper Canada"<sup>32</sup> was passed on March 20. All the above acts were repealed. Three new Commissioners were appointed, by name in the Act. The former Commissioners were required to hand over to the newly appointed Commissioners all books, papers, document or other things appertaining to the late pretended Bank. The new Commissioners were to be known as the Kingston Bank Commissioners. Thus the same title was to be used by them as had been used by the former Commissioners.

The Commissioners were to advertise their place and hours of business in the Upper Canada gazette and in all other newspapers in Upper Canada, as well as in the Montreal and Quebec gazettes in three successive numbers of each paper, requesting all holders of notes or certificates to present their claims within six months. The Commissioners were required to report their proceedings to the Lieutenant Governor on January 1, each year, to be laid before the Legislature at its next Session.

Seven years later on April 20, 1836 "An Act to authorize the Commissioners of the late pretended Bank of Kingston to dispose of certain Real Estate, and for other purposes therein mentioned"<sup>33</sup> was passed. Various lands and real estate had been turned over to the Commissioners in lieu of debt. They were given full power and authority to sell land at their discretion.

Five reports on the Bank were issued by the Commissioners between 1823 and 1841. The last report was published by the newly formed government of the Province of Canada. These reports are arranged in chronological order. In addition to the reports listed below three reports for the years 1830, 1831 and 1832 will be found under "Sundry reports" in Chapter IV in the section "General printing".
